THE NATURE OF GOD.

Dr. Talmage Expectations of the Day When That Which is Only Dimly Seen Will Be Fully Revealed.

Evidence of Divine Power-God's Infinite Lave .- His Nature Never Changes.

Wasminors, D. C.—a his discourse Dr. Talmage raises high expectations of the day when that which is now oney dimly seen will be fully revealed; test, do xay, it "Lo, these are parts of His we will be fully revealed; test, do xay, it "Lo, these are parts of His away attempt by parting or sculpture to represent the can understand?"

The least understood being in the universe is God. Bisaphemos would se any attempt by parting or sculpture to represent the control of the

There are things they cannot do, heights they cannot scale, depths they cannot fathom.

We get some little idea of the divine power when we see how it buries the proudest cities and nations. Ancient Memphis it has ground up until many of its ruins are no larger than your thumb nail, and you can hardly find a souvenir large enough to remind you of your visit. The city of Tyre is under the sea which washes the shore on which are only a few trumbling pillars left. Sodom and Gomarrah are covered by waters so deathful that not a fish can live in them. Babylon and Ninevels are so blotted out of existence that not one uninjured shaft of their ancient splendor remains. Nothing but omnipotence could have put them dawn and you them under the ancient splendor remains. Nothing but omnipotence could have put them dawn and you have not the postdiluvian world was able to send to the postdiluvian world only one ship, with a very small passenger list. Omnipotence first rolled the seas over the land and then told them to go back to their usual channuls as rivers and lakes and oceans. At Omnipotent command the waters pouncing upon their prey and at Omnipotent command elinking back into their appropriate places. By such rehearsal we try to arouse our appreciation of what omnipotence is, and our reverence is excited, and our sdoration is intensified, but after all we find ourselves at the foot of a mountain we cannot climb, hovering over a depth we cannot fathom, at the rim of a circumference we cannot compass, and we feel like first going down on our knees and then like failing flat upon our faces as we exclaim: "Lo, these are parts of this ways. But how little a portion is beard of Him? But the thunder of His power who can understand?"

So all those who have put together systems of theology have discoursed also about the wisdom of God. Think of a wisdom which can know the end from the organization, that knows the thirtieth century are well as the first century. We can excent what will happen, but it is only a trees. Think of a mi the past and all the present and all the future. We can contrive and invent on a small scale, but think of a wisdom that could contrive a universe. Think of a small scale, but think of a wisdom that ould contrive a universe. Think of a sisdom that can learn nothing new, a wisdom that nothing can surprise, all the cots, scenes and occurrences of all time o come as plainly before it as though bey had already transpired. He could ave built all the material universe into me world and swing it, a glorious mass, brough immensity, but behold His wisdom in dividing up the grandeurs into insumerable worlds, rolling splendors on all idea, diversity, amplitude, majesty, inmity. Worlds, worlds, moving in complete order, shining with complete raisance. Mightiest telescope on one hand an onst powerful microscope on the lace, discovering in the plan of God not are imperfection.

With writers cometimes depreciate the thunder and say it is the lighting that strikes, but I are sure C.d thinks well of the thunder, or He would not make so much of it, and all up and down the Biole He uses the thunder to give emphasis. It was the thunder that shook final when the law was given. It was with thunder that the Lord discondited the Philistines at Elben-ezer.

Job pictures the war horse as kiving a neck clothed with the core as times at Ebenezer.

Job pictures the war horse as hiving a neck clothed with thunder. Et. John in an apocalyptic vision again and again, heard the thunder. The thunder, which is now quite well explained by the electricians, was the over-powering mystery of the ancients, and, stanting among those mysteries, Job exclaimed: "Lo, these are parts of His ways. But how little a ortion is heard of Lin 7 Eut the thunder of Lin power who can understand?"

Se, also, all systems of theorem try to parts of His ways. But how little a ortion is heard of Lin? Eut the there'er of Lin power who can understand?"

So, also, all systems of theology try to tell us what is compiceened its; looks caracity to the everywhere in the same time. "Where is God?" said a heathen philosopher to a Caristian men. The Christian answered, "Let me ask you where Le in tot?" The child had it right when, asked how many Cods are there, and he inswered, "One." "How do you know that?" he was asked again. He answered, "Let as cally room for one, for He fills earth and heaven." An author says that if a man were set in the highest heavens he would not be any nearer the centre of the earth. I believe it. If this divine escence does not reach all places, what use in our prayer, for prayers are being offered to God on the other side of the earth as well as here, and G-I must be there and here to take supplicatiors which are offered thousands of ruiles a curt. Ubiquity! No on, has it but God. And what an alarm to wickdness, an everywhere present Lord, and what a reenforcement when we need help! God on the throne and God with the kneeling child raying Lis evening prayer at his mather's lap. God above you, God beneath you, God on the right of you, God on the left of you, God within you. No pantheirs, for that teaches that all things, as our souls possess our bodies. God at the diameter and circumference of everything, as close to you as the food you put to your lips, as the coat you put upon your back, as the sunlight that souls, gould will augment our happiness.

We have all been painfully reminded in our own experiences that we cannot be in gleony? No, for God is the God of joy and will sugment our happiness.

We have all been painfully reminded in our own experiences that we cannot be in two places at the same time, and yet here cories the thought that God can be in all places at the same time. Madler, the astronomer, went on with his explorations of the heavens until he concluded that the star Aleyone, one of the Pleiades, was the centre of the universe, and it was a fixed world, and all the other worlds revolved around that world, and some think that that world is heaven and God's throne is there and there reside the nations of the pleised. But He is no more there than He is here. Indeed Aleyone has been found to be in motion, and it also is revolving around some great centre. But no place has yet been found where God is not present by sustaining power. Omnipresence! Who fully appreciates it? Not I; not you.

Sometimes we hear Him in a whisper; sometimes we hear Him in the voice of the storm that jars the Adirondacks. But we cannot swim across this ocean. The finite cannot measure the infinite. We feel as Job did after finding God in the gold mines and the silver mines of Asia, saving, "There is a vein for the silver and a place for the gold where they fine it."

The nature of God never changes, and from all eternity that holy passion glowed in the Infinite, and I think He was throwing out worlds into space and inhabiting them and more worlds for the application of that love. He may not have told the other worlds what He edd for them. I think the love of God was demonstrated in mightier worlds before our little world was fitted up for human residence. Will a man owning 50,000 acres of land put all the cultivation on a half acre? Will God make a million worlds and put His chief affection on one small planet? Are the other worlds and larger worlds standing vacant, uninhabited, while this little world is crowded with inhabitants? No, it takes a universe of worlds to express the love of God. And there are other ransoms and other rescues and other redemptions, as there may be other millenniums and other rescues and other redemptions, as there may be other millenniums and other rescues and other redemptions, as there way be other millenniums and other rescues of our world. But in the space of six feet by five was comprised the mightiest evidence of God's love that any world ever saw or ever will see. Compressed on two planks joined together as a cross, there was enough agony there concentrated, if distributed, to put whole nations into torture. That God allowed the assassination of His own Son for the rescue of our world is all the evidence needed that He loved the world. Go allowed, the assassination of His own Son for the rescue of the painters improve upon the "Sistine Madonne" and the "Grucifixion" as Rophael and Titian and Claude and Corregio presented them. COMMERCIAL REVIEW

General Trade Conditions

New York (Special).—R. G. Dun & o.'s weekly review of trade says: "The labor situation in many parts of the country is still seriously unsettled and constitutes a reason for besitation in some industries, discouraging new operations which satisfactory conditions would otherwise stimulate. But qui decision is to be expected in some these labor controversies, and in the meantime trade is encouraged by reports of a satisfactory condition of winter wheat over a large portion of the country. As for spring wheat the crop was put in under very favorable conditions and there have been few unsatisfactory reports.

"Railroad earnings for May, 9.6 per cent. in excess of 1900, and 23.2 per cent. over 1899, reflect a continued activity in the country, while at New York bank clearings gain for the week 86.8 per cent. over 1899, with gains at the leading cities outside New York of 27.1 per cent. er 1900 and 27.5 per cent, over 1809. "The cessation of manipulation in forn contributed to a decline of 2.1 per cent, in breadstuffs. "Efforts to secure advances in grain by exaggerated reports of damage to the growing crop have given place to more rational statements, and the outlook is generally conceded to be full of promise. promise. Speculative operations for a decline, however, are far from aggres-sive, the severe losses of the short interest thus far this season making trad-ers exfremely cautious. Abundant pro-duction in the United States does not necessarily mean weak prices, for Eu-ropean crops are falling below expecta-tions, and foreign purchases continue neavy, Atlantic exports for the week flour included, amounting to 4.520,144 bushels, against 2,855,261 last year. Pacific exports also show good gains, reaching 854.515 bushels, against 501.015 a year ago. Including exports at Duluth and Portland, Me., the total outward movement for the week, exclusive of Canadian ports, was 5,646,597 bush-els, against 3,838,364 last year."

Bradstreet's says: "Failures in the United States for the week number 163, against 144 last week and 184 in this week a year ago.'

Education that Proves Its Value.

As an offset to some of the talk occa-sionally heard in all communities along the line of President Schwab's remarks when the executive head of the United States Steel Corporation expressed his opinion that boys had a better chance of business success in life if they did not go to college, too much prominence can hardly be given to the fact that every member of the graduating class of the Case School of Applied Science has a good position offered him, while there are more places offered than these there are more places offered than these there are more places offered than there are seniors to fill them.

Natural Disadvantages.

"Taking into consideration the things Sharp has had to contend against, I think his success as a lawyer has been remarkable."

Why, what did he ever have to contend against?

Everything. He came of a wealthy nily. He didn't have to work his family. He didn't have to work its way through college. He never studied by the light of a pine torch, never had by the light of a pine torch, never had to drive a dray, never walked six miles to school, and wasn't compelled to bor-row his books. He had every possible facility, and yet he has done well from the very start.

Piles Cured While You Sleep

You are costive, and nature is under a constant strain to relieve the condition. This causes a rush of blood to the rectum, and before long congested himps appear, itching, painful, bleeding. Then you have piles. There are many kinds and many cures, but piles are not curable unless you assist nature in removing the cause. CASCARETS make effort easy, regulate and soften the stools, relieving the tension, and giving nature a chance to use her healing power. Piles, hemorrholds, fistula, and other rectal troubles yield to the treatment, and Cascarets quickly and surely remove them forever. Don't be persuaded to experiment with anything else!
