Samuel Widney of Burnt Cabins, a few days ago sold to an Orbisonia butcher four stall-fed cattle for the snug sum of $170.00. Sam has long ago learned that he loses no money by putting his stock into proper condition before offering them for market.

While in town Monday morning Mrs. Ella Fryman brought into this office a stalk of rye that measured 53 1/2 inches in length. It wasn't a stalk that she pulled out of an old straw stack, either, but one that grew this year; and she says they have a whole field just like it.

At the late election in Winslow township, Clearfield county, three school directors were to be elected, two for three years and one for one year. The republicans failed to designate the time on their official ballot, and the directors of that party who were elected have been unsent as the result of a contest on the part of democrats. The decision is important and will establish a precedent for similar cases.

A Sweet Fight. The sugar trust and Arbuckle Bros., are having a whack at sugar. The trust made a cut of ten cents per hundred pounds and Arbuckle cut five cents lower. There isn't much demand for sugar just now, so the monopolists are doing a little fighting among themselves. In consequence the price is fifteen cents less a hundred than it was at this time last year. All the same it would be a good idea to buy what sugar you need for the coming season. When that time comes the trouble will be adjusted and the consumer will be pinched once more.

A Love Letter. Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed salve for sores, burns or piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at W. S. Dickson's drug store."

The trolley car is becoming tiresome but nevertheless it is omniscient. A woman got into one yesterday. Nobody said, in McConnellsbury. She sat down in the corner, and the conductor advanced for the fare. She unhooked her fur boa and got out her bag and opened her bag and took out her purse and shut the bag and took off her glove and opened her purse and took out a dime and shut the purse and gave the dime to the conductor. Then she opened her bag and put the purse in her bag and closed her bag and put it in her pocket and put on her glove and hooked her boa. Meanwhile, the conductor gave her the change. She unhooked her boa and got out her bag and opened the bag, took out her purse and closed the bag and took off her glove and opened the purse and took the nickel from the conductor. Then she put the nickel in the purse and closed the purse and opened the bag and put the purse into the bag and closed the bag and put the bag into her pocket and put on her glove and hooked the boa and murmured, "Transfer, please."

She took the transfer and unhooked her boa and took out her bag and opened the bag and took out her purse and closed the bag and took off her glove and opened the purse and put in the transfer and closed the purse and opened the bag and put the purse into her bag and closed the bag and put on her glove and put the bag into her pocket and hooked her boa. Just then she reached the transfer corner and took another car. When seated, she unhooked her boa and took out her bag and—but why continue? It's an old story.
