SAW FAMOUS BATTLEFIELD

Wilson's Creek Appeared Year or More After It Had Become Known Over Country.

The appearance of the Wilson's creek battle field a year and more after this obscure Missouri valley became known to all the country is described in a letter written November 24, 1862, by the late Capt. William Van Gundy of the Ninety-fourth Illi-nois regiment, which was concerned in the Arkansas-Missouri campaign of that season. The letter is now in the possession of Captain Van Gundy's grandson, A. L. Benedict of Franklin Park, Ill. It is, in part, as follows:
"Wilson's creek, Mo., Nov. 24, 1862.

-I wrote you two letters since we left Springfield, in which I gave you an account of our march up to the twenty-first, when we were camped on the James river. We left there the next morning and traveled about a mile west, when we were halted and two companies were detailed to build a bridge across the river. This was done by piling up rails in the water for pillars about fifteen feet apart; then logs were laid from one pile to the other for sills; then rails were laid across on the logs for a floor to walk on. The bridge was about 100 feet long. It took about one and onehalf hours to build it. We crossed over with dry feet, but we did not stop to put the rails back on the fence again.

"After we had crossed the river we kept bearing to the north until struck the main road from Springfield to Cassville. Then we came about a mile toward Springfield to Wilson creek, where we camped and we are still here. Herron's whole division is still here. Herron's whole division is camped here, about 10,000 men. Tot-ten's division is about ten miles south. We are about one and one-half miles south of the battle ground.

"Yesterday was a beautiful Sabbath day, and Henry, Ad. Branaman, Glp.
Watkins and John Furr and myself went over to see the battle ground. We followed the road until we came to a large frame house, where they told us Price had his cannon planted in front and about fifteen feet from the house. It was here that Sigel took Price's cannon and burned his train of wagons. The house shows the ef-

One twelve-pound cannon ball went clean through the kitchen and a piece of a shell cut its way through the cornice.

"We went on about half a mile remained unchanged. I did not to acknowledge coffee caused the le for I was very fond of it, out that time a friend came to ith us, and I noticed that after d been with us a week he would over and over about the battle and ink his coffee any more. I asked his death, not dreaming that I would ever see the place, but here I was, right on the very spot where he fell. The spot is kept sacred. There is a pile of rocks where he fell, and every body that goes to see the place puts a stone on the pile. I put two, and all that were with me did the same. The bones of his two horses are lying about twelve feet from where he fell. It is a very rough and uneven place for a battle. There are trees and for a battle. There are trees and bushes all over it, and there is hardly a tree or bush that escaped the bul-

Not From Indiana. Colonel Mundy was a thorough Kentuckian, and had all the local pride of one born in the Blue Grass section. He also had the prejudice against being taken for an Indianian which seems inherent in native-born Ken-tuckians. Once a stranger accosted him and said:

"Are you not Colonel Mundy of in-diana?"

The Kentuckian sprang from his seat, and, glaring at his interlocutor, exclaimed angrily:

UNFEELINGI

His Wife-James, I feel faint. I-I The Brute-Take two short ones.

PHYSICIAN SAID ECZEMA CAME FROM TEETHING

"When my little girl was about eight months old, she was taken with a very irritating breaking out, which came o her face, neck and back. When she first came down with it, it came in little watery-like festers under her eves, and on her chin, then after a few days it would dry down in scaly, white scabs. In the daytime she was quite worrysome and would dig and scratch her face nearly all the time.

"I consulted our physician and found she was suffering from eczema, which he said came from her teething. I used the ointment he gave me and without any relief at all. Then I wrote for a book on Cuticura, and purchased some Cuticura Soap and Oint ment at the drug store. I did as found directions in the Cuticura Book I did as I let, and when she was one year old, she was entirely cured. Now she is three years and four months, and she has never been troubled with eczema since she was cured by the Cuti-cura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. (Signed) Mrs. Freeman Craver, 311 Lewis St., Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuti-cura," Dept. L, Boston.
