HARROUN WINS BIG MOTOR RACE

Captures 500-Mile Contest in 6 Hrs., 41 Mins., 8 Secs.

MULFORD IN SECOND PLACE

One Man Killed and Four Injured in Bitterly Contested Struggle at Indianapolis.

Ray Harroun, driving a Marmon 32, is the winner of the international 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis, Ind., and when Starter Joe Wagner waved his flag over Harroun as he passed under the wire, thus declaring him the winner, the crowd went wild, rushed out on the track, took the driven from the car and carried him about the course on their shoulders.

Ralph Mulford, in a Lozier, was a close second, and David Bruce-Brown in a Fiat was third. Wishart in a Mercedes was fourth; De Palma, in a Simplex, fifth; Charles Merz, in a National, sixth; W. M. Turner, in a Simplex, seventh; Harry Cobe, in a Jackson, eighth; Fred Betcher, in a Knox, ninth; Hugh C. Hughes, in a Mercer, tenth; Lee Frazer, in a Firestone, eleventh, and Gil Anderson, in a Stutz, was twelfth.

The time for the 500 miles was 6.41.8, an average of close to seventy-five miles an hour for the entire race.

As the contest drew to a close only twenty-eight of the forty cars which had started remained in the race. One after another they had become disabled and dropped out.

The man who was killed in the race was S. P. Dickson, mechanic for Arthur Greiner, of Chicago, driving an Amplex car. He lost his life in an upset on the back stretch in the thirtieth mile of the race. Greiner sustained several broken ribs and a fractured arm. He is expected to recover.

The accident was due to the car casting a front tire. Greiner could not hold the car to the track and it skidded to the infield and whirled completely around, tearing off both back wheels. Dickson was thrown twenty feet against a fence. His body was terribly cut and bruised. Greiner was hurled to the track.

Sets New Record.

Bruce-Brown, in his Fiat, who was leading at the end of the first 150 miles, but who was displaced soon after, established a record for the distance, 1.59.12. The old mark was 2.01.00, set by Dawson at Atlanta last year.

The cars were strung out behind the leaders all around the course. The scorching pace burned out the tires and most of the cars had stopped one or more times at the pits for tire changes. Several of the older drivers apparently preferred to keep up a steady grind two or three laps behind the leaders. There were few sensational brushes for leadership in the field.

Aitken, in a National, was the first to get away. In the first lap the cars strung out all around the course. Aitken held the lead, with De Palma (Simplex) second, and Wishart (Mercedes) third.

At the end of fifty miles Aitken held the lead. His time was 41 minutes and 7 seconds. Bruce-Brown was second, De Palma third.

After the fifty mile mark was passed Bruce-Brown slipped into the lead. The first car to stop at the pit for repairs was the Buick, driven by Arthur Chevrolet. He had tire trouble and lost a few minutes making a change. Wistar (Mercedes) blew a front tire and went to the pit. He was off again in a minute. Harry Grant, twice winner of the Vanderbilt, was forced to withdraw his Alco car at the end of the 108th mile because of a burned-out bearing.

Dave Lewis, mechanic in a Lozier car, driven by Teddy Tetzlaff, sustained a fractured leg when the car blew a tire in the home stretch in the 170th mile, and ran into a Pope-Hartford. Tetzlaff and Lewis escaped. Louis Disbrow was driving the Pope-Hartford.

The Lozier was overturned and the rear truck was torn off the Pope-Hartford in the collision. Both cars were taken out of the race.

Mix-Up in Front of Grand Stand.

In a mix-up of Lytle's Apperson, Knight's Westcott and Jagersberger's Case, directly in front of the grand stand, John Glover, Knight's mechanic, suffered an injury to the spine. The others of the three crews escaped anything more serious than bruises by a wonderfully fortunate set of circumstances.

The throng in the grand stand rose to its feet when it appeared that the crews of the cars must be crushed to death in the crash. A woman sitting in a box dropped from her chair in a faint.

Wagner, the starter, risked his own life by running out on the track and directing the trailing drivers out of the way of the wrecked Case. Larssonneur, the mechanic, lay dazed in the center of the track for a full minute while cars darted by at either side of him. Then he unsteadily rose to his feet and staggered blindly. The crowd screamed at him "Look out!" The man then steadied himself and limped to the side of the track.

Elevator Falls; Man Killed.

Nicholas Miller was killed and Frank Blakeslie fatally injured when the elevator at the Flatiron hotel, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., fell from the roof of the building to the pit. Blakeslie and Miller were repairing the elevator when the accident occurred.

DIAZ RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT

De la Barra Now Head of Southern Republic.

THE RIOTING HAS CEASED

Abdication of Mexican Dictator Received With Great Enthusiasm. Seven Killed in Rioting.

President Diaz, of Mexico, resigned his office in a letter to the chamber of deputies, which was read Thursday afternoon. The resignation was accepted, and there was not a voice raised in dissent or protest.

The announcement of the acceptance was received in grim silence. This was in strong contrast to the uproar, almost rioting, which filled the chamber while the populace outside was clamoring for Diaz's resignation.

The resignation of Vice President Ramon Corral was read, following the letter of Diaz. It was also accepted, and then the chamber of deputies formally chose Minister of Foreign Affairs Francisco Leon de la Barra as provisional president, to serve until a general election can be held. Senor de la Barra was sworn in at the national palace.

In the streets, which were crowded with people, the news of the president's abdication was the signal for wild demonstrations of enthusiasm. There was no rioting.

The ex-president's party included his wife and children, a number of men prominent in the fallen administration and officials of the Mexican National railway.

The railway company provided a special train for the general and his party. General Diaz, his wife and family, and probably some of the retiring officials who accompanied him, will board the steamship Ypiranga and sail for Europe. The party will take passage and sail for Santander, Spain, where General Diaz will spend the rest of his days.

The police fired on a crowd in front of the department of foreign relations. One man was killed.

The Zocalo, from the national palace, was the goal of all, but various bands paraded the business section searching for followers, and one particularly vigorous faction made a tour of La Colonia Belso, a slum section of the city. Their efforts were partly successful. Barely 200 started from the central part of the city, marching toward Peralvilla, turning eastward for a few squares, then back toward Zocalo, where they gathered recruits from residents of that quarter. Thousands were in the line of march when it merged on the Zocalo.

From the national palace, especially at the central entrance, mounted police and soldiers were massed. In the cathedral on the north side troops were stationed and machine guns were masked in the ancient buildings.

When the mob from the Colonia Belso arrived the troops had just begun to rout one particularly thick gathering. Turning their attention to the latest invaders of the big square they charged them at a trot.

Hundreds of the latest arrivals carried over their shoulders rifles and long strips of boards, but no effort at resistance was made.

Curious hundreds, not really part of the mob, scattered at every sign of danger, only to return again.

Meanwhile workmen employed by the city continued as well as possible to repair macadam being laid on the Zocalo.

Officially the government maintained a semblance of uninterrupted work, but throughout the business section of the city there was little trade. Business houses continued with shutters placed over them, and there were comparatively few open for trade.

Gore Out For Wilson.

Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, came out in a letter strongly indorsing Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, for the Democratic nomination for president.

Wilson's friends look on the Gore letter as added evidence that the progressive Democrats of the south and west are rapidly turning to the governor. Gore is recognized as one of the progressive wing of the senate Democrats.

TOBACCO TRUST MUST DISSOLVE

Supreme Court Gives Government Great Victory.

AN ILLEGAL COMBINATION

American and British-American Tobacco Companies Are a Monopoly and Are Given Six Months to Reorganize. Evasion Strictly Guarded Against.

The American Tobacco company and its accessories and subordinate corporations and companies, including the English corporation, the British-American Tobacco company, were held by the supreme court of the United States to be co-partners in a combination illegal under the Sherman anti-trust act.

The court sent the case back to the lower court with directions to hear further the parties so as to ascertain whether a new condition could not be re-created in harmony with the law. At the same time it specifically guards against any evasion of the decree.

Justice Harlan concurred in part with the court's opinion and dissented in part.

The decision was handed down by the chief justice, after a day devoted to clearing the calendars for adjournment till next fall.

It comes as the end of a long fight, second only perhaps to that of the government against the Standard Oil, the decision in which was handed down two weeks ago.

The court decreed:

"First—That the combination in and of itself, as well as each and all of its elements composing it, whether corporate or individual, whether considered collectively or separately, be decreed to be in restraint of trade and an attempt to monopolize and a monopolization within the first and second sections of the anti-trust law.

"Second—That the court below, in order to carry out the intent of the law, hear the parties, by evidence or otherwise, as it may be deemed proper for the purpose of ascertaining and determining upon some plan or method of dissolving the combination and of recreating, out of the elements now composing it, a new condition which shall be honestly in harmony with and not repugnant to the law.

"Third—That for the accomplishment of these purposes, taking into view the difficulty of the situation, a period of six months is allowed from the receipt of our mandate, with leaves, however, in the event, in the judgment of the court below, the necessities of the situation require to extend such period to a further time not to exceed sixty days.

"Fourth—That in the event, before the expiration of the period thus fixed, a condition of disintegration in harmony with the law is not brought about, either as the consequence of the action of the court in determining an issue on the subject or in accepting a plan agreed upon, it shall be the duty of the court, either by way of an injunction restraining the movement of the products of the combination in the channels of interstate or foreign commerce, or by the appointment of a receiver, to give effect to the requirements of the statute."

Pending the bringing about of the result, directed by the court, each and all of the defendants, individual as well as corporations, are to be restrained from doing any act which might further extend or enlarge the power of the combination, by any means or device whatsoever.

President Taft Refuses to Pardon Him.

Pardons Denied Convict Bankers.

President Taft denied the application for pardon of Charles W. Morse, the former New York banker, serving a fifteen-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and John R. Walsh, the Chicago financier, who is serving a five-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kan.

Permission is given by the president to Morse to renew his application for pardon after Jan. 1, 1913. As Walsh is eligible for parole after next September, when he will have served two-thirds of his sentence, the president refused to take any action whatever in his case.

In deciding against Morse and Walsh, the president has resisted the most powerful influences that have been brought to bear upon him on any subject since he entered the White House. In his memorandum announcing the denial of the petitions for pardon persons who have petitioned in behalf of the prisoners, and adds that they apparently fail to appreciate the high importance to society that such criminal breaches of trust as Morse and Walsh are guilty of should be severely punished.

The Wyoming Launched.

The United States launched in Philadelphia a new dreadnought in the 26,000 ton battleship Wyoming, which, when it gets its full armament, will not be surpassed by any fighting ship in the world.

The nation's latest dreadnought went down the ways in the Cramps' shipyard, named by Miss Dorothy Eunice Knight, daughter of former Chief Justice Jesse Knight, of Wyoming, in the presence of Governor Carey and a delegation of visitors from the state for which the ship is named.

Cheers from the crowd assembled on the launching stand, and at points of vantage nearby, greeted the monster ironclad as she slipped into the water. Secretary Meyer, of the navy department, and many naval officers saw the ceremony.

The Wyoming is one of six first class battleships under construction. The Arkansas was the first in the water of this new size and type. The length over all is 550 feet, her beam at the water line is 93 feet, and her displacement is 26,000 tons.

PRIZE BULL BRINGS RECORD BID AT SALE

"Noble of Oakland" Sold For $15,000 at Auction.

"Noble of Oakland," a prize animal, brought the record price for a bull at the annual sale of cattle held on the stock farm of T. S. Cooper, at Coopersburg, Pa.

Dr. M. A. Scovall, of Lexington, Ky., bid $15,000 for "Noble of Oakland," and then gave $7000 for "Lady Viola," the high-priced bull's dam. It is thought that Dr. Scovall was acting for James Haggins, of the Kentucky experiment station.

All told Mr. Haggins bought twenty head of bulls, cows and heifers for $36,660. The second highest purchaser at the sale was T. DeWitt Cuyler, of Paoli, Pa., who bought a bull for $6700 and seven cows at $1750 each.

A total of 164 head were sold, including 18 bulls, 85 cows, 45 heifers, 9 bull calves and 7 heifer calves, for $125,515.

90 persons journeyed to this little Lehigh county village to witness the big annual Cooper cattle sale of pure bred Isle of Jersey stock. This sale annually attracts scores of cattlemen and breeders of pure stock from all parts of America.

Before sunrise hundreds of farmers residing within a radius of miles were on their way to the Cooper estate. Hundreds of automobiles were parked on the spacious lawns and all trolleys leading to the farm were packed with persons anxious to catch a glimpse of the highest priced cattle in the world.
