MILLS DESTROY-ED BY FIRE

C. S. DAUBERMAN, EDITOR

One of the Most Stubborn Fires in Hughesville for Many Months

Hughesville, July 3.—A few minutes past 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the town was called to fight one of the most destructive fires that has visited this vicinity for some time. When the whistle on the J. K. Rishel Furniture Co. sounded the alarm there was large volumes of smoke filling the air in purchased four teams of Western a northeasterly direction which horses, which arrived Sunday. > A few minutes after the fire was discovered the entire upper portion of the mill was in flames

Immediately upon hearing the cry of fire Mr. Buck ran up stairs but could only get to the third floor which was then blazing fiercely.

The new elevators which were just recently put in terminate on the third floor where the grain was stored. Several improvements to the amount of about $2,000, was put on the mill this spring. This is one of the oldest mills in this section of the county. Just when it was originally built we have been unable to determine. The original mill was owned by Edw. Lyon and was destroyed by fire in the early spring of 1861, Edw. Lyon sold the property to John Ulrich who in turn despond of it to William Taggert after which George Ball ran it for a number of years, then taking in partnership his son-in-law P. M. Newman, who have been owners of the property for a number of years. The loss to Buck and Robbins is estimated from $1,500 to $2,000, with about one-third of the loss covered by insurance. The loss to the mill ie estimated at from $6,000 to $8,000, partly covered by insur-
