GRASSHOPPERS IN UTAH.

One cent a pound will be paid for grasshoppers if the Senate concurs in the House amendment to Senator C. P. Larsen's Grasshopper bill, and if the Governor gives his approval.

that in Utah county the grasshoppers had in many places destroyed 90 per cent of the crop. He told how the insects were usually caught. Either just at dawn or just after sunset a couple of men carry between them on horseback a long frame, over which canvas is stretched, and lope along over the field. The hoppers fly up and are caught in the canvas sack. Austin's amendment was finally adopted.

Stewart offered an amendment providing that the State pay half instead of all the bounty. This was lost, and then the bill was put on its final passage and carried.

FEARFUL ODDS AGAINST HIM.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief.

Alfred Yngvo of Castle Valley, has in his library a package tied with red silk that resembles a bundle of smoked herring. In a visitor's presence the other evening he took one of the long, lean, shriveled fish out of this bundle, held a lighted match to its head, and it began to burn with a clear flame like a candle.

CANDLE FISH.

It is a candle fish, a thaleichthys pacificus, returned Mr. Yngvo. "It is very fat, and the Indians eat it, use it for illuminative purposes and also make a calendar out of it."

HUGE BANK CHECKS.

Wall street banking these days involves the use of some very large checks. Single items for $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 are frequently seen.

IN A DYNAMITE FACTORY.

Dynamite factories are in full swing near Dover and Farmingdale, N. J. and the men who work in them seem well content with their dangerous occupation.

portunity presents itself they talk to each other in the most friendly way. But woe betide one of their number who earns for himself the sobriquet of "Butter Fingers," a term applied to individuals who allow things to slip from their hands to the floor.

The dynamite workers are a very intelligent body of men. Many of them possess a comprehensive knowledge of chemistry and can tell visitors to the factory all about the destructive agent which they handle under the direction of scientists.

Men of various nationalities work side by side in these New Jersey factories, and when representatives of the different countries were asked if they minded the element of danger in their daily labors they answered in the negative, and a few of the more communicative workers expressed the opinion that there was more chance of being killed in Philadelphia by a trolley car or automobile than by an explosion at their post of duty.

A PINGPONG PUZZLE.

Whenever a new game is introduced there is sure to be a play of some kind or other not covered by the rules, and a game of pingpong is now holding up a tournament until a law is created governing the point at issue.

Last month a game was being played on a regulation table. A chandelier hung over the middle of the table, and a ground rule had to be made. It was that balls hitting the chandelier would be in play or out of play according to where they fell.

The subdivisions of the states of the Union used by the census bureau may well supersede the older dividing lines now in use, which place Ohio in the middle west and Minnesota in the northwest.

AN ENGLISH BOOK CRITICISM.

English writers may well claim that book reviews in this country are colorless if a recent notice of a new novel by Benjamin Kidd, written by Frederic Harrison, one of the most prominent of the British critics, is the kind of thing they like over there.
