

Gours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

How Truly the Great Fame of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Justifies Her Original Signature.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhoea than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yields to it.

Womb troubles, causing pain, weight, and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures.

Kidney Complaints and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound always cures.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS

THE MODERN HOUSEWIFE.

She Has Conveniences Unknown in the "Good Old Days."

"Now it is only a trifle," said a pretty housewife, "but I wish to call the attention of our grandmothers to one or two modern changes from their 'good old days,' of which they so frequently remind us when in the kitchen, and to which we have no desire to return.

"In this little paper box is a pound of butter—fresh, pure, sweet-smelling butter, and closely wrapped around the fragrant yellow edible cube is a clean piece of muslin. Note that the ends are neatly and tightly squared and folded the box bearing the name of the dealer, and often the name of the dairy farm from whence the butter comes. Contrast this improved, sanitary method of handling butter, which is a highly absorbent compound, and ought to be always closely wrapped and isolated in the ice chest, with the old-style way of weighing the butter often on a pair of dirty scales, slapping it in little pieces on a piece of white paper, and then wrapping it in coarse straw paper.

"Then, when our grandmothers wished a dozen or so of eggs, they were dropped in a paper bag, and often dropped to the sidewalk by the girl before she got home. Now they are placed in a neat little pasteboard box holding a dozen eggs, each egg in a compartment by itself, separated by a pasteboard partition.

"And in 'grandmother's day,' or in 'mother's day,' for that matter, recall how they had to think 'not to forget to leave the milk pail out with the tickets,' and how, when they did 'forget' to do so, what dreadful consequences resulted when papa found no milk for his breakfast coffee. It's all changed, and our grandmothers would have a hard time of it keeping pace with modern kitchen improvements. The time-honored milk pail has passed in favor of the glass bottle, sealed and reasonably clean. Even in effete New York the milkman with his ear-piercing 'yep,' yellow wagon, four cans of milk and long dipper is slowly passing in favor of the wagon with its cases of filled bottles which we see on the streets of Washington.

"Our beloved maternal ancestors in lace caps would have heart failure were the dear old ladies suddenly called upon to take the place of the housewife of to-day and superintend in the larder. Paper boxes for these purposes were unknown. Everything edible went into bags, and before the advent of bags into cornucopias of brown paper rolled over the tradesman's left arm. Now, everything from crackers to eggs, is inclosed in some sort of a receptacle of prepared paper, pasteboard, tin, glass or wood; the housewife of to-day rejoiceth in consequence, and our food products are given that additional protection against decay, dirt, deterioration and germs.

"In short, there is a great deal of fiction about 'good old times,' and these simple but highly important features of our every-day life explode one fable about the 'days when mother made such nice pies!'"—Washington Star.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

General Trade Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co's "Weekly Review of Trade" says: Varying weather has produced erratic fluctuations in prices and affected business very differently, according to locality. Retail distribution of merchandise has maintained a good average. Manufacturing plants are well employed, except where wage disputes interrupt. Coffee and silver touched low record prices, but the average of commodities advanced.

Manufacturers of cotton goods are still behind with deliveries. Wool moves slowly.

Lack of moisture has checked the wheat growth in the Southwest and snow has retarded farm work in some spring wheat States, but it is probable that there is the customary exaggeration of damage reports for speculative purposes. Corn receipts for the week reached 1,394,479 bushels, against 1,138,308 a year ago. Meats were well sustained. Cotton rose to the top point of the season.

Failures for the week numbered 212 in the United States, against 215 last year, and 18 in Canada, against 26 a year ago.

Intelligence, Industry, honesty and thrift produce wealth, and those who possess such qualities are best fitted for its custody.

Persons who are unable to acquire money are necessarily not capable of its proper use or care.

So long as some men have more sense and more self-control than others, just so long will such men be wealthy.

It is just as wicked to intrust some men with large amounts of money as it would be to put an idiot in charge of an express train.

The chief responsibility of the man of wealth is in using his money for purposes that will do the greatest good to the greatest number.

It is observable that the very rich men of today are far more democratic than ever before in the history of the world.

There may come a time when the State will put a limit upon a man's fortune.

The people know that up to the present time the great capitalists have been only captives of industry.

To put a premium on brains and honesty is the only way to level things up.

Any restriction of the rights of capital would work incalculable injury to the workingman.

Concentration of wealth... is certainly good for the Americans.

I fail to see the dangers arising from wealth; that the demagogues make such a hue and cry about.

It is to the consecration of capital and the concentration of labor, which amounts to the same, that our commercial supremacy throughout the world will be due.—Russell Sage.

"I Want Everybody to Know How Completely It Cures Indigestion."

This shows the unselfish disposition of Mr. Hodges, of Orchard Cottage, Ippiden, New York, who, having been cured by Vegeler's Compound, wishes every other sufferer to know of the benefit he has received from this marvelous remedy. He tells his story as follows:—

"Gentlemen—I find Vegeler's Compound a remedy above all others; last year I was in a thorough bad state of health, and could hardly drag one leg after the other. I had tried dozens of remedies advertised to cure indigestion and all its attendant evils, but was rapidly going from bad to worse, when I had the good fortune to be recommended to take Vegeler's Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say I made a new man of myself. I should like other people to know its virtues, and how completely it knocks under the worst forms of indigestion and dyspepsia.

(Signed) Hodges, H. Hodges.

Vogeler's Compound is the greatest remedy of the century for all stomach disorders and liver and kidney troubles in both men and women. A free sample bottle will be sent on application to the proprietors, St. Jacobs Oil, Ltd., Baltimore, Md.

Why Is It

That St. Jacobs Oil always affords instant relief from pains, after all other remedies have signally failed? Simply because it is peculiar to itself, wholly unlike another remedy. It possesses great penetrating power, reaching the very seat of the disease. It acts like magic. It conquers pain quickly and surely. It is an outward application, and is used by millions of people.

RECIPIES.

Potato Soup—Put four potatoes on to boil. When half done drain off the water and cover them with fresh water; add one small onion, a stalk of celery, a bunch of sweet herbs and boil until the potatoes are done. Boil a quart of milk. Press the potatoes through a sieve, mix with them a tablespoonful of butter and stir in the boiling milk. Season and serve.

Eggs a la Polignac—Rub individual timbale molds with butter and sprinkle with minced parsley, chopped very fine. Break an egg in each one, dust with salt and pepper and put a little bit of butter on top. Place the molds in a pan of hot water that will cover them and let them poach in the oven until they are firm enough to turn out on a cutler dish with a spoonful of tomato sauce under each. Very dainty.

Sassafras Jelly—Sassafras jelly is made of the pith of the large branches of the sassafras tree, gathered in the spring. Pour a pint of boiling water over a dram of sassafras pith and let it gradually thicken into a jelly. Strain it in bowls or earthen molds adding a little sugar if desired. It has the pleasant flavor of sassafras and is recommended in feverish colds and rheumatic affections. A delicious candy is made from syrup flavored with the pith or the bark of the root of sassafras. This candy is also recommended for colds.

Spider Cake—Take four cups of sifted flour, add one teaspoonful of salt, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and sift again. Rub into the flour, using spatula or flexible knife, half a cup of butter, add a cup of stewed fruit, or currants, mix well, then mix in enough milk to make a soft dough that will spread but not run in the pan. Heat a teaspoonful of butter in the iron spider (frying pan), put in the cake (the pan must be large enough to make the cake three-quarters of an inch thick). Set it over a moderate fire to bake slowly for about twenty minutes, allowing ten minutes for each side. Shake the pan about and turn the cake to prevent its burning. Serve as soon as done. Split open, do not cut, and use plenty of good butter and maple syrup.
