

Don't
 Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone.

Help and happiness surely awaits you if you accept Mrs. Pinkham's advice. Disease makes women nervous, irritable, and easily annoyed by children and household duties; such women need the counsel and help of a woman who understands the peculiar troubles of her sex; that woman is Mrs. Pinkham, who with her famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have restored more sick and discouraged women to health and happiness than any other person. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. Write today, do not wait.

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

Mrs. Emilie Seering, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—If women who are always blue and depressed and nervous would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would find it the medicine they need to bring them to a more cheerful frame of mind. I was terribly worried and downcast, and was thin and bloodless. My back ached all the time, no matter how hard I tried to forget it or change my position to ease it, and the pain at the base of my brain was so bad that I sometimes thought that I would grow crazy; I had the blues so much and was always so depressed I could not seem to shake them off; half of the time I did not seem to have the courage to do my work; everything seemed to go wrong with me, and I was always worrying and fearing the worst. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After the first few doses a lead seemed lifted from my shoulders. I felt better in every way. The blues left me and my head stopped aching; before long my back was better too, and I looked younger and stronger. I took six bottles in all, and it is with thankfulness that I acknowledge that my present good health is due to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are very foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.
 General Trade Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s "Weekly Review of Trade" says: Trade responded promptly to better weather in many sections of the country, notable activity appearing in reasonable lines of wearing apparel, yet wholesalers report conservatism as compared with earlier months this year, although business is more active than it was a year ago. Some branches are still backward and there is more or less complaint regarding collections. Little renewals are frequently asked. Outdoor work is vigorously prosecuted, agricultural communities endeavoring to make up lost time and structural undertakings call for large quantities of lumber and building materials, sustaining quotations. Labor problems are being solved with encouraging celerity. Lake navigation has had the expected effect in reducing rail freight congestion, and shipment is more prompt, yet there is no diminution in the splendid increase of gross railway earnings, which show a gain of 13.1 per cent. over last year's figures for April thus far, and 25.3 per cent. over 1901.

Pleasures of Travel.

One of the charms of travel, says a well-known writer, is to encounter people or scenes which remind us of home. A Cape Cod man who left his native port many years ago, and had spent the greater part of his time in England, recently went to Kingston, Jamaica.

One day, while waiting for a train to Port Antonio, he noticed a tall, young man, evidently a stranger, and that was enough," said the Cape Cod man, in telling the story.

"I spoke to him, and asked if he was as far from home as I was, mentioning London as my home. He responded that his home was San Francisco, and we were soon exchanging confidences. He said his people moved to California four years before from Massachusetts. I asked him what place in Massachusetts, and he said Wellfleet; said he was born in Wellfleet. I asked him in what part of the town his folks had lived, and he said the southern part, and I could see he was smiling at my curiosity.

"Was your place anywhere near the old Cromwell place?" said I.

"He looked at me in astonishment.

"Why yes," said he, "the very next farm."

"Well," said I, "then your name is Jones. Mine is Cromwell, and I own the old place, and some of my folks live in it."

"You can imagine whether we felt acquainted or not after that. His father and I had been boys together. Well, meeting young Jones was the most pleasant part of my trip to Jamaica. You can't tell what good fortune may befall you when you start on a journey."

Elections in Brazil.
 A writer in Argonaut declares that in Brazil the elections are a farce. The ballots are hardly ever counted for the government nominate its ticket, and then, after an election, announces all its candidates elected. "A year or so ago," he says, "an American, who had settled in Bahia, the second largest city in Brazil, was made an election clerk, and was told to bring the returns from an election in Bahia. After the election had closed, the clerk took the returns and hastened away, guarding them with the greatest care. He rode his horse hard, for he felt that the suspense would be great at Bahia until the returns he was carrying were received. What was his chagrin, therefore, to find his package never to the chief election clerk only to see it thrown into the waste-basket.

"Here, what are you doing?" he shouted.

"Throwing them away," was the answer, "we don't need them now."

"Don't need them?" stammered the American, who had been brought up to regard a violation of the election laws as treasurables.

"The government has elected its men already," was the answer; "we don't need any more votes."

Here the inspector opened the package and counted the astonished American a quantity of blank sheets of which was signed, with a space to be filled in with any number necessary to elect the government candidates."

Amusements Halls for our Soldiers.
 A year ago Congress appropriated five hundred thousand dollars for the construction and equipment of amusement halls for our army posts, and a building for this purpose to cost one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars is to be constructed at Fort Meyer. The building is to be sixty-eight by one hundred and seventy-two feet, is to be equipped and will contain a large swimming pool, a complete gymnasium, a running track, a boxing alley, a shooting gallery, billiard room, library, lecture room, cafe, and a good-sized stage for theatricals and other literary exercises. The building will be used for the regular religious exercises on Sunday and will be managed so as to contribute as much as possible to the entertainment and improvement of the men stationed at the post. The cafe will dispense what are known as soft drinks, and the usual foods kept at such places. The aim is to provide a means of intellectual and moral improvement which will, as far as possible, take the place of the old time saloon and keep the men from desiring to resort to the groggeries that beset the roadway to every army post. The remainder of the appropriation will be divided in maximum amounts of forty thousand dollars among other army posts designated by the Secretary of War.

Introduction of Forks.
 The introduction of forks, which may be supposed to mark the first upward course more definite idea of table manners did not take place until the reign of James I., and they were not in general use until some time after the Restoration. In Pepy's time things were not very much improved, and at first such articles as were expected to bring his own spoon and fork to a meal, and use it throughout without change. It was pardonable in the garrison's diary that when he attended a banquet at the Guildhall in 1663 he left his spoon and fork at home. He might reasonably have expected, as the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the richest city in the world would have been well provided with such things, but doubtless they regarded them as an unnecessary innovation. "Many were the tables," says Pepy, "but none in the hall but the Lord Mayors and the Lords of the Privy Council, the nobles and gentry, which were very strange, when at the Merchant Strangers' table, where each ten good dishes to a mess, with plenty of wine of all sorts; but it was very unpleasant that we had not napkins or changes of trenchers, and drank out of earthen pitchers and wooden dishes."

"PE-RU-NA SAVED MY LIFE,"

Writes Mrs. W. McRoberts.

Women Made Strong and Happy Mothers.
Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs is a Frequent Cause of Barrenness.
Pe-ru-na Eradicates Catarrh From the System.

TO the woman of ancient Israel not to become a mother was regarded as the greatest of earthly calamities. To become a mother—more especially the mother of a strong, healthy boy—was the height of glory for the faithful woman of the good old Bible days. Even now, when maternity is not esteemed as of yore, the mother of healthy children is an object of admiration, and sometimes envy, by her neighbors. As compared with ancient peoples, the average American woman has a low appreciation of motherhood. There are, however, a great many exceptions to this statement.

The accompanying letters from grateful women who have been made strong, healthy and happy mothers need no added words of ours to make them convincing. Catarrh had weakened and impaired their entire systems. Peruna made them sound and well.

Mrs. L. M. Griffith, Aroo, Idaho, writes: "Your medicine did me a wonderful amount of good. It cured me of barrenness. I am 39 years old and never had any children; but since beginning your medicine I gave birth to a 10-pound baby."

A YOUNG MOTHER'S LETTER.
 Mrs. W. McRoberts, writes to Dr. Hartman from Delano, Miss., the following:
 Delano, Miss.

Doctor S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:
 Dear Sir:—I feel perfectly well of catarrh. I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manantia. The third of March I gave birth to a 10-pound baby girl and see are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you, and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough.

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good,—she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby, and feel so good."

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now, since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine. It is so good to give strength."—Mrs. W. McRoberts.

girl. She is now six months old and weighs 25 pounds. My friends were all surprised. Some would not believe it until they saw me see me.

"My husband says he never saw such a change in any one as there was in me after I had taken three or four bottles of Peruna. I am much stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever. I cannot tell you all. My letter is too long already; but I will say Peruna cured me. I never saw or heard of anything like so good. I can never thank you enough for your kindness. In cases of a gripe it works like a charm. It cured my baby when other medicines failed. She was real bad with the gripe."—Mrs. L. M. Griffith.

Mrs. E. F. Thomas, Alpha, Mo., writes: "I have used your Peruna and Manantia. I had been doctoring for several years, but kept getting worse. One day a neighbor woman brought me your book, 'His of Life,' and wanted me to take your medicine. I told her that I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I had tried so much medicine. My neighbors thought I was nearly dead with consumption.

"Finally I concluded that I would make a last trial. So my husband got me a bottle of Peruna and Manantia. I commenced taking them according to directions. That was two years ago. A year ago last November I gave birth to a 10-pound baby boy, who is well and hearty; and I am doing my own housework. I can never give Peruna too great praise. I think it is the best medicine I ever heard of."—Mrs. E. F. Thomas.

If you do not desire prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address: Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

When the House Burned.
 The Pilgrim tells the story of a woman property holder in New York whose agent brought her an insurance policy on her house.

"You'd better give me a check for the premium now," he said.

"A little more than one hundred dollars. Wait a minute and I will get the exact amount."

"Oh, how tiresome!" said the lady. And I am in such a hurry! Tell the company to let it stand, and deduct it from what they will owe me when the house burns down."

Followed Directions.
 A school teacher in Kentucky had some trouble in teaching a little fellow to say "double L," "double C," "double S," et cetera. But after a while his efforts were fruitless, and he was gratified by an extraordinary appearance of interest on the pupil's part. In fact, the boy became a double letter hunter, and rushed together to require attention at that point. About that time they reached the lesson concerning the early riser, beginning "Up! Up! and see the sun!"

"He read it 'Double up! and see the sun!'"

A Too Common Attitude.
 A small girl who had just begun to attend school recently brought home a pumpkin seed, and told her mother that the teacher said that although the seed was white, the pumpkin would be yellow.

"And what will the color of the vines be?" asked the mother.

The little girl replied that the teacher had not taught her that.

"But," said her mother, "you know, dear, for we have pumpkin vines in our garden."

"Of course I do, but we ain't expected to know anything until we are taught."
