

WELLS VALLEY.

Thanksgiving Services and Sunday School Convention Combined.

The Twenty-First Annual Convention of the Wells Valley S. S. Association met in the Mission Sabbath school room at Wells Tannery, on Thursday morning, November 29, 1900.

According to the usual custom, the convention opened with a Thanksgiving sermon. Rev. H. S. Bickel, minister in charge of Bethel church, New Grenada, delivered the sermon, which had been carefully prepared and was well delivered. After the delivery of the sermon, the convention was organized by the president, James W. Barnett, taking the chair and the election of E. A. Horton secretary—the secretary of the convention not being present. The minutes of the last convention were read and approved. A vote of thanks was tendered the minister for his excellent sermon, in opposition, however, to his most earnest protest.

After considerable discussion on the question, "Why the people generally do not attend Thanksgiving services better?" participated in by S. P. Wishart, W. H. Spangler and Rev. Bickel, the convention adjourned for dinner.

AFTERNOON.

The convention convened at 1.30 o'clock, and a praise service of a half hour was conducted by Rev. Bickel. At the close of this service a committee on nomination of officers and place of holding next convention was appointed, consisting of the following persons: Thomas Ramsay, Mrs. E. A. Horton, James Lockard, Mrs. John A. Wishart and Z. P. Horton. A committee on resolutions was also appointed at this time, consisting of the following named persons: Rev. H. S. Bickel, Harvey Wishart and J. G. Cunningham.

The regular programme was then taken up.

The Address of Welcome being in order, Miss Alice E. Wishart stepped forward, and in a very hearty and earnest tone bade the people welcome to the village and to the convention. The response to the welcome was delivered by Rev. Bickel. In a very hearty manner, he expressed the thanks of the convention for the warm welcome it had received.

The first question for discussion, Why are we here? was opened by James Lockard, followed by J. G. Cunningham.

Mr. Lockard did exceedingly well in his presentation of the subject—so well in fact that Mr. Cunningham concluded that it was no use to say more, and so he reserved his strength for subjects that were to follow.

During the general discussion of the question, the convention was very agreeably surprised to see step in, B. W. Peck, of McConnellsbury, one of the foremost sabbath school workers of the county.

Previous to the meeting, the officers of the convention had a list of questions printed for the use of the convention, to be used instead of the query box. There were 25 of these questions and the discussion of some of them brought out many good thoughts.

The subjects discussed were— 1. "How to secure best results in teaching advanced History." 2. "Seat work for first and second grades."

Prof. Chesnut in his talk said he thought reproduction work of first and second grades has been neglected to a great extent by a majority of the teachers the last year.

3. "Illustrations as a factor in teaching." 4. "Physiology—primary and advanced."

Dr. Garthwaite gave a very interesting talk for both pupils and teachers on latter subject. The subjects were discussed by the teachers.

Besides the six teachers of the home township, were, Messrs James Keefer and Sam Martin and Miss Stella Bard, of Ayr; Miss Olive Hess and Mr. Clouser of Bethel; Mr. W. E. Stein, of Brush Creek; Mr. Lorenzo Truax of Licking Creek; and Mr. Harvey Sharp, of Thompson.

school management" was next taken up and "Should the superintendent use a bell?" was referred to A. O. Griffith. "Can a school be successful without a teachers' meeting for the study of the lesson?" was referred to S. P. Wishart. "How best teach temperance in the Sunday school?" to Rev. Bickel; and "What is the best way to increase the regular weekly attendance and offering?" to George W. Sipe. A lively discussion followed in all of these questions. "Greatness of Sabbath school work" was opened by Rev. Bickel followed by Z. P. Horton. Each of these gentlemen gave an entertaining and useful talk on the subject. The subject was further discussed by Prof. Peck, Wishart and others.

Reports of Committees being next in order, the committee on place and nomination of officers reported the following: Place of holding next convention, Wells Valley M. E. church; time, next Thanksgiving day. Officers: president, Geo. A. Stewart; vice president, Levi Truax; secretary, E. A. Horton; Treasurer, S. P. Wishart. The report was accepted and the above named persons elected.

The Committee on Resolutions then reported the following:

1. Whereas the convention has proven to be an important factor in Sunday school work in this district, and, whereas, the interest manifested on the part of the members of the several schools of the district is not such as will bring the best results; Therefore, be it resolved, That the school be better represented and thereby increase the interest.

2. Resolved, That as a convention, we extend our thanks to the citizens of Wells Tannery for their kind hospitality, and also to the choir for the excellent music during the convention

REV. H. S. BICKEL, HARVEY WISHART, J. G. CUNNINGHAM, Committee.

A committee was then appointed by the president to see if it would be advisable to organize a Normal Training Class, and the following named persons were appointed: Rev. Bickel, Thomas Ramsey, Harry Truax, A. F. Baker and Samuel P. Wishart. The committee conferred and announced that they would meet at Wells Tannery December 6.

The report of the acting treasurer showed a balance on hand of 9 cents, after which a collection was taken amounting to $1.21. The convention was then adjourned.

The convention proceedings were interspersed with music furnished by the Mission S. S. choir. All the people in attendance appeared to be happy and glad they were there. It was a day well spent.

Local Institute.

The first local institute of Belfast, was held at Needmore, last Friday evening, with Mr. Levi Morton as president.

The subjects discussed were— 1. "How to secure best results in teaching advanced History." 2. "Seat work for first and second grades."

Prof. Chesnut in his talk said he thought reproduction work of first and second grades has been neglected to a great extent by a majority of the teachers the last year.

3. "Illustrations as a factor in teaching." 4. "Physiology—primary and advanced."

Dr. Garthwaite gave a very interesting talk for both pupils and teachers on latter subject. The subjects were discussed by the teachers.

Besides the six teachers of the home township, were, Messrs James Keefer and Sam Martin and Miss Stella Bard, of Ayr; Miss Olive Hess and Mr. Clouser of Bethel; Mr. W. E. Stein, of Brush Creek; Mr. Lorenzo Truax of Licking Creek; and Mr. Harvey Sharp, of Thompson.
