Rev. W. J. Sheffer will deliver his popular lecture on the Spanish-American War in the M. E. church at Clear Ridge, Saturday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock p. m. Admission ten cents. This lecture will be a treat intellectually, full of patriotism of high order, and filled with funny anecdotes.

Tuesday evening we received the following from a reader of the "News": "A lady friend writes me that Prof. David Swing has the presumption to attach his name to Laura S's poem entitled 'Beautiful,' and some one else has set it to music. Prof. Swing will have to be looked after." How about it, Lollie?

Thirteen years ago Tom Johnson, a farmer near town, purchased from the late John B. Hoke, Nell, a mare then twenty-two years old, for seventy dollars. The following spring, Mr. Brandt, a stock dealer, offered him one hundred and forty dollars for her, which Mr. Johnson refused, as he had promised Mr. Hoke never to sell her. Last spring, he was offered forty dollars for her. The faithful animal which had always received good care from Mr. Johnson, did faithful service up to last Friday when, she became sick and on Saturday died at the advanced "horse-age" of thirty-five years.

Enthusiastic meetings of citizens were held at Webster Mills last Saturday, and at Board Yard school house in Thompson township on Tuesday. There is nothing to publish now than this: If the B. and O. people are as much in earnest as our people, and are as willing to do their part as we are to do ours, the road will be built.

Layton, gathered a party of men who went into the mountain and worked bravely; and it was not until about two o'clock Sunday morning that it was brought under control, but it was not until Sunday forenoon that the fire was entirely extinguished.

SALUVIA

P. R. Austin, of Chambersburg, who is superintending the spring work on his farm in Taylor township, was a welcome visitor at the Presbyterian church Sunday.

Miss R. Lenore Wishart, of Harrisonville, spent a very pleasant visit with friends in McConnellsburg, the last of the week.

S. A. Nesbit, Esq., of McConnellsburg, accompanied Rev. West to Green Hill Sunday morning.

Mrs. S. H. Hockensmith and daughter, Miss Fannie, of West Dublin, spent Saturday night with Mrs. Hockensmith's sister, Mrs. Anna Hann.

George Betz and family, who are removing from Chambersburg to Clearfield, are spending a few days enroute with friends at Harrisonville.

That laughable farce, "A Deed-strict Skule," presented by the Harrisonville school, Thursday night, was a grand success. If you were looking for pretty girls, catchy music, and bright recitations, with that clever impersonator, Levi Hockensmith, as "marster," they were all there, and the different parts were very creditably and pleasingly rendered.

Harrisonville claims to be the banner school of the township, and, with an interested, enthusiastic, and progressive teacher, such as Miss Wishart, it would be difficult to dispute their claim.

Miss Mary Daniels, of McConnellsburg, was visiting her mother, Mrs. John Daniels, over Sunday.

Merrill Nace, of McConnellsburg, was a welcome visitor at Endeavor Sunday evening.

Most of those who were required to attend 70 per cent., and did not, were prevented by sickness and work at home. This day, April 26, 1900, completed thirteen months school which I have tried to teach at this place. I regret that I did not please all. Only two parents visited my school during the last term. As this closes my teaching here, I hope you will secure a more successful teacher for the next term.

Yours respectfully,
GEORGE E. CLOUSER.

FORT LITTLETON.

It would seem that no one about our town has local pride enough to report the happenings of our ancient village for the best newspaper in the county.

Lots of smoke these days; but, thus far, our community has escaped any serious fires.

Last Saturday night the usual quiet of our town was broken by some music—vocal, and instrumental including bones.

Quite an exciting pugilistic encounter occurred on the State Road last week. Ended with one round. Time 61 seconds. Queensbury rules—hit with both hands—free bout—ended with foul on the nose. Next time it is to be a fight to the finish.

George Fraker made a flying trip to Huntingdon, Monday.

Frank Madden and wife were visiting David and Minnie Fraker at D. F. Fraker's home.

Charles Richardson who is learning the carpenter trade with Nathan B. Heury, spent Sunday at his home, and called at the village to see some of his friends. Some talk of his taking charge of the foundry.

Samuel R. Fraker has been getting some fancy stock and fowls. His cattle are of an improved breed and the turkeys are the Bronze which he says will weigh 45 pounds a piece if they get large enough. The chickens are the White Leghorn variety, and the porkers the Poland China and Berkshire. He is also starting an orchard of choice fruit.

Pap Mayne is still with his son George at Holidaysburg.

We are sorry to report that our good friend David Bare is quite poorly.

Our farmers, and, indeed, everybody seems overburdened with work.

There have not been any Dewey Clubs organized at Littleton yet.
