SAVE THE BABIES

(Continued from page one.) few minutes before putting iresn 1000 into it. Never let the baby nurse from the remains of a bottle which he has not finished. Take it away from the crib, pour out the milk and cleanse at once. Stale milk curds sticking to the inside of a bottle after a few hours become poisonous and may contaminate fresh milk coming in contact with them. It is better to have as many bottles as the number of the baby's daily feedings, so that all the bottles can be boiled together before the food prepared in the morning.

Nipples. The simpler the nipple the safer for the baby. Do not use com-plicated nipples, and under no cir-cumstances buy a bettle with a long rubber tube attached to the nipple. It cannot be kept clean and will certainly cause bowel trouble. After the bottle is finished the nipple should be re-moved at once, turned inside out over the finger and scrubbed with cold wa-ter and a brush kept only for this purpose. After use, always boil the

The cleansed nipple should be kept in fresh borax water (one teaspoonful of borax to a pint of water) in a cov ered glass. Rinse the nipple in boiling vater before using it.

Do not put the nipple into your own mouth to find out whether the milk is warmed enough. Let a few drops of of the milk fall on your wrist; if it feels too hot for your wrist it is too warm for the baby's mouth.

No general instructions can be given about the preparation of a milk mix ture for your baby. Each baby needs a combination suited to its digestion. The mixture upon which some other too weak for your baby. Let the doctor tell you how to mix the food. If it is necessary to use cream in the mixture do not buy cream—it is likely to be stale-but get it by pouring off half a pint from the top of a quart bottle of milk, after cleansing the lip

During the summer the baby's food should be brought to a scald after it is prepared. It should then be poured into the clean bottle, corked with baked clean cotton wool and kept next the ice until needed. Do not heat ? bottle when you go to bed and keep it in bed until nursing time, because you do not want to go to the ice box for it and heat it when the baby needs it. This is a certain way to make the baby sick

Bowei movements A bottle fed baby should have at least one and not more than two or three bowel move-ments a day. If the milk is clean to start with and has been kept cold, and all the feeding utensils clean as you have just been told, the baby's movements should be yellow in color and not too hard to be passed easily. If the movements become greenish in color, but not more frequent than two or three times b day, give one or two teaspoonfuls of castor oil. If the color does not improve after the oil has worked off, consult your doctor. At this time he will be able to prevent the serious bowel trouble with which the baby is threatened. If the move ments remain green in color and in crease in number to five or six or more in the twenty-tour hours your baby is beginning to have bowel trouble, or summer diarrhoea Stop milk at once, give pure boiled water in stead and call the doctor. It may not

Do not begin milk teeding again antil the doctor orders it You will not starve your baby by stopping the milk; every drop of milk that goes into its stomac after this warning simply adds to he poison already there. You will use serious or fatal illness by keeping up milk food after the bowels become loose and the movements green in color.

Vomiting. A bottle fed baby should not vomit if its food is pure and properly adjusted to its needs. If vomit ings occur it is usually a sign of approaching illness, either of one of the serious diseases of childhood, or more commonly in hot weather, of summer diarrhoea. Vomiting due to this cause be the first sign of trouble and the bowels may not become loose until several days later. If vomiting is repeated, stop milk feeding, give boilwhich the milk is given, and consult your doctor at once.

Clothing. Do not put too much clothing on the baby in summer. During the hottest weather remove most of the clothes; a thin loose shirt and a diaper are sufficient during the day and on very hot nights.

Never use clothing made with tight waistbands. Petticoats and skirts should be supported by straps over the shoulders

Bathing. Bathe the baby every day. In hot weather a quick sponging all over later in the day will give comfort and make him sleep better. Wash the baby each time the diaper is changed and dry the parts thoroughly before using powder. Wash all soiled diapers and boil them. Never use a dried wet diaper without first wash ing it. Fresh air. Fresh air is as important for the baby's health as fresh food During the summer keep the baby out of doors as much as possible. Kee the baby out of the kitchen—he ma get a "sunstroke" from too much beat Eruptions of the skin. If the baby has an eruption or breaking out of the skin, consult a doctor. Do not think that every rash is prickly heat; it may be some serious disease like scar-let fever, measles, smallpox or chick-

Short Talks On Advertising By Charles Austin Bates.

There are two ways of looking at advertising, both of them right. Advertising should be done during the dull time for the purpose of stirring up trade at that time, and also for the sake of the benefit which will come from being continually before the public's eye. A man should just as quickly think of stopping his advertisements in the Summer or in the dull time after the holidays as he should think of closing up his store several months in the year and keeping it open only when trade would keep him busy. There is probably no store in the country that could not shut up for three or four months out of the year and be ahead in cash by doing so, but at the end of the next four months the gain will not be ap- being co

It does not take people very long to forget things, and if a store were closed four months or the advertising stopped four months, a great many people would have forgotten that the business was in existence.

The other view of advertising is that it ought to be pushed during the busy time when people are ready to buy. Advertising cannot be expected to sell goods when people do not want them, and it will naturally be most effective when it gives publicity to some desirable article at just the right

To be sure, advertising will sell anything at any time, if the price be made low enough and the advertisement sufficiently attractive.

Some lines of goods can be forced, and some cannot, but even those which cannot be forced should not be allowed to drop out of sight.
