THE CONFESSION OF DAVID LEWIS THE NOTED HIGHWAYMAN AND COUNTERFEITER.

(Continued from first page.) bersburg Rittner was accompanied by a young man who I think was called Hendricks, very unlike another of the deputies, who assisted in bringing me from Mechanicsburg to Carlisle, his name I cannot remember, though I shall not forget him if I was to live a thousand years, as I was very forcibly struck with the contrast of character between the two men, for while the former was modest and reserved and never plagued me with impertinent questions, the other was continually teasing me with various enquiries, which did not become him to use to a person in my situation. I soon discovered that his silly conduct proceeded from vanity, and that he had a great desire to make a display of his learning to me, for he was constantly pulling out of his pocket a little book, which I took for a pocket Dictionary, to find out the meaning of the high flowing words he made use of.

If there was any class or description of people in society whom I would sooner have robbed than any other, it was those who held public offices, and under color of law had been guilty of extortion; who had plundered the poor, and cheated the widow and the orphan. Against such workers of iniquity my mind had taken a set, and I was determined never to spare them on any occasion that offered. The groans of the distressed, the cries of the widow and the complaints of the oppressed rang in my ears, and called aloud for vengeance.

There was perhaps no place in the State in which I heard more complaints of this sort than in the county of Cumberland, and as Carlisle was my native place, for which I felt a strange attachment, instead of committing a wrong, I conceived that I would render a service by punishing those official marauders who infested the town, in visiting upon them the same degree of severity which they had visited upon others, and thus make the cruel feel the pain they gave. With this view I at one time proposed to my companions that we should abandon the highways, make our peace with offended justice, satisfy the penalties of the law, reimburse those whom we had robbed wronged, move into town, and adopt the most effectual mode of bringing extortioners, bank swindlers and public defrauders to justice, and make as much money out of them as we could. Having heard great complaints in every place of a certain act of Assembly, called the "fee bill," which had passed in the session of 1813-14 through the influence of Governor Findley and his friend, I procured a copy of the law and found that it contained a provision that if any officer should take greater or other

BOY'S LIFE SAVED FROM MEMBRANOUS CROUP.

C. W. Lynch, a prominent citizen of Winchester, Ind., writes, "My little boy had a severe attack of membranous croup, and only got relief after taking Foley's Honey and Tar. He got relief after one dose and I feel that it saved the life of my boy." Refuse substitutes. All dealers.

Clear Ridge.

William Baker of this place has returned to Altoona where he is employed by the P. R. R. Co. James L. Kerlin has purchased the farm of the late Jonathan Anderson, which is situated in Taylor township. James is a hustler and is going into the lime business in the near future. That is the kind of farmers we need. It would be a good idea if some of the farmers of Taylor would turn their attention that way. Come on Barnum, we welcome you into our township.

A THOUSAND DOLLAR'S WORTH OF GOOD.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain. I got no relief from medicines until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me a $1000 worth of good." All dealers.

A MILLION VOICES.

Could hardly express the thanks of Homer Hall, of West Point, Ia. Listen why: A severe cold had settled on his lungs, causing a most obstinate cough. Several physicians said he had consumption, but could not help him. When all thought he was doomed he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and writes—"It completely cured me and saved my life. I now weigh 227 lbs." It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and lung troubles. Prices 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at W. S. Dickson's.

Your Column.

To show our appreciation of the way in which the Fulton County News is being adopted into the homes of the people of this county, we have set apart this column for the FREE use of our subscribers for advertising purposes, subject to the following conditions: 1. It is free only to those who are paid-up subscribers. 2. Only personal property can be advertised. 3. Notices must not exceed 30 words. 4. All "legal" notices excluded. 5. Not free to merchants, or anyone to advertise goods sold under a mercantile license. The primary object of this column is to afford farmers, and folks who are not in public business, an opportunity to bring to public attention products or stocks they may have to sell, or may want to buy. Now, this space is yours: if you want to buy a horse, if you want hired help, if you want to borrow money, if you want to sell a pig, a buggy, some hay, a goose, or if you want to advertise for a wife—this column is yours. The News is read weekly by eight thousand people, and is the best advertising medium in the county.

FOR SALE.—Two good horses, and 175 acres of timber land—100 acres of which is slightly improved. Inquire of J. F. Hess, Sideling Hill, Pa.
