Catarrh Remedies and Doctors Failed --- Pe-ru-na Cured.

ELGIN, ILL -- In a very recent commu nication from this place comes the news that Mr. Arthur Ernest Kidd, a wellknown architect, of that city, has made complete recovery from catarrh of the head, from which he had suffered for nearly a quarter of a century. He writes from 18 Hamilton ave.:

"I am 42 years of age, and have had catarrh of the head for over half of my life, as a result of scarlet fever, followed by typhoid fever. I got so bad that I was almost constantly coughing and clearing my throat. The catarrh greatly impaired my evesight, and the hearing in one ear, and reduced my weight to 110 pounds.

"I tried nearly every catarrh remedy advertised, besides a great many different physicians' treatments, all of which failed "I had heard and read of Peruna, and finally decided to try it two months ago. I have now taken seven bottles, and weigh 172 pounds. Never felt happier or merrier. Feel tip top."-A. E. KIDD. If you do not derive prompt and satis-

crowded city restaurant, a talkative lady hailed an overworked waiter and ordered dinner for two. This is the ordered dinner for two. This is the way she did it:--"Waiter! Waiter! Oh, you're here, are you? I didn't notice. Now, I've brought my friend to show her my fa-vorite huncheon place, and I want you to take particular pains to have every-thing nice. We want a fillet steak for two-the best you have. Be sure it's good, won't you? I have told her that there isn't another place in the city where you could get a steak cooked so deliciously as you can here, and I shall deliciously as you can here; and I shall be so disappointed if it doesn't come be so disappointed if it doesn't come up to our expectations. I want it cook-ed just right—not to well done—not raw in the middle, I don't mean, but not dried up either. Well, just about what you would call perfect. "And, let me see. Oh, of course, we want some potatoes. Fried—boiled— mashed. We always have mashed at home. My husband won't eat them any other way, and I got so tired of it.

Keep the Mind Open.

Auguste Comte once suggested the desirability of a class of men whose work it should be to acquire a knowl-edge of the general results attained by specialists in all branches of science and by combining and comparing them to acquire a more correct mode of thought about things in general than is apt to be acquired by a man whose thoughts work always in the same channel. Some men of genius without enrolling themselves in any class fulfil, in a measure, their requirements. One of Goethe's most marked characteristics was his cagerness to avail himself of the knowledge of any and every one who made special study of some par-ticular branch of learning. It was not in the least necessary that his inform-ant should be well known or famous. "Original talent-that is water to my mill," said he. A young musician who visited him tand the test of an experiment." In openness of mind and cagerness owledge at least we may imitate man of genius.

Advice to the Sleepless.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Heavy transactions in merchandise are reported, but there is much complaint regarding the slow movement of freight. The situation as to general lines is aggravated by the precedence given fuel over all other freight except live stock and perishable goods. Not-withstanding the extensive increase in transporting facilities during the past year, some roads have been compelled to decline consignments and in many cases where a large number of cars were desired only one was provided. were desired only one was provided. Earnings thus far available for January surpass last year's by 5 per cent. It is conspicuous in practically every sec-tion of the country that despite high prices buying is liberal and of the better qualities of goods, while dealings as a rule are on more of a cash basis. De mand for building materials is unusually brisk for the season, and prices of lumber at the South have advanced. Although fortunate sections are re-ceiving a better supply of fuel, the sit-uation is still serious, and many pig iron furnaces have been added to the idle list.

Ceneral Trada Conditions,

Trade in leather is better, domestic shoe manufacturers operating on a more liberal scale, while export sales of sole are increasing. As to cotton goods, the situation grows steadily stronger, demands for grows steadily stronger, demands for immediate needs preventing accumula-tion of supplies and leaving an increas-ing number of orders unfilled. A few open advances in quotations are record-ed, while a quiet curtailment of dis-counts is reported in progress. Export buying has practically ceased. CATARRH THIRTY YEARS

5...... Hon. David Meekison is well known, not only in his own State, but throughout America. He began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as Mayor of the town in which he lives, during which time he became widely known as the founder of the Meekison Bank of Napoleon, Ohio. He was elected to the Fifty-fith Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State. Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh, with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue, and he dictated the following letter to Dr. Hart-man as the result:

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefiled thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer Iwill be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."-David Meekison. Member of tongress.

A very stout, elderly we man, apparently weighing close to two hundred pounds, paused at the south side of Market street and looked askance at the miniature river of slush and water and at the passing procession of wagons and trolley cars. tyranny, Plato a privilege of nature, Theocritus a delightful prejudice, Theophrastus a silent cheat, Carneades a solitary kingdom, Homer a glorious gift of nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that heanty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world, and yet none of these distinguished authorities has left us even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. Time soon blends the lily and the rose into the pallor of age, disease dots the fair face with cutaneous distigurations and crimsons the Roman nose with unsightly flushes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and lips yet beautiful by defacing the complexion, and fills the sensitive soul with agony unspeakable. If such be the unhappy condition of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the feelings of those in whom torturing humors have for years run riot, covering the skin with years run riot, covering the skin with scales and sores and charging the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death? It is vain to attempt to por-tray such suffering. Death in many cases might be considered a blossing. The blood and fluids seem to be impregnated with a flery element which, when discharged through the porce upon the surface of the body, inflames and burns until, in his efforts for relief, the patient tears the skin with his nails, and not until the blood flows does sufficient relief come to cause him to desist. Thus do complexional defects merge into torturin, disease, and plqued van-ity give place to real suffering. A little wart on the nose or check grows to the all-devouring lupus, a patch of tetter on the paim of the hand or on the limbs suddenly envelops the body in its fiery embrace, a bruise on the 1 g expands into a grawing ulcer, which reaches out its faugs to the sufferer's heart in every paroxysm of pain, a small kernel in the neck multiplies into a dozen, which cat away the vitality great pearl-like scales grow from little rash-like inflammations in such abundance as to pass credulity; and so on may we depict the sufferings to which poor human nature is subject, all of which involve great mental distress because of personal disfigurations.

Reading of the cures that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought about, I somehow felt that it was what I needed and bought a bottle to take. How glad I am that I did so; two bottles brought me immense re-lief, and after using three bottles more I felt new life and blood surging through my veins. ase knowi cccema aloge would be a sufficient infliction on mankind. It pervades all classes, and descends impartially through gene, ations. While some are constantly enveloped in it, others have it confined to small patches in the ears, on the scalp, on the breast, on the palms of the hands, on the limbs, etc., but everywhere its distinctive feature is a small watery blister, which discharges an acrid field, causing heat, inflammation, and intense itching. Ring-worm, tetter, scalled head, dandral, belong to this scale and itching order of discases. Psoriasis, fur modera leprosy, with its mother-of-pearl scale, situated on a reddened base, which bleeds upon the removal of the scale, is to be dreaded and avoided, as of old. Impetigo, barber's ltch, erysipelas, and a score of minor disorders make up in part the catalogue of external diseases of the skin. Thus far we have made no allusiou to those afflictions which are manifestly impurities of the blood, viz.: swelling of the glands of the throat, ulcers on the neck and limbs, tumors, abscesses, and mercurial polsons, with loss of hair, because the whole list can be comprehended in oue word scrofula.

It is in the treatment of torturing, It is in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors and affections of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically com-pounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agree-able to the most delicate and sensitive, they present to young and old the most successful curative of modern times. This will be conside ed strong language by those acquainted with the character and obstinacy of blood and skin humors but it is justified by innumerable suc-cesses where all the remedies and methods in vogue have failed to cure, and, in many cases, to relieve, even.

The Cultura treatment is at once sgreeable, speedy, economical, and comprehensive. Bathe the affected parts freely with hot water and Caticura soap, to cleanse the sur ace of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry. without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Oin tment ages, in curing for the shin, sca'p, hair, and hands far more effectually, agreeably, and economically than the most expensive of tollet emollients. while free from every ingredient of a doubtful or designeous character. Its "One Night Treatment of the Hands," "One Night Treatment of the Hans," or "Single T eatment of the Hair," or use after athletics, cycling, golf, ten-nis, tiding, sparring, or any sport, each in connection with the use of Cuticura

Soap, is sufficient evidence of this. Of all remedies for the purification of the blood and circulating fluids, none approaches in specific medical action Cuticura Resolvent. It mentralizes and resolves away (hence its name) scrof :lous, inherited, and other humors in the blood, which give rise to swellings of the glauds, pains in the bones, and torturing, disfiguring cruptions of the skin and scalp, with loss of hair.

Cuticura Resolvent extends its purifying influence by m-us of the pores to the surface of the skin, alloying irritation, inflammation, itching, and burning, and soothing and healing. Hence its success in the treatment of distressing humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, which fail to be permanently cured by external remedies alone.

The grandest testimonial that cap be offered Cutterra remedies is their world-wide sale, due to the personal recommendations of those who have used them. It is difficult to realize the used them. It is difficult to realize the mighty growth of the business dons under this name. From a small begin-ning in the simplest form, against prej-udice and opposition, against monied hosts, countless rivals, and trade in-difference, Cutterra remedies have be-come the greatest curatives of their time and in fact activities of their time, and, in fact, of all time, for no-where in the history of medicine is to be found another approaching them in popularity and sale. In every cime and with every people they have met with the same reception. The confirms of the earth are the only limit - to their growth. They have conquered the world.

To the test of powelar judgment all things mundane must finally come. The civilized world has rendered its verdict in favor of Cuticura.
