WEDNESDAY FORENOON.

Devotional service by Rev. A. G. Wolf of the Lutheran church.

The teachers' topic for this session is Professional Reading. Prof. J. Emery Thomas opened the discussion. He spoke of a teachers' reading course. B. F. Henry says the teacher should be the judge of what the pupil should read. The teacher should read educational papers-at least two. He should read much and ponder well. Miss BlancheO. Peck would have teachers read whatever would help them in their work They should read some good works during vacation. Prof. Geo. W. Ready thinks if a teacher is well qualified for his work, the public will soon find it out, and his service will be in demand. He thinks every teacher should read at least one good work on Psychology. He approved the proposed adoption of a teachers' reading course for the county. Further discussed by Gilbert B. Mellott, B. C. Lamberson, and Prof. C. J.

Supt. Barton appointed the following committee on professional reading: B. C. Lamberson, B. F. Henry, Stella Bard, Gilbert B. Mellott, Olive Grissinger, David Strait, and George W. Ready.

Dr. H. U. Roop, president of Lebanon Valley College, was introduced and spoke on the theme of the Purposes of the School.

The next period was taken by Prof. Potts, subject "Education." Prof. Geo. Leslie Omwake, of Ursinus College took the last period of this session, making an introductory address.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

This session opened with house crowded. Prof. G. L. Omwake occupied the first period in discussing the Vital Forces of the School. The speaker explained that the children and teacher represented; these forces. He showed that life ought to be complete at every stage from infancy clean through life.

Dr. Roop continued his talk of the morning session on the Purpose of the School.

"Results of Discipline," by Ex-Supt. Potts. Order is the first result. Discipline should produce honesty. Teach cleanliness it is a sin to be dirty. Attention is another result of discipline.

Dr. Jos. F. Barton, vice principal of the C. V. State Normal school appeared and made a brief introductory address.
