Could Pose There.

There are many funny incidents in the life of a photographer. A man came in the other day and looked over all the samples, asking the price of each.

"Do you want a sitting?" I asked. "I don't see nothin' like what I want," he replied.

I told him if he would indicate what he wanted, that I might arrange it. "I don't know as you can," he said.

I repeated what I had already said. He asked me to sit while he told me. "You see, it's like this," he began.

I was touched at the homely story of grief, and I told him I could send a man with him to the grave and have the picture taken as he desired.

"It's some distance," he said. "It's over in Ireland. I expect it 'ud cost a lot to send over your traps for what I want."

I said it would. "I thought," he answered, "that maybe you could rig up a grave here in your shop and I would weep on it, and it would do just as well. It's no trouble for me to weep anywhere."

Clerk's Wise Suggestion.

I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist of Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering several hours.

A few weeks ago one of the greatest Russian philanthropists M. Slododinkoff, died at Moscow. He left a fortune of 40,000,000 rubles, of which he bequeathed 2,000,000 rubles to his two adopted sons.

Mothers can safely give Foley's Honey and Tar to their children for coughs and colds, for it contains no opiates or other poisons.

I have never been able to comprehend, said a veteran numismatist, why so many Americans should believe that a vast amount of ill luck centers around the number 13.

The most reliable preparation for kidney troubles on the market is Foley's Kidney Cure. All dealers.

Borrowed Mirth.

If a man's mind is a blank during sleep it must be difficult for some men to tell when they are awake.

Diner: Isn't that a rather small steak? Waiter: Yes, sir; but you'll find it will take you a good while to eat it.

We're in a pickle now, said a man in a crowd. A regular jam, said another. Heaven preserve us! exclaimed an old lady.

Proud Father (surveying his new born): Don't you think he looks like me? Jealous Visitor: Yes poor little thing.

Johnson: Do you mean to insinuate that I can't tell the truth? Parvinsion: By no means. It is impossible to say what a man can do until he tries.

Clerk: Here is something very fine madame. It is the latest thing out. Mrs. Booser: Well if there's anything out later than my husband. I'll take it, if it's only as a curiosity.

Poet: Let me tell you sir, that poem cost me a week's hard labor. Editor (who had read it): Is that all? If I'd have had the passing of the sentence, you'd have got a month.

She is such a gadabout, said Mrs. O'Flaherty of her new servant. If you'll believe me, Mrs. O'Grady, that gyrl will go out of the house twenty times for the once that she'll come in it.

Uncle Joshua: I wonder git some small bills for this fifty dollar note. Teller: What denomination? Uncle Joshua: I'm a Baptist, but I don't see as how that ere's got anything ter do with it.

A mother who was blessed with twin girls found them laughing merrily one night. She inquired what amused them so much? Oh, replied Edith, you have given me two baths and Alice none at all.

Mrs. Boardem: How do you find the chicken soup, Mr. Boarder? Mr. Boarder: I have no difficulty in finding the soup, madam, but I am inclined to think that the chicken will be able to prove an alibi.

Milk is awful dear now, isn't it? said the housewife to the dairyman. Yes, ma'am, was the reply, it is rather, but the milky way is always high, y' know. That may be, said the woman; but it isn't half water.

A little three-year-old girl, while her mother was trying to get her to sleep, became interested in some noise. She was told that it was caused by a cricket, when she sagely observed: Mamma, I think it ought to be oiled.

Where did you get that cake, Annie? Mother gave it to me. She's always a-giving you more'n she does me. Never mind, Harry, she's going to put mustard plasters on us to-night, and I'll ask her to let you have the biggest.

Smith: I don't like to make any complaint to a neighbor, Mr. Jones, but your dog kept up a terrible barking about all night. Jones: Oh, that's all right; he is used to it; won't hurt him a bit. Kind of you to mention it, however.

You may spell smallpox, Tommy, said the teacher to one of the juvenile class. Tommy made several attempts but failed. Well, said the teacher, what do you think a boy ought to get who fails on a simple word like smallpox? He ought to get vaccinated, answered Tommy.

The professor, according to a London newspaper, had taken a few of his pupils to the zoo. While the lions were being fed, he remarked to the keeper, with a view to his pupils' instruction at first hand: If one of those gigantic and ferocious carnivora should contrive to emancipate itself and should hurl its prodigious strength into our midst, what steps would you take?

Bloomin' long uns, sir, said the man.

Next to John Wanamaker of Philadelphia Mr. Peavey, the recently deceased elevator man of Chicago carried the largest life insurance in this country. He took out the policy for $1,000,000 in the Mutual Life of New York only two years ago and had paid two premiums on it, amounting to $96,780. He had besides about a third of a million more.

Truly a Great Year.

We of the United States last year exported the largest amount of wheat ever sent abroad—over five million bushels a week. We mined the largest amount of gold—over $83,000,000 worth. We manufactured the most goods—their value reaching nearly $1,500,000,000.

A Thousand Dollars Thrown Away.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief.

Really Good Oyster Pie.

In order to make a really good oyster pie the crust should be of rich puff paste, and the greatest care taken that the oysters do not cook too much.

The oyster filling is made in the following manner: Ingredients, one quart of oysters, pepper, salt and butter to flavor, and sufficient flour to thicken the whole.

Simmer the oyster juice, skim thoroughly, flavor with butter, pepper and salt, and thicken with flour. Pour it into a deep earthen pudding dish in which a small bowl should be placed upside down.

Suddenly there was a loud knocking at the door, and his startled wife cried: "John, got up dar, fer de Laud sake! De angels you been seekin is come for you!"

"L'em stay dar," was the trembling answer. "Tell em throo' de keyhole dat I ain't got no wings ter fly, en I too heavy ter tote!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Had to Conquer or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs, N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well."

Two brothers called at the home of Joseph D. Kretzinger, near Edgemont, a few days ago and asked for something to eat. Mrs. Kretzinger took them into the room to warm and went to the kitchen to prepare a meal for them.

American Precious Stones.

A prominent gem expert thus sums up the progress that has been made in the precious stone industries of the United States, particularly as it refers to the development of native deposits.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa.

Queen Alexandra's Dogs.

Queen Alexandra is a great lover of animals, and a full list of her pets would be a long one. Among the particular favorites are the dogs, and Mrs. Tooley in the Lady's Realm tells us that her Majesty when at Sandringham makes a systematic tour of the kennels at least once a week.

Writing of the dog graveyard near the kennels, Mrs. Tooley says: "I noticed the grave of 'Sam,' a brown poodle, for many years the companion of the Princess Victoria, who used to have the clippings of his coat spun into yarn for crocheting shawls."

The Last Heard Of It.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O.

A Georgia darkey went out to an old field to "seek and pray." It was dusk, and he knelt down and put up a long petition that the angels would come and minister unto him.

Presently he heard a flapping of wings behind him, and in a second he was making race-horse time on the home road, where he jumped into bed and covered his head for sight.
