FIRST BIG GUN.

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT NOTI-FIED OF THEIR NOMINATIONS.

LARGE CROWD AT CANTON.

Resides the Formal Remarks of Senate Lodge and the President's Response the Crowd Was Addressed by Chair-Hanna - Simple Ceremonies at Roosevelt's Oyster Hay Home. Canton, O. (Special).-Under an azure sky, with the sunlight glinting through the leafy trees, with the banner of the Republic draped above him, William McKinley was officially notifled of his second nomination by the Republican party for the highest office in the civilized world. Grouped about him were leading men of his party, while surrounding his Canton home blame for the Fourth of July disaster, were the friends among whom he has lived for more than 30 years, together placed." with vast crowds from the surrounding towns of his native State.

The scene was inspiring as, to the eloquent words of Senator Lodge, the President responded in a ringing speech. There was enthusiasm enough and to spare, and to many of the pointed utterances of both Senator Lodge and the President there was hearty and cordial approval shown.

Important features of the speech o notification by Senator Lodge and the response by President McKinley were the references to the Chinese struation. This caused a great deal of discussion during the conferences follow ing the formal speech-making. the impression created was that these utterances were a notification to the world that the United States intended to preserve all its rights in China.

The impressive portions of the resident's speech were his references to the maintenance of the gold stand-ard and the financial public faith, the preservation of a protective tariff, the enlargement of our market, and especially the catchy phrase "prosperity at ome and prestige abroad."

When he asked "Shall we go back to the tariff of four years ago?" there were shouts of "No! No!" from every part of the audience. A prolonged cheer greeted his words relative to the maintenance of our authority in the Philippines. There was a most impressive shout when he declared that there should be continued legis lative control over the territory pos sessed by the United States and another outburst when he said such authority would be coupled with "liberty and humanity." His declaration that the United States had reclaimed 10,000,000 human beings from imperi alism" was a decided hit, and there were many requests for him to repeat This turn of the word the sentence. used so much by the opposition was considered one of the adroit features of the speech.

The President seemed at his best His appearance indicated splendid health and his voice rang out in clarion tones, reaching the outskirts of the vast throng which surrounded the house, and extended over the lawn and across the street. Speaking from the same place where he received the formal notification four years ago, and in the presence of men in hearty accord with his policy and principles, he could not but create a favorable impression and receive, as he did, the most hearty applause of his listeners.

While the speech of the President closed the formal notification there had not been oratory enough for the gathering and other speakers were called for. Senator Fairbanks, of indiana; Senator Hanna, chairman of the National Committee: Charles Emory Smith, Postmaster-General; Col. Samuel Parker, of Hawaii, and Senator Lodge were heard, the last named speaking twice.

The notification committee and party came from Cleveland on a specia train, making the run in one hour and 21 minutes. They were met at the sta-tion and in carriages escorted to the home of President McKinley. The Tippecanoe Club of Cleveland was given the place of honor next to the band American flag floated from many business houses and residences along the route of the procession. Other delegations from nearby cities and towns helped to swell the large throng which gathered to honor one of Canton's famous citizens and to contribute their share toward making the second notification of Mr. McKinley a day long to be remembered as a historical and interesting event in the city of Canton.

Roosevelt Notified.

Oyster Bay, N. Y. (Special).-Gov. Theodore Roosevelt was officially notified of his nomination for the Vice Presidency. The exercises took place at his coun try home, Sagamore, near Oyster Bay. Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, was chairman of the committee.

Governor Roosevelt received the party on the wide vine-covered porch of Sagamore. Standing on the lower step, he grasped the hand of each visitor and then, turning, presented each to Mrs. Roosevelt, who stood on the veranda behind him. Shortly after 12 o'clock Senator Wolcott called the committee to the porch. There, in the cool shade of the awnings and vines, clear and resonant voice. His address was almost exclusively a laudation of Governor Roosevelt. The Governor replied in part as follows:

This is very much more than a mere party contest. We stand at the parting of the ways, and the people have now to decide whether they will go forward along the path of prosperity and high honor abroad or whether they will turn their backs upon what has been done during the last three years; whether they will plunge this country into an abyss of misery and disaster or, what is worse than even misery and disaster, shame. "I feel that we have a right to ap peal not merely to Republican, but to all good citizens, no matter what may have been their party affiliations in the past, and to ask them, on the strength of the record that President McKiniey has made during the last three years, to stand shoulder to shoulder with us, perpetuating the conditions under which we have reached a degree of prosperity never before attained in the nation's history and under abroad we have put the American flag on a level where it never before in the history of the country has been source worthy of the highest credence it was learned that the State Department believes all foreign Ministers in Pekin have been massacred. Secretary Hay has no information at hand upon which to base this assumption, but it is said that he draws the conclusion from all the circumstances and alleged harm's reach. circumstances surrounding the Chinese situation.

The Imperial edict reported to the State Department is understood to have determined the Secretary in his gloomy inference. That edict left Pekin on June 29, and he believes that if Mr. Conger was then alive and safe some reassuring word would have accom-panied the communication.

The department is, however, arding no more guesses as to the fate of Minister Conger and the other diplomats at the Chinese capital. It is simply waiting, anxiously waiting, for some definite ray of light from Asia. Until then speculation will cease.

NIGHT ATTACK SUCCEEDED

Tried a Last Desperate Sortie, After Which the Walls of Their Refuge Were Leveled by Chinese Artillery Fire and All Foreigners Butchered-Buildings Burned About Their Heads.

Washington (Special).-From many sources testimony accumulates to the effect that the foreign legations in Pekin have been destroyed and their inmates massacred. A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Shanghai purports to give, on the authority of the Shantung Governor, details of the capture of the legations on the night of July 6 and the subse quent massacre of foreigners. Accord ing to this story, the legations succumbed only after an all-night attack. The forces of Prince Tuan defeated the regular troops of Prince Ching and of Wang Weng Shao before the foreigners were slaughtered.

Minister Wu has received at Washington a dispatch from Sheng, at Shanghai, saying that a Chinese general was preparing to bombard the forlegations in Pekin July 7. Shanghai dispatch, said to be official from Chinese sources, says that the legations had fallen and foreigners had been massacred before the departure from Pekin of a courier July 2.

According to a London dispatch, Lady Hart, wife of Sir Robert Hart, Director of Imperial Maritime Chinese Customs, has received the following message from her busband, dated "Our people, including the women are in the legations. Prepare to hear the worst." The only substantial doubt thrown on the story is by Li Hung Chang, who stated at Canton that several of the legations were still safe, and that none of the ministers, except Von Ketteler, has been killed. The fact that no two stories agree perfectly as to the date of the massacre tends also to discredit them. Nearly all accounts have come President, WILLIAM J. BRYAN, originally from Chinese sources, and it is thought that the dates may have been juggled with.

Dispatches from Tientsin tell of stuboorn fighting between the allies and the Chinese. Admiral Seymour has sent reports to London indicating that the allies are at least holding their own. He says that the foreign garrison has been reinforced by 1500 Americans, presumably including the Ninth Infantry.

The powers are said to have reached an agreement as to Chinese policy. They have practically given up hope of saving the legations in Pekin, and will not make an advance, it is said, until it can be done in overwhelming

Messrs. Dick and Hanna laid whole matter before the President shortly before he departed for Canton. They instructed Mr. Odell to continue his investigation and cautioned him to work with the utmost secrecy. Mr. Odell admitted that he and cer-anxious that no reference whatever should be made to the matter. Special detectives are guarding the President in Canton.

Consul-General Goodnow has cabled from Shanghai to the State Department that the Governor of Shantung says the Boxers and soldiers were bombarding the Pekin legations July 7. AMERICA'S POSITION STATED. Peace Wanted With China and "Impar tial Trade."

Washington (Special).-The State Department made public the identical note which was recently sent to the powers as defining the position of the United States respecting the Chinese troubles. It is understood that this circular was drawn up June 30 and transmitted to Canton for the approval of the President. It was communicated July 3 to the powers concerned. The note s as follows: "In this critical posture of affairs in China it is deemed appropriate to define the attitude of the United States as far as present circumstances permit this to be done. "We adhere to the policy initiated by us in 1857, of peace with the Chinese nation, of furtherance of lawful commerce and of protection of lives and property of our citizens by all means guaranteed under extra territorial treaty rights and by the law of na tions. If wrong be done to our citi-zens we propose to hold the responsible authors to the uttermost accountability. We regard the condition at Pekin as one of virtual anarchy practically devolved upon the local pro vincial authorities. So long as they are not in overt collusion with rebel lion and use their power to protect for eign life and property we regard them as representing the Chinese people, with whom we seek to remain in peace and friendship. 'The purpose of the President is, as it has been herecofore, to act concur rently with the other powers, first, in opening up communication with Pekin and rescuing the American officials missionaries and other Americans who are in danger; secondly, in affording all possible protection everywhere in China to American life and property; thirdly, in guarding and protecting all legitimate American interests; and fourthly, in aiding to prevent a spread of the disorders to the other provinces of the Empire and a recurrence of such disasters "It is, of course, too early to forecas the means of attaining this last result, but the policy of the Government of the United States is to seek a solution which may bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and inter national law and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chines Empire.

You will communicate the purport of this instruction to the Minister for Foreign Affairs.'
