

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Rules For Securing Peace and Comfort in the Home.

The absolute and essential foundations of good housekeeping and satisfaction between mistress and maids are:

- First.—Early rising. Second.—Method. Third.—A place for everything and everything in its place.

In very few houses where these elementary principles are carried out is there any trouble with the servants.

For the first, in housekeeping more than in anything else, the hours between 7 a. m. and 9 a. m. are the most precious of the day.

A scanty flick of the duster and a whisk of the broom, with a hasty shake of the sofa cushions; a scrambled breakfast, with no time to put away the frying pan and the porridge saucepan before the breakfast things are brought out from the dining room; delay in getting into the bedrooms—so it goes on all day, till even the dinner is late.

Those lost hours can never be overtaken, and there is sure to be irritation and perhaps bad temper before the day is over.

Second.—The method that is adopted for the work of a household denotes at once the capacity and training of the head.

Woe betide that household where the maids' duties are not clearly defined! Alas for the mistress whose maids fail in order and method!

The routine of well arranged and regular work saves enormously the brain wear and tear which is inevitable with such detailed work as this.

The time saved daily is also considerable. Imagine the waste of time and confusion in a school where the head only arranged the work classes day by day!

Third.—A place for everything and everything in its place. It is a wise old saying and intensely practical. How smoothly the work would run if every one in the house would bear the old adage in mind!

An Ideal Parlor. This concentration of interests in a room is by no means an unworthy study. Many rooms are spoiled without it. It has been successfully accomplished in a parlor overlooking a square. One side of this room is taken up with a large bay window. The other side, at right angles to it, is taken up by the fireplace sunk in a recess and so carrying out the line of the window. The study of the mistress has been to make two centers to her room, one around the window, which is always charming by day, and one around the fireplace for the night. Her table, therefore, with its writing materials and its reading lamps, has been placed in front of the fireplace, with two easy chairs before it, where she and her husband can read when the logs are lighted. On the left of the table there is a sofa facing the window with its pretty view, while grouped before it are more chairs. Here she takes her afternoon tea.—Harper's Bazar.

The New Hammocks. The swinging seat chain hammocks are shown this spring in much greater assortment than formerly. The enormous affairs as big as Dutch settees, with heavy frames and altogether too massive for the average piazza or, indeed, the average lawn, have been not superseded, but added to in a number of varieties. Some of these are in bamboo, others in wicker, others of light frames with rush seats, all to be piled with pillows, and are very attractive. Some small affairs for children's use are daintily finished in white and gold.

How to Make Sand Tarts. Beat to a cream a cupful of butter with two cupfuls of sugar. Beat separately the yolks and whites of three eggs and add to the butter, adding also a teaspoonful of vanilla for flavoring. Stir in lightly enough flour to make the mixture stiff enough to roll out thin. Cut it into squares or diamonds and place them in floured pans after brushing the tops with the white of egg. Sprinkle with granulated sugar mixed with ground cinnamon. Place a nut in the center and bake in a moderate oven until of a light brown color.

The Way to Pan Chicken. To pan chicken cut the chicken up as for fricassees. Put it into an ordinary baking pan; dust with pepper, partly cover with water and place it in a very hot oven. Baste frequently. When it is half done, add a teaspoonful of salt. When quite done, dish and serve with a brown sauce made from the water in the pan and browned flour.—Ladies' Home Journal.

To Revive Vegetables. If root vegetables, carrots, parsnips, turnips or such vegetables are growing soft or withered, cut a thin slice off one end and lay them in cold water.

The British postal service finds employment for 34,000 women out of 167,000 officers, and over 19,000 of these women are engaged chiefly in the provinces, as assistants to postmasters. There are not many ranks closed to women. No fewer than 145 head postmistresses are to be found in the provinces, and more than one third of the sub postmaster's offices are intrusted to women.

THE TALK OF FRANKLIN COUNTY IS CONN BROS' THREE LARGE STORES.

One Department Store at Mercersburg. One Double Store at the County Seat of Franklin. One at Dry Run, centre of Path Valley.

Satisfaction is our slogan, to have our patrons satisfied in every particular, in quality of goods and prices is our aim in business. We would rather make no sale, than have a customer dissatisfied with a purchase, from every available supply. We have gathered the biggest and best value possible for any store to offer; a prudent purchaser can not afford to ignore in any instance. You are paying less than other stores pay at wholesale. We go into the market with our great chain of stores behind us prepared to buy any quantity, if the price be right, and quality satisfactory.

Hence we have a distinct advantage over every one who does not buy as largely as we do. That is why we can sell you so cheap. Such a purchase as our buyer made last week, of the entire contents of those immense SHOE and CLOTHING factories at Baltimore, would have staggered any merchant who was not sure of the confidence and indorsement of the people, but CONN BROS. knew what they were doing and they knew that you would uphold them; and how could you help it when they secured you

The Philosophy of Simon Frost.

It's the breedin' more'n the pasture that goes to make a hoss what he is.

Ye can't flatter everybody in the same way, but I an't never knowed a feller that ye couldn't flatter some way.

One suspender button, ef it's sewed on tight, 'll hold more'n two loose uns.

A feller's best friend's his conscience, an' like the rest o' his friends he don't pay much attention to it.

It's a mighty hard job to find a feller thet's above his place in the world.

It's all right for a feller to cultivate his mind ef he don't let it cultivate him.

Folks thet don't talk at all kin make as much trouble as them that say too much.

When ye see a feller with his coat wore out at the elbows ye kin be purty certain thet he done it by hard work.

It's easier to believe sometimes than it is to argue with him.

There's some folks thet was born, an' there's some thet's mean by education an' there's some thet's both.

When a feller's a-hanging by a popo twenty foot from the ground he gen'rally hopes thet the feller thet made it was honest.

A feller thet's all the time happy an' the feller thet's all the time sad are both uv 'em fools.

Ef some folks thet hev died thinkin' thet they had left foot-prints on the sands o' time could git back they'd find thet the next high tide washed out the marks.

Some wimen wear veils to keep from gittin' freckled, but more uv 'em to hide the freckles.

The undertaker can usually be depended upon to put up a stiff argument.

"One Is Quick to Suspect Where One Has Suffered Harm Before."

Perhaps there are some business men in this town who have tried advertising and found the results unsatisfactory.

If so, something was the trouble. Contracting for space in a newspaper is not enough. When secured the space must be used to advantage. A convincing story should be told. A plant will not grow unless it is tended. An impression cannot be made upon the purchasing public except by careful, persistent work.

Many merchants err grievously in believing that time spent upon their ads is time wasted. No time can be made more profitable.

We believe the advertising columns of this paper can be used profitably by any one who seeks to reach the buyers of this community. We will gladly aid any one who desires to try it or who is trying it and is not satisfied.
