SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

In Annual Convention at Wells Tannery Last Week.

The 24th Annual Convention of the Fulton County S. S. Association was held at Wells Tannery on Thursday and Friday of last week. The sessions opened in the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and the address of greeting was made by Hon. S. P. Wishart, who referred to the fact that he and Rev. Lewis Chambers were the only two persons present who were present at the first convention, which he said was held at McConnellsburg and did not attract much attention. Mr. Wishart remembered that the minister who delivered the address of welcome at that time referred to the various attractions which the County Seat offered to visitors, and added that if any of the delegates got "dry" they should slake their thirst at the Duffield spring.

Mr. Wishart assured the visitors that Wells Tannery and community felt honored by their presence, and told them that it would be a pleasure to them to add every comfort at their disposal to the visitors during their stay.

In the absence of Hon. D. H. Patterson, to whom had been assigned the duty of making the response, Rev. Chambers was pressed into service, and said he was not in the habit of making apologies, but he would like to mildly advise the committee who should make out the program for the next convention to consult their men before they gave them a place on the program. Then Mr. Chambers asked, Why are we here? Why have we left homes and business, and many of us traveled a long distance over roads not the most smooth? Have we been inspired to come by the thought that here we should spend a few days with these people so justly famous for their hospitality? While their hearty greetings, their warm firesides, their choice dinners, will add to our comfort, I trust that we have been inspired by a motive beyond and above this—the thought that we are here as emissaries of Jesus Christ to confer in his name for the more successful carrying on of his work of evangelizing the world.

Dr. Frank W. Lange, of Philadelphia, Field Secretary of the State S. S. Organization was then introduced and made a very practical address on the Best Sunday School for Fulton County. Of course, Dr. Lange showed that the best Sunday school for Fulton, would be an all-right school for Bedford, or any other county. The truly consecrated teacher occupies a rank of importance in the economy of God's plans scarcely second to that of the minister. The teacher's work in relation to his subject is: 1. Corrective. 2. Constructive. 3. Conservative.

The last period this afternoon was occupied by Hugh Cork, of Philadelphia, General Secretary of the State Organization. Mr. Cork, like Dr. Lange is a strong worker. Since arriving at manhood his entire time has been devoted to the Sunday school work spending the first two years on the prairie in North Dakota as a Sunday school missionary, and later doing work in towns and cities.

Among the many things Mr. Cork said we had drifted a long way from the principle which actuated Robert Raikes in founding the Sunday school. Mr. Raikes felt that the Sunday school should look after those children who did not have Christian parents to train them. In these days Christian parents are unloading their children upon the Sunday school and depending upon it to give the child that training and development of character that will lead the child safely through life and through the pearly gates at life's close. Parents not infrequently seem to think that their neighbors and friends should not regard it any trouble to go regularly to Sunday school and take the deepest interest in the religious training of the children of these same parents, while the parents do not encourage the work even by their occasional presence.

Owing to the fact that rain fell during the entire evening the attendance was small, but two able

Loaf sugar, nongat and other candies are purchased by one fireman or another in each engine house almost every day, and passersby may see the horses eating the sweets from the hands of their men friends.
