Organization for Farmers

A prominent attorney in Philadelphia wrote to State Zoologist Surface asking if he was taking part in the movement to have an agricultural expert stationed in each county in the country. The reply is an argument for agricultural organization, which is worthy of consideration. It is as follows: "While I am personally interested in the movement to have a trained farmer in each county, yet I am not in position to take any official steps in this direction. I have for some time advocated something of this kind. It altogether depends upon the man. I think it will be absolutely impossible to get enough trained agriculturists within the next five years to go into each county and give each farmer the kind of help that would be most useful to him. It requires education as well as experience. A college graduate can not do it. He may obtain his course of four years, but he must have four or five years of rational experience added to that, and then he will be only a beginner.

"I think in every county in this State there are farmers who know their own land and their own needs, as well as the methods of getting results better than any expert that could come among them. If the poor farmers were only willing to learn from the good ones of their own immediate neighborhood, it would be best. Farmers organizations, societies or meetings to bring about a closer acquaintanceship with one another, and an exchange of ideas, and co-operation in propagating good animals, good seed, etc., and the suppression of pests, weeds, disease germs, and promoting rural sociability and morality would do more in this State than anything else that could be done for the agriculturist by the State and Nation. A good organizer would be more important than a personal teacher. The farmer who is not awakened to such opportunities as those mentioned above will not be benefited in the least by a personal teacher coming to his door."

GIRL'S DEATH MAY FOLLOW ATTACK AT LOCK HAVEN

White Man and Two Negroes Implicated in Outrageous Assault.

Lock Haven, June 16.—Frank I. Griffen, a white man, who claims to be an employe of the Frank H. Robbins shows, and who says that his home is in Iowa, was arrested early this evening at Jersey Shore by Acting Detective Wallace Pettigill, on a charge of criminal assault upon Emma Brown, a seventeen-year old girl of this place, last night. The police of this and several other towns are seeking two negroes said to be implicated in the same crime.

An immense crowd, which assumed the proportions of a mob and which included nearly everybody in Lock Haven, heard that an arrest had been made, after an alarm had been sent in that two negroes and a white man had been seen at Castanea near here, and a lynching was feared.

NO VIOLENCE BY CROWD

When Detective Pettigill stepped off the train with his prisoner he was swallowed up by this mob, but although many shouts filled the air, no violence was offered and the man was safely brought to the county jail and locked up. The crowd surrounded the jail and hung about for more than an hour, but finally dispersed about 11 o'clock.

GRIFFIN'S STORY DOUBTED

Things are said to look bad for Griffin, as evidence points toward him as one of the guilty men. On his person was found a letter with the name of the girl that was with Mrs Brown at the time of the assault, and who lives at Bellefonte. He claimed that he was with the girls and was walking with them behind the tents when two negroes and a white man rushed upon them and overpowering him, attacked them.

Inasmuch as he shows no marks of a fight and since the girls say emphatically that they were alone, the story is not credited. Griffin will have a hearing tomorrow.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

The assault was committed about 10 o'clock last night. The Brown girl with another started behind a tent and was followed and attacked by two negroes and a white man. The Bellefonte girl escaped, after a struggle, and gave the alarm, but Miss Brown was overcome and assaulted, she claims, by the two negroes, and perhaps by the white man. She was later found unconscious and in a critical condition in front of William Keller's residence and after a medical examination was rushed to the hospital, where she is in a serious state tonight.

SAID TO BE WITH CIRCUS

The men who committed the assault are said to be circus employes. A story from Jersey Shore yesterday says that an assault was also committed at that place. Officers are watching the show and Detective Pettigill left tonight for Wellsboro, where the show will exhibit on Tuesday.

One of the negroes is described as wearing a dark raincoat, while the other had no raincoat. The white man wore a raincoat.

Since the above was set in type we have learned that the girl will be able to leave the hospital in a day or two.

Mart Shoemaker sold his veal calf to Taylor Bros. butchers of Muncy Valley and Mart said he thought it would weigh at out 1600 pounds four weeks old and Mart said he told them to be careful when they weighed it and Mart said they hung the weight on the end of the lever scales before they put the calf on the hook and when they hung the calf on, the scales broke in two where the hooks fastens on the lever and Mart said they guessed at the weight, but he put he put it at 1900 lbs.
