BOAT CARNIVAL A BIG SUCCESS

The Sixth Annual Illuminated Boat Carnival at Lake Mokoma occurred Tuesday night and was a huge success in every respect. Some of the designs were the most elaborate ever seen here and the display, taken as a whole, was highly creditable.

The gaily decorated boats, moving across the water, with their thousands of Japanese lanterns formed a picture of beauty and brilliancy never to be forgotten.

The line formed in the lower lake below the island and slowly passed along the boat pier and beach, then up the lake, then turning, passed down the lake again. It is estimated that between fifteen hundred and two thousand spectators witnessed the carnival.

There were six prizes offered by Lake Mokoma Company for the best boats. First, second and third prizes for large floats and first, second and third prizes for single boats. The prizes for floats were awarded by the judges as follows: First prize, a large silver canoe, to the F. H. Farrell float, representing the "Old Oaken Bucket." This was a most beautiful design, presenting the scene as pictured by the poet. The second prize went to H. D. Harrison, whose brilliantly lighted float represented the circular machine, known as the "Ocean Wave." The prize was a beautiful silver soap box. The third prize was awarded to Miss Barrows, whose float represented a Turkish Harem. The prize was a handsome silver paper knife.

The first prize for single boats was awarded to Misses Pennock and Scott, whose boat represented "Moses in the Bullrushes," a unique design. The prize was a handsomely designed loving cup. The second prize was won by Miss Leone Ladley, who had a most attractive cherry tree loaded with ripe fruit. The prize was a small silver canoe. The third prize, a silver paper knife, was awarded the Hotel Bernard boat, a beautiful constructed craft, carrying a hundred lights and entered as a "Japanese Garden."

Among other designs deserving of mention were the air-ship, the sail boat, the cross, the water melon party, the fete, the woodland scene, the fairies and "Lady Elaine."

Every year the carnival becomes a bigger event and the immense crowd that witnessed it this year will probably be larger next year. It is reported that about two hundred people were unable to come on the Excursion from Dushore and Bernice owing to lack of cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Diltz are both very prominent in the social circles in that section and have a large circle of warm friends who wish them abundant success and happiness.

HELD FOR COURT

Young Man Charged With Robbing Hughesville Man

Archie Falls and Asa Diggles, who were arrested in Williamsport Thursday evening of last week by Officers Zuber, Schley and Dahn, on the charge of robbing an old man in Hughesville, were taken before a justice of the peace in Hughesville Thursday morning of last week and a few hours afterward they were taken back to Williamsport and placed in jail for court.

Early Thursday morning both Diggles and Falls were searched at the police station, as Officer Schley insisted that they had more money upon them than they turned over to Captain Calvert when they were first locked up. Diggles was ordered to remove his coat and when he was in the act of doing so a roll of bills containing $8.00 fell from its hiding place under the collar.

Falls is one of the young men implicated in a hold up on Hepburn street last winter, but he and his partners were acquitted before the court.

PINNED UNDER CAR WOMAN BADLY HURT

Mrs. Mary J. Henrie, Oldest Woman in Shamokin,

Shamokin, August 17.—Three prominent Shamokin women were pinned under a motor car at Reed's station this morning. Two of them are seriously injured. The chauffeur is expected to die.

The car belonged to J. Wes Henrie, manager of the Windsor Hotel at Shamokin. The injured are:

Mrs. Mary J. Henrie, bruises and internal injuries, may die. Mrs. Henry is one of the oldest women in Shamokin. She was the first girl baby born in Shamokin.

Mrs. William Harpel, bruises. Charles Shervanick, chauffeur. Internal injuries, broken bones. Likely to die.

Mrs. C. F. Huth, wife of the well known P. O. S. of A. organizer and Republican candidate for Congress at the spring primaries, was in the car but escaped uninjured, a top of a seat protecting her.

Reaching Reed's Station the chauffeur, Charles Shervanick, took the road to Danville instead of the Sunbury highway. This is steep hill. When he got 600 feet up the hill he realized his mistake, and started to turn the car. Then he lost control of the car, but realizing that the party was doomed if he ran down the steep hill, he let it pitch into a bank. It turned turtle, and all four were under the car.

C. M. Yeager and his daughter, who run a hotel at Reed's, heard cries of the injured. They ran out and the daughter succeeded in getting Shervanick from under the car. Then with the help of a horse they pried the car far enough up to permit the others to get out. Two doctors gave them aid. Later they were taken to the Shamokin hospital.

President Undecided on Panama Canal Toll Bill

Washington, Aug. 17.—President Taft has not decided whether he will approve the Panama canal bill as agreed to by the senate and house conferees. The president told friends today that the free toll provision of the bill might prove a serious embarrassment to the United States and that he was not sure he could sign the bill that way. He favors an amendment which in effect would permit other nations to test the free tolls provision in the courts of the United States.

Getting the Best Out of Life

By Mary Eleanor O'Donnell

How is one to get the best out of life? Can it be secured by money saving? Not always. The miser isn't usually a happy individual. Can it be secured by marrying the one you love best? Not always; sometimes those we love best of all make us the most wretched and unhappy.

Can it be secured by achievement in the business world, in education, in art? No; for while these pursuits may prove fascinating, delightful and inspiring, they cannot fill the place of a dear friend.

The loneliness of a life of continual study and grind becomes unbearable in the end, even to the student whose name is known throughout the world of letters.

A genius cannot live on glory alone. He has to have an account at the corner grocery store, and he loves the grasp of a friend's hand and a friendly word just like the rest of us.

So after all, the way to get the best out of life is to have many aims, to make one's life fit snugly and comfortably wherever it chances to be, and to keep young in body and heart and mind by taking care of the health, the morals and the spiritual self. So often lazy people appear so comfortable and selfish people so serene that an ordinary, self-sustaining hustler, who is trying to get the most out of life, must have the soil of an angel and the mind of a philosopher to keep from envying them.

Love and devotion are among the best sources for getting the most out of life. They are met with in every sphere, but more particularly in the homes of the middle class, where the attention of the passer-by is seldom attracted. A great drawback to this form of happiness is the woman who spends her time in reminding the husband that he is less kind than he used to be. Usually, when a woman gets an idea that her husband is neglecting her, or that he doesn't care for her as he used to, she begins to spread sighs and wails of anguish over all the household territory. All this tends to make the suspected husband nervous and irritable, and if he begins to rant and say unpleasant things he is hardly to be blamed. But it is these little miseries and worries that make it difficult to get the most out of life through the matrimonial pathway.

It isn't necessary for a woman to be desperately in love with a man to be jealous of him and so make life a howling wilderness for both. She may not like her best hat, either, but she doesn't want any other woman to wear it.

This is the type of woman who will fail miserably in her search for happiness. She has never tried to learn how to get the best out of life. She is of the narrow, selfish type—spoiled unfit to bear the burdens of life and unable to meet its trials patiently; she is one of the women who never mature—only grow old—without judgement, forethought, common sense or courage.

Every woman who is trying to get the best out of life must make the best of herself. Strong-minded women who hold themselves superior to the obligations of dress and manners and all the pleasant little artificialities of life are unattractive because they are ignorant of the real meaning of womanhood.

Williamsport Woman Badly Burned on Railroad Train

The extreme danger in the careless handling of matches was demonstrated yesterday afternoon, says the Lock Haven Express, of Aug. 16th, on the arrival of the afternoon B. E. V. train at Tyrone from Lock Haven when it was found necessary to call the company surgeon to dress the injuries of a lady enroute from Williamsport to Pittsburg. In company with her husband, she boarded the train at her home town. In the toilet room, nearing Tyrone, she stepped on a match, and being slightly hard of hearing did not hear the report. In a twinkling her skirts were afire and in endeavoring to extinguish flames she sustained serious and painful burns of both hands and her clothing was practically ruined.
