

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

THE EMINENT DIVINE'S SUNDAY DISCOURSE.

Subject: The Coming Sermon—Inspiration For the Future Religious Exhortation.

Will Be Drawn From the Living Christ—Theology Must Take a Back Seat.
(Copyright, Louis Klipsch, 1921.)
WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage addresses all Christian workers and describes what he thinks will be the modes of preaching the gospel in the future; he says that, "in the ministry, let us wait on our ministering."

While I was seated on a piazza of a hotel at Lexington, Ky., one summer evening a gentleman came to me and said: "What do you think of the coming sermon?" I supposed he was asking me in regard to some new discourse of Dr. Channing of London, who sometimes preached at my church, and I replied: "I have not seen it." "But," he said, "I thought that it was to be one of the characteristics of the coming sermon." "The coming sermon," he said, "is not the sermon of the future, but the sermon of the present." "It is not the sermon of the future, but the sermon of the present," he said, "it is the sermon of the present."

Before the world is converted the style of religious discourse will have to be converted. ## KEYSTONE STATE.

LATEST NEWS GLEANED FROM VARIOUS PARTS OF THE STATE.

CRASH AT A CROSSING.

Train Dashes Into a Team Containing Four Persons Near Reading.—One Was Instantly Killed—Another Man and Two Women Sustain Injuries—Pittsburg Steamship Company Incorporated.

Passenger Train No. 24, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, leaving Reading at 7:21 P. M., struck a double team containing William Bowers, of 116 Franklin street, Reading; Edwin Marquette, of Blandon; Mrs. J. H. Will, 218 Penn street, Reading, and Mrs. Minnie H. Neidley, 635 Walnut street, Reading, at High Road crossing, about two miles south of Reading, at 7:26 P. M. Bowers was instantly killed. Mrs. Will and Mrs. Neidley escaped with bruises on the arms and body. Marquette was badly bruised all over his body and legs. The wagon was completely demolished, but the horses escaped.

The escape of the three occupants from instant death is miraculous. The train, which was an accommodation train, was moving at a high rate of speed. The driver of the team, Bowers, was taken to the Reading Hospital. The injured were taken to the Reading Hospital, where their injuries were dressed. W. H. Osman was the engineer and C. B. French the conductor of the train. The first news of the disaster reached Reading through the operator of the Philadelphia & Reading water tower, near High Crossing, who was attracted by the horses running up the track. Mr. Bowers resided with his parents at 1166 Franklin street, and was associated with Mr. Schmoek in the saloon business on Chestnut street, near Teint.

Oil Industry's Big Boom.

Never in the history of the Pennsylvania oil industry has the drill been so active, and the search for new fields as persistent as during the month of October. With the crude market about $1.53, the producer is stimulated to the greatest activity, and territory abandoned years ago as unproductive is now being tested again. Oil wells have been cleaned out and the pump set to work in the hope that they will yield a little of what it is now so highly valued. Notwithstanding the breaking period of operations during October, the monthly report issued by the National Transit Company shows a total decrease in stocks of oil in all pipe lines of $21,437. Of this amount $22,964 represents the decrease of Lima oil. The large decrease in Lima stocks shows how hard pressed the refiners are for the crude product. Lima is of an inferior grade and not compared with the Pennsylvania crude for refining purposes under ordinary circumstances. The report warrants higher prices for the Pennsylvania article and came as a surprise to the producers, considering the tremendous activity in the fields.

Carriage to Build Ships.

The first real entry of Pittsburg into the construction of large steel vessels on the latest approved and most modern lines is about to be undertaken, and with the taking of the order for the initial move by the Carnegie Steel Company. The wholly successful gobble by the Rockefeller interests of all the available lake tonnage. This is what was meant by the incorporation of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company at Charleston, W. Va. H. W. Oliver says: "The new company representative, the Carnegie Steel interests, and its purpose is to establish a shipyard at the lakes. It is the intention to build one or two ordinary circles. This is all that can be definitely stated at this time, as the company has just been incorporated." The authorized capital of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company is $5,000,000. The principal incorporator is Attorney James H. Hoyt, of Cleveland, who is acting for the Carnegie-Oliver interests.

They Keep Silent.

The Role of Secrecy in the Royal Household.

One of the many rules hedging those who enter to the wants and pleasures of royalty is that a strict secrecy shall be maintained as to the sayings and doings of their royal masters and mistresses, says the New York Herald. Many a secret has gone to the grave untold owing to the conscientiousness of the bearer or seer, who, bound by the oath of office, would rather die than divulge what the world is ever to know when Miss Adeane, who is now Mrs. Mallett, was appointed maid of honor in the queen's household, she was visiting in a household where was a well-known man of letters and wit. "What a fine opportunity you will now have to keep an interesting diary," he said to her. Miss Adeane responded that, according to the queen's conditions, no one was allowed to keep a diary when at court. But, disbelieving the laughing reply, she responded, "I think I should keep a very accurate one, all the same," to which the future maid of honor courteously replied: "Then I am afraid you would not be a maid of honor." The term "maid of honor" seems to have a wider significance than is usually applied to it. It is to be not only a maid who is honored by her elevation to the membership in the royal household, but it is to be a maid whose honor is used in defense of her mistress by speech or silence, as may be required.

Evolution of the Bicycle.

In Time, It is Predicted, It Will Have Wings.

Like many other great successes in this uncertain world, the bicycle was of humble origin. It sprang from the wheelbarrow and no one blames it, says the Detroit Free Press. This is the reason that you can fall so far and be so long about it, when you are mixed up with one of these machines, no matter what price or what model. The velocipede, which the best authorities testify was a connecting link, was uglier than anything else except a three-humped camel trying to escape his keeper. The device will best be recalled as propelled by a small boy with a straw hat over his ears, his busy feet on the level with his chin and his shoulders settled down on his waist line. Then came the ungainly affair with an enormous fly wheel in front, and a pitiful little baby wheel trailing. To drop from it was like falling off a load of hay and it forced upon short, fat men the indignity of mounting from a second-story window or a convenient shade tree. Nearly all of those who were thrown from it and survived are miscellaneously maimed. But it is through such rugged stages that success is reached. The bicycle became a thing of beauty and a joy forever with pneumatic tires that are blown up as they deserve it, artistic fenders, ball bearings, spring seats and an unaccountable disposition to participate in a search. At last they have thrown off their chains and attain the highest degree of freedom attainable by things inanimate. They neither eat nor drink, but are always merry. They do not, neither do they spin—when a policeman is looking—yet Solomon in all his glory could not have hidden one of them to save his life. They do not shy at firecrackers, a cow in the road or a locomotive whistle. It does not require two hands to hold them when an interested couple are going home, as it does a horse headed for the oats bin, and they will stand without hitching, wherever the bicycle thief permits. In time, it is predicted, they will have wings, and humanity itself aspires to nothing more desirable.

One of the trials of those interested in the culture of flowers is the presence of destructive insects. Persons who have been discouraged by the trouble and often lack of success attending the use of insecticides will find the following simple and easily prepared wash entirely effective. It is the recipe of Mr. Eben E. Rexford, an authority of national reputation.

Shave a quarter of a pound of Ivory Soap in water sufficient to cover it and dissolve upon the stove, then add five gallons of warm water. Spray this solution upon the plants with a florist's syringe, or if they are small dip them bodily into it. In either case, be sure to reach every part. Let them stand half an hour and then rinse with clear water.
