St. Louis. (Special.) - One of the bigges street railway strikes in the history of the country is on in this city.

Of the 3,600 employes of the St. Louis Transit Company, the corporation controlling all but one of the trolley lines in the city, it is estimated that 3,325 belonging to the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employee have quit work. The employes of the City and Suburban Railway Company, the only independent line, are also on

Vicience ran riot from early morning up til late at night and several persons were hurt in street fights resulting from attempt to move cars with non-union crews. The demands of the strikers are substan tially as follows: All conductors, motormen, grip men and all men employed in the sheds must be mem-bers of the union. The officers of the union with the officers of the company, shall be given power to adjust all differences that may arise and, in the event of their failing to agree, shall, if mucually agreed to, place case before three arbitrators. Any mem ber suspended by the union must be sus pended by the company, without pay, until such time as the union requests his rein state ment. At this point a motorman was hit over the head with a club, a piece of brickbat struck him in the mouth, lacerating his lip, and his nose was smashed with a stone. The motorman left his car and ran futo a saloon for protection.

Almost at the same time a well-dress young woman who was riding in the car was struck on the head by a sharp stone that erashed through the window and badly wounded her.

The strikers gathered in force at the De Hodiamont station of the suburban line and as fast as cars were started the striker boarded them and pulled the motormen and conductors off. As a result the cars were stopped. By 10 o'clock traffic on the suburban line down town had been virtually suspended. Several arrests of alleged rioters were made on this line.

bate as to nominating a candidate for Vice-President. It was finally decided to nominate, and Mr. Towne, like Bryan, was chosen by acclamation. The platform adopted by the fusionists deounces the Currency bill, advocates free silver at 16 to 1 and other financial changes declares that the remedy for trusts is public ownership of money, transportation and the means of transmitting intelligence, demands the initiative and referendum, denounces imperialism and expresses sympathy for the Boers, besides dealing with a number of other questions. The middle-of-the-road convention at Cincinnati went through its business rapidly. Three men were put in nomination for President for the convention's selection. They were Wharton Barker, Ignatius Donnelly and ex-Congressman Milford W. Howard, of Alabama. Mr. Howard made a speech withon the first ballot. The second ballot resulted in the choice of Barker, who received 370 votes to 336 for Howard. Donnelly was named unanimously for Vice-President,

The platform adopted by the middle-ofthe-roaders is remarkable for omitting all mention of imperialism. It declares for the initiative and referendum, public ownership of public utilities, "a scientific and absolute paper money," with free silver at 16 to 1 until such a financial system is secured and denounces trusts. Other domestic questions are also touched upon.

TOWERMAN'S NEGLECT CAUSES A CATASTROPHE.

SEVEN LIVES WERE LOST

One Section of a Freight Was Standing Still, and the Other, Taking on More Speed to Carry It Up Grade, Collided With Terrific Force Engineer and Fire-

Philadelphia, Pa., (Special.)-Through the negligence of a towerman, who lay freight train wreck occurred here in nel on the Baitimore and Ohio Rallroad. An engineer and a fireman were killed, and five unknown tramps are supposed to be dead in the wreck. The property loss is estimated at $185,000. The man who was responsible for the necident, Frank Lamtell, surrendered himself to C. O. O. Bent, a superintendent in the employ of the Bait! more and Ohio Railroad Company. He is now under arrest.

The known dead are George Laub, engineer, and George Hinehman, fireman, both of this city. Their bodies and those of the tramps are buried beneath the wrecked cars, and cannot be recovered until the fire which followed the colifsion is extinguished. About thirty firemen of the city fire depart ment were either burned or overcome by smoke while fighting the flames. None of bem, however, was seriously injured. The tunnel runs under Twenty-fifth street from Callowhill street to Fairmount Park, a distance of 2,800 feet. It is semi-circular, and the tracks are up-grade from the Calowhili street entrance. Every night a train known as the New York freight express leaves here for New The train was made up in two see tions, the first section containing forty-three cars. When it reached the tunnel the engine was unable to pull it up the grade, and seventeen cars were detached and left standing about midway in the tunnel while the other were drawn through.

It was the duty of the tower operator, Lan tell, to set a red signal on the semaphore at the Callowhill street entrance to the tunnel. Being asleep, as he admits, he failed to do this, leaving the white light in view At 11:30 o'clock the second section of the freight, comprising thirty-eight cars, approached at the rate of thirty miles an hour. Engineer Laub, seeing the white signal, gave the locomotive extra speed in order to carry the train up the grade. The rapidly moving train collided with the standing cars in the tunnel with terrific force.

Fire immediately broke out, and three of cars, each containing 4,000 gallons of oil, exploded. Soon the wreckage was a mass of flames.

Owing to the heat and smoke and gaseou. air in the tunnel the firemen entered the tunnel only a short distance without being over come. Holes were dug in the street to make ents, and the roof of the tunnel was blasted but to no avail. The bodies of the engineer and the fireman and the five tramps who were said to be on the train have doubtles been cremated. Shortly after the collision Lamtell disappeared and could not be found, until he gave himself up late. When questioned he said "I did it.
