Provided always, That every such prosecution shall be commenced within 72 hours after the offence shall have been committed.

One moiety of the forfeitures in money accruing and becoming due from any offence against this act, shall be paid to the overseers of the poor of the city, borough or township wherein the offence shall have been committed, for the use of the poor thereof, and the other moiety to the person or persons who shall prosecute and sue for the same; and the inhabitants of such city or other place shall notwithstanding, be admitted witnesses to testify against any person who shall be prosecuted for any offence by virtue of this act.

With such powers within the reach of every law abiding citizen, there is no reason why this evil should not be crushed out.

There is a new song going the rounds of the press and it runs thus: "We don't want to buy at your place, we don't trade there any more; you'll be sorry when you see us going to some other store. You can't sell us any stale goods, we have opened wide our eyes; we don't want to trade at your store, 'cause you do not advertise."

A LEGACY OF THE GRIP.

It is often a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier, and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system, and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by W. S. Dickson.

Since the first day of February the tollgate keepers on the Bedford & Chambersburg turnpike, from the Fulton county line to Bedford, have not been receiving any toll, and they are not enforcing payment. It looks now as if tollgates in this section will soon be a thing of the past.—Everett Republican.

An old farmer sent his son to an academy to study Latin. Not being satisfied with the course of the young hopeful, he recalled him from school and placed him by the side of a cart one day, thus addressing him: "Now Joseph, here is a fork and there is a heap of manure and a cart; what do you call them in Latin?" "Forkibus, cartibus et manuribus," said Joseph. "Well now," said the old man, "if you don't take that forkibus and pitch that manuribus into that cartibus, I'll break your lazy backibus. 'He went to workibus."

Last week Mrs. Nat Rotz of Tod township, "butchered" a pumpkin that she had been saving for late winter use, that measured five feet in circumference. When we think of the sauce on good bread and butter, the mush with good rich milk, (maybe you haven't tried pumpkin mush), and the delicious custards that could be made from fifty-three pounds and a half of pumpkin, it makes us hungrier every minute. Talk about the apple pies, that mother used to make; and all the other pastries, that were not hard to take—the juicy mince pie, that came along in fall; but I tell you that the pumpkin pies just beat them all—so they did.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

What the Wind Recently Accomplished in Michigan.

A Wheatland farmer says that upon entering his pigen immediately after the passage of the cyclone a few weeks ago he was surprised to find what he at first supposed was a new species of swine. His porkers had been driven so full of splinters as to be scarcely recognizable.

A man sitting in a back window of his residence just out of the path of the twister saw his cows, which were grazing in a neighboring field, go sailing skyward. They landed on an adjoining farm and began grazing again. He has not yet recovered from his astonishment.

"Do you know the reason they couldn't find that piano?" asked a man in the barber shop. "I was standing in front of the hotel at Manitou Beach when I heard something that sounded like music directly overhead. I looked up and saw a piano going northward over the lake at an elevation of about 200 feet. The wind was agitating the keys, and I could distinguish the strains of 'Ain't It a Shame?' I have told a lot of people about this, but they don't seem to believe it."

The foregoing stories were gathered from reliable sources.—Hudson (Mich.) Post.

A Poser.

"Auntie, what do little boys do when they want to sit on your lap?"

"Cure Worse Than Complaint." "Mr. Fijit suffered so much from the heat," said Mrs. Wunder, "that he had an artificial iceberg built in his house. Then the whole family sat around it and read stories of polar expeditions and were happy for a time."

"For a time?" echoed the friend. "Yes, only for a time. You see, Mr. Fijit happened to think of how much the ice was going to cost him, and he broke out in a worse perspiration than ever."—Baltimore American.

Ins and Outs.

The two young men reached the door at the same time. "Is Miss Walsingham in?" they asked.

The maid looked at them and shook her head disconsolately. "She's in to wan ay ye an' out to the other," she said at last; "but the two ay ye comin' together has got me so tangled I'm blest if I know which is which. But come right in, both ay ye, an' I'll ask her to come down an' pick ye out."—Chicago Post.

His Opinion.

"Do you believe in woman's suffrage?" "Well," answered Mr. Meekton, "sometimes I think it would be a convenience if the ladies could go to the polls themselves instead of giving us instructions and taking chances on mistakes."—Washington Star.

Good Business.

Mrs. Spillins—What is your son James doing, Mrs. Van Braam? Mrs. Van Braam—James is a pharmacist. Mrs. Spillins—That's fine. I see by the papers that farm assists out west get $3 and five meals a day.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

It Came With Her.

"Your husband," said the talkative man, "has such a gentle disposition. He inherited it from his mother, I suppose?"

"No," replied Mrs. Hennepe significantly, "I think I may safely say that was part of my dowry."—Philadelphia Press.

The Auto Commuter.

Summer Boarder—Is this what you call five minutes from the station? Farmer Gehaw—Yes, sir. Summer Boarder—How many miles an hour is that?—Puck.

Why Stop There?

"The bacillus of whooping cough has been discovered," said Tenspot. "Now, if the germ hunters could only run down the microbe of the college yell," added Gazzam.—Judge.

Had Heard Her Stories.

She—if your children are good, I'll read you a fairy story. Little Brother—Oh, I'd rather have some fun.—Puck.
