Pennsylvania's Capitol.
Pennsylvania recently erected the finest state capitol to be found anywhere in the Union, at the reasonable cost of $4,550,000. It is more elegant in design and finish than Massachusetts' capitol in Boston, which cost nearly $7,000,000, or the New York capitol at Albany which cost $24,000,000. This beautiful building, in every way suitable for the purpose for which it was intended, and of which the people may be justly proud, was built entirely by funds already in the treasury, and no fresh taxes were levied for its construction.

There was no fraud in the erection of this noble building itself. The contractors did honest work for the price agreed upon, and charged only a reasonable profit on their contract; but the men who supplied the furniture, fixtures and decorations for the interior, in league with the state officers and architect in charge of the building robbed the people to the amount of three or four millions of dollars by enormous overcharges in payment for the articles which they supplied. In some instances the charges were from ten to twenty times what the articles were worth.

It is astonishing that men who were not crazy should think they could steal such an immense sum and never be detected. The guilty men have been convicted and severely punished, three of them (as it were) by the Lord himself. It is said "The wages of sin is death." With the door of the state prison opening for them, with the debilitating and depressing effect of grief and remorse in contemplation of their crimes, and the ever present thought day and night that in an evil hour they had yielded to temptation, disgraced themselves and their families, they sickened and died. Huston, the architect, who has been sentenced to state prison is trying to obtain a new trial.

A Good Position.

can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

Lloyd W. Bowers is Dead.

Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers, whom President Taft had picked for a supreme court justiceship, died in Boston of complications arising from an attack of bronchitis.

Solicitor General Bowers had been ill for about a month, but it was supposed he had recovered.

Mr. Bowers was appointed as solicitor general by President Taft, March 22, 1909. The appointment was one of the first official acts of Mr. Taft as president who had long held Mr. Bowers in high regard.

The first news of Mr. Bowers' illness became generally known through a telegram sent by Mrs. Bowers to President Taft last Tuesday while he was returning to Beverly from the west. So solicitous was Mr. Taft that as soon as he reached Boston he called at the hotel and found the patient so much improved that he was able to see him. The physician who has attended Mr. Bowers here said that the patient was chatting cheerfully with his wife and son when, suddenly, he stopped talking and a moment later he was dead.

The physician, Dr. Frederick Coggeshall, sped by automobile to the hotel on a telephone summons only to discover that Mr. Bowers had died instantly of a blood clot in the heart. Dr. Coggeshall said that the original illness of Mr. Bowers, which took the form of a violent cold, was due to overwork.

Meat Packers Indicted.

J. Ogden Armour, Louis F. Swift, Edward Morris and Edward Tilden, the big four in the Chicago beef trust, were indicted by a federal grand jury, charged with being in a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

In addition named in the true bills were Arthur Meeker, of Armour & Co.; Charles Swift and several other men, ten in all, of lesser note in the beef combination. The corporations named in the recent true bill which was found faulty by Judge Landis weren't named. The grand jury had followed out the instructions of Judge Landis and indicted the men instead of the corporations.

Under section 2 of the Sherman anti-trust law those convicted under this indictment may be sent to prison for one year, fined $5000, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Trades His Baby For Pig.

A Russian woman living near Winnipeg, Man., gave birth to twins, but her husband was so displeased over the dual addition to his family that he promptly traded one of the babies to another Russian for a pig.

The case came to the attention of the authorities, and a constable forced the father to cancel the trade, which he had made over the bitter protests of the mother.

It is probable that the entire family will be deported. Government officials point to this case as showing a need of reform in the divorce laws. The woman will be deported because of an unpardonable act of her husband, though public sentiment favors letting her remain and shipping away the husband.
