GERMANS AGAINST DEWEY

His Remarks that Their Navy Couldn't Whip Ours Cuts.

ADMIRAL STANDS BY INTERVIEW.

German Foreign Office Officials Say the Statements May Prove Somewhat Disturbing to the Pleasant Relations With the United States, Declares the American Maneuvers in West Indian Waters Were III Chosen.

Berlin (By Cable).-The German Foreign Office officials say they do not believe that a diplomatic incident will result from the recent interview with Admiral Dewey, published in American newspapers and containing references to the German Navy and German Emperor. The officials say they are reluctant to believe that the Admiral was correctly quoted, "especially in view of the good will he showed toward Germany in the messages exchanged with Prince Henry."

The Foreign Office officials add that should the interview turn out to be true it "would prove somewhat disturbing to the pleasant relations with the United

No official information on the subject has been received from Washington. Referring to the recent American naval maneuvers in West Indian waters, the officials of the Foreign Office say they "appear to have been ill chosen, since Germany has no interests in the West Indies, and it would seem that the maneuvers could with greater aptitude have been alluded to as being against England, because England, on the other hand, has territory there.

The interview with Admiral Dewey has angered the newspapers here. Even those of a usually moderate tone refer to it in a bitter manner. For instance, the ossische Zeitung says:

"The American Navy is evidently suf-ing from a disease of infancy—lack of Its leader evinces something bly immature. One can only Wakably immature. One can only amazed that such intensified selfinecency should take root in a people rmanic origin. Such behavior be not excite wonder if it had ocda in some Central or South Ameriublic, or Hayti.

Dewey Explains to the President.

Washington, D. C. (Special) .- At the instance of the President, Admiral Dewey called by appointment at the White House and made a full explanation of a recent newspaper interview, in which the Admiral was quoted as saying the Caribbean Sea maneuvers were "an object-lesson to the Kaiser, more than to any other person,"

The Admiral assured the President that he had no intention of reflecting in the interview upon Germany, her Emper-or of her navy, and that while the state-ments credited to him were substantially what he said, he neglected to caution the interviewer against quoting him. Ad-miral Dewey drove to the White House in his own carriage, accompanied by the acting chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Capt. William S. Cowles.

At the close of the interview the Adiral returned immediately to his Rhode Island avenue home. The Admiral declined to make any statement for publi-cation. At the White House it was stated that the Admiral's explanation was satisfactory to the President.

New York (Special) .- Police Inspector McClusky obtained the statement of Alexander J. Quinn has been quoted as saying that Arthur R. Cuba to Have Wreck Raised at Her Own Expense.

Advices have reached this city that Cuba, at her own expense, intends to raise the wreck of the warship, and that bids for the work will be called for in the near future.

Since the conclusion of the Spanish War many prominent concerns in the United States have written to the Navy in the Department requesting that they be al for a consideration, the privilege of raising the famous wreck. In reply to all such communications the department has said no appropriation is available for the work and that, in any event, this country would have first to obtain the permission of Cuba.

The greatest curiosity is still felt in na val circles as to the cause of the explosion that blew up the vessel. The ma-jority of naval officers is convinced that the explosion was caused by some external influence, probably by a mine or torpedo, and not, as has been claimed by the Spanish, by spontaneous combustion within the ship.
