Sunday School Convention.

The 25th annual convention of the Sullivan County Sunday School Association convened in the M. E. Church at Sonestown on August 11. Under the leadership of our progressive County President, Vernon Hull of Hills Grove, the convention proved to be an inspiration to more consecrated work for the Master; a revelation of better methods, and created a desire to be in the Front Line position again at the State Convention.

The singing, under the leadership of Rev. H. R. Wilkes, assisted by a large chorus including the combined choirs of the Sonestown churches, was an inspiring feature of the program.

The convention reports showed the work throughout the county to be in splendid condition and ready for a vigorous campaign to have every district and school in the county reach the Front Line position by 1911. A new organization of the Superintendents of the various departments of the work including S. S. Secretaries and the executive officers of the county, was effected at a banquet given in the Union station at the close of the Friday afternoon session.

The State was represented by Miss Martha Robinson, well known throughout the county for the effective work she has done in previous conventions, and by Mr. Dowe. They presented the advantages of using the graded lessons and of the wonderful progress made by organized Adult Bible Classes throughout the State.

The Front Line banner displayed as a trophy from the State Convention, Friday evening, inspired the workers to plan large things next year.

J. A. Muller, former field worker in the county, and Prof. Ford of Philadelphia, gave inspiring addresses Friday afternoon.

Flora Cooke, Press Supt.

Boat Carnival.

The third annual boat carnival which took place on Lake Mokoma Tuesday evening was a brilliant affair which in every way eclipsed anything in this line ever held in this section. Excursions from both ways were well attended and the beach was crowded with expectant faces until the procession of quaint and artistically decorated boats started around the lake. Among the floats in competition were the following with their originators: "Camp Mokoma" by the Mokoma boys; "Merry-go-round" by H. D. Harrison and Ed. VanPelt; "Wedding Party" by Don Ingham and Olive Barrows; "Christmas Party" by Jean Pennock and Grace Scott; "North Pole Discovery" by W. A. Petrikin; "Uncle Sam" by Wm. Cheney; "Liberty Bell" by Wm. Rogers; "Sail Boat" by Robert Stormont and Marjorie Mason; "Alarm Clock" by F. W. Meylert and Don Wieland. Beside these there were about 20 illuminated boats not in competition.

The first prizes were two beautiful engraved silver loving cups and the second prizes were large boxes of Huyler's sweets. Camp Mokoma floats won both first and second prizes for illumination and display. In the competition for originality of design the judges were unable to decide between the "Wedding Party," the "Christmas Party" and the "Merry-go-round" but after a toss of the coin the cup was given to Harrison and VanPelt whose "flying jenny" was well worth the time and effort put into its construction.

Annual Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church expects to hold the annual church supper on the lawn at the residence of J. L. Smyth on Thursday August 25. Chicken and waffles will be served.

Lessingham, gently dipping the oars, commenced his narrative.

"The first thing I remember is stamped on my memory as an enduring picture. A company of men, armed with muskets, marched up to the door of my home. My mother caught me in her arms, and exclaimed in a frightened voice, 'There comes Captain Ogden and his soldiers.' The door was flung open, and as they rushed in, one of them exclaimed, 'Where is that Yankee who lives here? We have a warrant for him.'

"My mother answered, 'If you mean my husband, Mr. Lessingham, he is away from home.'

"Then said the leader, 'I have found he is in arms against the state, and we will burn his nest for him.'

"Several of the men went to the open fire-place, and taking brands, set fire to the house. The Captain said to my mother, 'Get out of here with your brats, d—d quick or burn.'

"With me in her arms, and leading my little sister by the hand, my mother left the house. As we walked away, I heard the crackling of the fire, and before we were out of sight the flames had mounted to the roof.

"I could walk, but I wore dresses. Mother soon turned off from the road, and went through a field to the river bank. She said we would go to the mouth of the creek, where the canoe was kept, and go to father at Fort Durkee.

"We had only just reached the canoe when we saw father coming along up under the river bank. When he came near I noticed he was all wet. He told us he swam the river. He said the Pennamites had taken the fort and that he had hard work to escape being taken. Mother told him what had happened at the house. They both sat silent for a few minutes, and I saw a tear or two drop from mother's eyes. My father also saw them, for he jumped up and said:

"There is no use crying for spilt milk; we are all well and together and we must get out of the clutches of these land robbers as quick as we can."

SHOPBELL DRY GOODS CO.,

313 PINE STREET,
WILLIAMSPORT PENN'A.

When a contractor is in a hurry to drive a long plank down the side of a new sewer he sets two men at it. Each with a big maul hits it alternately blows as often and as hard as he can. The strokes come as evenly as a pendulum swings.

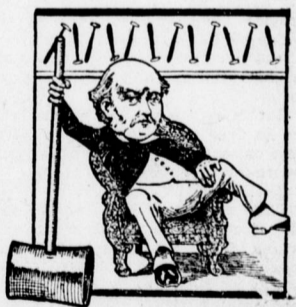

One man and one maul would drive the plank down, but it would take longer. The bigger the maul the quicker and easier he will do the work.

Two men, or a dozen, with tack-hammers would not get the plank driven in a hundred years. There's a parallel to this in advertising. If you're in a hurry to drive you're business, use two papers and make the advertising maul—the space—as big as possible.

If you haven't money enough to buy two big mauls, only buy one, use only one paper—the best—and make the space big enough to be felt. You'll do more good with one maul than with half a dozen tack-hammers. You'll get more benefit from a regular advertisement, of sufficient size, in the best paper in town, than you will from half a dozen smaller ads in a weaker paper.

If you have only one ad, have it right. You don't believe in cutting your store in two, do you? You don't establish a branch until you feel sure you are doing all you can in the main store.

Be sure you are doing enough in the best paper before you think of adding another.

"You'll do more with one good maul than a dozen tack-hammers."

"The strokes come as easily as a pendulum swings."

"You don't believe in cutting your store in two, do you?"
