WEEDING THEM OUT.

"I smile over it even now," declared the well known minister of the Gospel, who was in a reminiscent mood...

"Well, I collected the envelopes and took them in my study to look over. The amount pledged was very satisfactory, but there was one card calling for $100 that was unsigned.

"At last it is all covered to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat. Therefore, it shuts off the freezing air from the big body of comparatively warm water underneath.

"Well, the next Sunday—remember, I was young—I resolved upon a bold plan. I arose and requested all those who had handed in an envelope the Sunday before to stand up. This they did, the deacon among them.

Fulton County Boy's Observations.

After making a tour of the manufacturing and mining towns and cities of western Pennsylvania looking for a chance to make a fortune, a Taylor township boy notes a few observations that he has made as follows: "Work easy to get and hard to do.

By the Act of June 8, 1881, the penalty is not less than five, nor more than fifty dollars, for each and every offence. A. J. Mellott.

TWAIN'S FIRST EARNINGS.

While traveling recently, Mark Twain was asked by a friend and fellow passenger if he remembered the first money he had ever earned.

"Yes," answered Mr. Clemens puffing meditatively on his cigar, "I have a distinct recollection of it. When I was a youngster, I attended school at a place where the use of the rod was not an unusual event.

"Happening to violate the rule on one occasion, I was offered the alternative, I told my father, and as he seemed to think it would be too bad for me to be publicly punished, he gave me the $5. At that period of my existence $5 was a large sum, while a whipping was of little consequence, and so—" here Mr. Clemens reflectively knocked the ashes from his cigar—"well," he finally added, "that was how I earned my first $5."—New York Times.

HOW WATER FREEZES.

It used to puzzle all thinking people why ponds and rivers do not freeze beyond a certain depth. This depends on a most curious fact, namely, that water is at its heaviest when it reaches 40 degrees Fahrenheit, that is, eight degrees above freezing point.

At last it is all covered to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat. Therefore, it shuts off the freezing air from the big body of comparatively warm water underneath.

Captain Leander H. Kuhn of Hancock, a veteran of the Civil War, was shot through the ankle at the battle of Gettysburg. The surgeons advised amputation at the time but the Captain objected. The injured limb, however, gave him more or less trouble ever since, and a few days ago he found it necessary to have the left leg amputated below the knee, which was done at Baltimore. Mr. Kuhn is now 63 years of age.

THE CONFESSION OF DAVID LEWIS

HIGHWAYMAN AND COUNTERFEITER.

with distinctness even the nearest objects. I saw no human figure, heard no human voice, and concluded that the noise was nothing but the unreal creation of a disturbed imagination: after walking about for a few minutes I returned to my resting place under the oak, and lay under its branches until the day dawned, when I awoke from a broken sleep of not more than half an hour's duration.

A tremendous snake with two heads lay within five feet of where I was, alternately jumping up from the ground, twisting and coiling itself, and at intervals lashing its tail against the trunk of a hickory sapling. It ceased to move for an instant and darted at me the angry look of a swollen and distended eye. Horror transfixed me to the spot as fast as the oak near which I stood.

A Celestine Omelet.

A Celestine omelet, as made by a French cook, is something to remember. It is, in fact, plural, for the real Celestine is served individually, one egg, the white and yolk beaten separately, to an omelet. As, however, this form of the dish needs a rapidity in preparation that is not possible always in the average kitchen, it is quite as well to make one large omelet—say of six eggs—after the usual method.

Dressing Table Attachment.

Every woman who dresses her own hair knows the terrible difficulty of arranging the coiffure satisfactorily at the back by the aid of a handglass. To hold this toilet adjunct in one hand and do the hair with the other is impossible, and to loosen the hair in order to see the effect so far as it has gone with a small mirror is often to wreck the whole structure.

Neutral Background.

When hardwood cannot be adapted for the floors, two methods are still open for covering them with carpet—namely, to use the carpet as a background or as a decoration. In the first instance a rich appearance is secured by the velvet carpet in wide widths, without seams. Its substitute in cheaper goods is the woolen filling in solid colors and, at a still smaller expense, the cotton cordman that looks like a heavy denim or the stained matting.

Limewater is Useful.

Limewater is a useful article for many domestic ills. Mixed with an equal quantity of olive oil, it forms a good dressing for burns and scalds. By itself it may be used as a lotion for sore surfaces. It lessens discharge and does not occasion smarting. Internally it allays nausea and acidity. It may be used with advantage in the two last mentioned cases. Children affected with diarrhea may drink of it freely. It is a wholesome adjunct to the milk food of babes. For adults in a state of health it is quite unsuited.

Beautiful Her Bedroom.

A clever woman who had a plain deeper toned paper on her bedroom wall below the picture molding and a daintily flowered canopy in a cretonne paper of trailing roses above cut out carefully irregular sprays, one or two great trailing branches, a bud or two and a half blown rose and glued them to the wall just under the molding as if caught and held by it. The effect was charming.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Household Recipes.

Wash hairbrushes in strong tepid soda water, then rinse well in clear, cold water and place in the air out of sunlight to dry. Add a speck of soda when cooking beans or any vegetable which seems tough, and the cooking process is quickened.

Major D. B. Armstrong who has been associated with John Lutz and others in editing and publishing the Bedford Inquirer for several years has disposed of his interest in that paper and will retire from business.

Owing to the increase in the supply of cattle and hogs, meat prices at Chicago have fallen from 2 to 6 cents a pound.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

The Newest Ideas in Furnishings For the Coming Summer.

Furnishings for summer homes this year seem to be of dull finish—dim tapestries, soft finished liberty velvets and cotton broadcaes—everything, in fact, to suggest a certain antiquity. Greens, deep rose and old gold form the foundation of almost all the fabrics for summer use.

Color schemes for room furnishings begin to appear everywhere, and exquisite are the Holland prints. Huge, splashing flowers are combined with natural looking foliage, and down pillows are shown covered with this same fabric.

These lovely summer fabrics are used for furniture covering as well as hangings. There is a wide range from which to choose, beginning with denim and jute and going on through the choice of silk and linen or cotton mixtures, heavy linens and plain and fancy china silks.
