

rances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been word by the new discovery has cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people. Merit alone could win such fame;

wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Rather Have the Money.

The business methods of insurance companies are not at all to the liking of a shrewd old German farmer with whom a certain agent had some deal-ings. The house of the farmer, insur-ed for a thousand dollars, had burned down. The privilege of replacing a burned house is reserved by insurance companies, and the agent, having this in mind, said to the farmer:

in mind, said to the farmer: "We'll put you up a better house than the one you had for six hun-dred dollars." "Nein!" said the farmer, emphatic-ally. "I vill haf my one tousand dol-lar or notings! Dot house could not be built again for even a tousand." "Oh, yes, it could," said the insur-ance man. "It was an old house. It doesn't cost so much to build house.

doesn't cost so much to build house. It doesn't cost so much to build houses nowadays. A six-hundred-dollar new house would be a lot bigger and better than the old one." Some months later, when the insur-ance man was out for a day's shoot-ing, he rode up again to the farmer's

She Had an Aim in Life.

"Penelope, have you any plans for the future

The father, a distinguished physician, looked sternly at his thirteen-year-old daughter as he asked this question. 'Yes, sir," she answered.

"You say it makes you homesick to stay away from home, Penelope, That is a consideration hardly worth mentioning. Homesickness soon passes away. Your sister is in her last year away. Your sister is in her last year at the college to which I wished to send you, and you will not be alone, at least for a year, and at the end of that time you ought to be able to get along icely by yourself." Penelope tapped the floor impatientnicely ly with her leot. "I won't go, papa," she declared. "There is no use talking about it. I'd rather die!"

'You are growing up, Penelope,' sighed the good doctor, "apparently without any idea of the value of time or the earnestness and reality of life. You don't care for useful books; you do nothing to improve your mind; you spend your hours in frivolity; you seem to float idly along as if there was no serious end or aim in living except to get what selfish pleasure you can get out of it. Yet you say you have plans for the future. What are they?" "I am going to be a society lady." aid Penelope.

There are some Indians in Mendo-cino that may not live "in clover," as we understand the phrase, but it is cer-tain that they live on it. Strange to say, they make it a regular article of food, going out into the fields and pulling up the plant and eating it by handfuls-leaves, stems. flower-heads and all. These same Indians use many plants that white men find no value in. plants that white men find no value in, among them seaweeds, fungi, lichens, ferns and conifers.

The story is told of a Scotchman, one of several brothers, whose father, a wealthy man, had died. There was much quarrelling about the property. A friend condoled with him on the be-reavement. "Well," said he, "our father's death might have been a real pleasure to us; instead of that it is only a misery."
