Curwensville.

February 20.—There is a large upper leather tannery at this place operated by the Pennsylvania Hide & Leather Co. Two hundred and twenty-five men are employed and all kinds of upper leather are finished.

I work in the sole-leather tannery. We finish for shipment 420 sides a-day, and work 65 men. The sides average 13 pounds in weight when finished and bring 35 cents a pound. The daily running expenses are $1160.

The Curwensville Fire Brick Company employs 825 men. They manufacture all shapes and sizes of brick. A large stone quarry about two miles from this place, gives employment to about a hundred men.

A large steel plant is in course of construction about four miles from here, and it will be completed by the first of April. It will cover about 6½ acres of ground. So you see there is plenty of chance to get work.

Needmore.

Last week's blizzard very sud- denly dried up that mud we were complaining about.

Mr. A. Runyan has been very much indisposed since last Friday. We hope for his speedy recovery.

John S. Truax while on his way home from this place, got into the snow drifts, and the sleigh was upset and he was thrown violently against a stump. The horse went on home with the sleigh. The accident happened near Lemuel Garland's house, and Mr. Truax was taken in and cared for until the horse and sleigh were brought back for him. Although pretty badly bruised up it is hoped he is not seriously injured.

Somebody up at Wells Tannery writes us complaining that there is some one in that little city who drops letters at people's gates to make disturbance; that the party who is doing it is known, and, that if it is not stopped short off, it will be made hot for them.—Our correspondent forgot to sign his name to the communication, and, of course, it must go into the waste basket, but we have some curiosity to know who is suffer- ing.
