

ADVERTISING RATES
Per square of 8 lines 2 times $1.00
Per square each subsequent insertion .50
All advertisements inserted for less than three months charged by the square.

Noting inserted for less than $1.
Professional Cards one year $5.

FIVE STAGES OF MAN.

At seventeen she said: "I want a man who is ardent in all love's ways and whose passionate devotion may never flag. He must be tall and broad shouldered and handsome, with dark, flashing soulful eyes, and, if need be go to the ends of the world for my sake."

At twenty she said: "I want a man who unites the tender sympathies of a woman with the bravery of a lion. I don't mind his being a little dissipated, because that always adds a charm. He must be, however, accomplished to the last degree and capable of any sacrifice for my sake."

At twenty-five she said: "I want a man who unites with an engaging personality a complete knowledge of the world, and if, of necessity, he happens to have a past, he must also have a future—a man to whom I can look up and with whom I can trust myself at all times without the slightest embarrassment."

At thirty she said: "I want a man who unites with an engaging personality a complete knowledge of the world, and if, of necessity, he happens to have a past, he must also have a future—a man to whom I can look up and with whom I can trust myself at all times without the slightest embarrassment."

At thirty-five she said: "I want a man."

ESCAPED AN AWFUL FATE.

Mr. H. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by all druggists. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

WAITED TOO LONG.

The fate of him who waits too long before declaring his affections is illustrated in the case of the Minnesota young man who had been writing to a girl for three years, intending some day to ask her to marry him. The other day he received a letter and a picture from her. The letter announced that she had been married two years, and the picture was of her baby. "My husband and I have enjoyed your letters very much, she wrote, "but I guess you had better stop writing now, as I have to spend all my time caring for the baby." The Record says the words the young man used after reading the letter would shock a field of oats.

CONSUMPTIONS.

Why is a fashionable lady like a steam engine? Because she has a train behind her.
What relation is a door scraper to a door mat? Step farther.
Why is a horse the most curious feeder in the world? Because he eats best when there is not a bit in his mouth.

What flower is always under your nose? Tulip.
A washerwoman dropped something she couldn't pick up. What was it? Water.

Why is a cat like a match? Because the cat lights on its feet and the match lights on its head.
Why is an elephant an unwelcome caller? Because he always brings his trunk with him.
What is the strongest rope in the world. Europe.

Why is the heart of a tree like the tail of a dog? Because it is farthest away from the bark.

What is the oldest table in the world? The multiplication table.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Points on Furnishing a Bedroom With Crepe Paper.

For the trimmings I would select either red, orange, pink or dark blue, but of course one could use a favorite color. I will begin with the bed, as that is the most prominent part of the room. For pillowshams take two pieces of the paper, each three feet long, and join together by overlapping edges and sewing carefully together. Now take another piece, four feet long, and cut in two lengthwise. Carefully sew these two pieces together, end to end, and then run on to the body part, gathering a little as you go. Always overlap edges when sewing, for the work will not be neat if you do not. When this is finished, sew on to all seams common feather edge braid. This gives a pretty finish and also hides all seams. This will complete the shams. Now for the bedspread. Take five strips five feet long and sew together lengthwise. Finish the seams with the braid and the end of the spread with ruffles of the paper and finish with the braid. Now for the bureau cover. Take a piece one and a half yards long and finish ends with ruffles and braid. A splasher may be made by taking one yard of the paper and carefully turning the ends over and sewing the finish with the braid.

Curtains are quite difficult to make, but with a little pains it can be accomplished. Take a piece seven feet long and turn ends and finish with the braid, and then put a narrow ruffle of paper down the front and around the bottom edges and bind with braid. This is one long curtain, and the opposite one is to be made the same, but you must be very careful about putting the ruffle on or you will get it wrong.—Sarah's Mamma in Boston Globe.

Household Hints.

The longer and drier table linen is ironed the better it looks.

To clean brass gas fixtures rub them with cut lemons and then wash them off in hot water.

A bruise may be prevented from discoloring by immediately applying hot water or a little dry starch moistened with cold water.

In boiling eggs hard put them in boiling water ten minutes and then put them in cold water. It will prevent the yolk from coloring.

A harmless and cleanly treatment to drive away mice is to saturate a cloth with cayenne pepper in a solution and stuff it into the hole. Dry cayenne thrown about will keep ants and cochraneas away.

Perfumed Linen.

Linen should be kept in perfumed drawers. Sachets containing the housewife's favorite scent scattered about the drawer will impart the perfume. Aromatic shavings, leaves and flowers sewed up in bags may be substituted for the sachets. Cedar shavings, onion buds, powdered sassafras, rose leaves, leaves of the rose geranium, branches of lavender and sweet verbena are all delicious in odor. A few drops of perfume on sheets of white blotting paper will impart a fragrance to linen.

Preserved Plums.

Pour boiling water over the plums, then remove the skin. Make a sirup of one pound of sugar and a teaspoon of water to each pound of fruit and when boiling hot pour over the plums. Let it remain over night, then drain, boil again, skin and pour over the plums. Let them remain in this another day, then put over the fire in sirup and boil until clear. Remove with skimmer, pack carefully in jars, boil the sirup until thick, pour over the plums and seal.

Covers For Polished Tables.

If the summer coverings for polished tables are made at home, it should be remembered that a close fitting cover of some soft fabric of the flannel variety should first be fitted over the polished top and corners. The domett flannel or white outing flannel is suitable for the purpose. This prevents the stiff holland from scratching the surface, as might otherwise be the case. The high finish of the piano top needs similar protection.

Canned Fruit in Hot Weather.

An expert on domestic fruit canning tells us that, being obliged to store her jars in an upstairs room, she is driven to various expedients to keep down the temperature during hot weather. One plan is to wrap two large Turkish towels out of cold water and hang them over a line in a current of air in the room to be cooled. The evaporation of the water as the towels dry lowers the temperature several degrees.

Screens For Curtains.

Japanese screens of finely carved wood are taking the place of curtains. The designs are of the same length and depth as the windows. The designs are of Japanese foliage with the branches in openwork, with quaint birds with outspread wings hovering over the flowers.

A conductor on the Huntington & Broad Top railroad put a man off the train because he wouldn't pay his fare. This hurt the man's feelings, and to get a little satisfaction the man threw a stone through the glass in the door of one of the coaches, and then boarded a freight train.

Subscribe for the News.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Ferocious Jack and the Little Girl Who Laid Animals.

A girl of fourteen was sent to the butcher's to purchase meat for dinner. The butcher was out, but behind the meat block was a great tawny St. Bernard dog dozing and snapping at the occasional fly that disturbed his dreams. "Oh, you beautiful old doggie! What a darling you are!" exclaimed the girl, and in another moment she was kneeling by him with her hand on his lion head and her yellow braids half buried in his brown coat. The dog opened his sleepy eyes, licked her other hand and wagged his tail, thereby signifying that, though he had not previously had the pleasure of her acquaintance, he considered her a very nice girl indeed.

Looking up, the little maiden saw the butcher standing in the door. His face was white as death. "For God's sake, keep still!" he cried. "Come here, Jack!" he added sternly to the dog, and in a moment he had him by the chain. "I wouldn't have taken that risk for all that I possess," he said afterward to the child's father. "He was left to mind the till, and he would have torn any one else limb from limb. I cannot understand it." "But I do," replied the girl. "I love animals and am not afraid of them." Maybe that is the reason why Jack and the young heroine are the best of friends even unto this day.—New York News.

If I Were a King.

"If I were a king," said a child, "I would have a castle built that would reach to the clouds." "And I," said another, "would wear only clothes made of silver and gold." "And I," said a fat fellow, "would eat nothing but sausage and cakes." "And I," said a little girl, and she blushed a little, "would take care of all the poor children and would give them enough to eat and to wear."

A Sweet Singer.

Marshall Brigham, an Indianapolis (Ind.) boy, is creating considerable enthusiasm as a singer. From the time he was four years old he displayed marked musical talent, and even at that early age he was singing before church audiences. On June 6 last at a concert given by a chorus of 600 pupils of the Indianapolis public schools he sang the verses of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as a solo. An Indianapolis paper spoke of his sweet voice and unspoiled manner as captivating the audience. Another paper said of him: "Clear and well modulated, the voice of the little fellow rang out, filling the entire auditorium and stirring the audience to abundant enthusiasm. Gifted with a 'clean' voice and with an enunciation rarely equaled by one so young, the boy sang the trying solo with an ease and self confidence worthy of one." Marshall is the son of Dr. Edwin B. Brigham of Indianapolis.

MARSHALL BRIGHAM.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

What's all this stir in among the toys. The rattle and stir? The donkey creaks. The paper rattle, the little ball rolls. The round drum rumbles, the rabbit squeaks. There's not a toy but means to see. In all the closet, from wall to wall. The wedding between the Jack-in-the-box And the prettiest china doll of all. She looked so timid and he so proud, And both were as happy as they could be. And the moon shone in through the closet door. It was really a beautiful sight to see. But when it was over and all the toys Had settled again upon the shelves, Where Jack and the doll could not hear, They talked about it among themselves. The little boy doll who came from France Sighed as he shook his beaver head. "Wouldn't have been all right for a wooden doll. But she might have done much better," he said. Sold Mrs. Noah: "I really think 'Twas a very stupid and slow affair: I hope we shall find when we reach the ark. The animals all in order there." But Jack-in-the-box and the little doll Smiled at each other tenderly. They did not hear, and they did not care, But both were as happy as they could be.—Katherine Pye in St. Nicholas.

Wool Carding and Carpet Weaving

H. H. HERTZLER still continues Carding and Weaving at the WILLOW GROVE MILLS at Burnt Cabins. Carpet Chain always on hand. Wool put into bats for Hops. I will take in Wool and work at the following places, namely, Frank Bay's, Fort Littleton; Michael Laidig's, Dublin Mills; W. R. Speer's, Salvia; C. W. Lynch's, Crystal Springs; J. E. Jackson's, Akerlyville; Caleb Barton's, Hustontown; A. N. Witter's, Waterfall; Harry Huston's, Clear Ridge; W. L. Berkstresser's Orchard Grove.

I Will Visit these places monthly during the season. Thankful for past favors, I hope for a continuance of the same.

H. H. Hertzler, Burnt Cabins.

Your Column.

To show our appreciation of the way in which the Fulton County News is adopted into the homes of the people of this county, we have set apart this column for the FREE use of our subscribers for advertising purposes, subject to the following conditions:

- 1. It is free only to those who are paid-up subscribers.
2. Only personal property can be advertised.
3. Notices must not exceed 30 words.
4. All "legal" notices excluded.
5. Not free to merchants, or any one to advertise goods sold under a mercantile license.
6. The primary object of this column is to afford farmers, and those who are not in public business, an opportunity to bring to public attention products or stocks they may have to sell, or may want to buy.
7. Now, this space is yours: If you want to buy a horse, if you want hired help, if you want to borrow money, if you want to sell a pig, a bag, some hay, a goose, or if you want to advertise for a wife—this column is yours.
8. The News is read weekly by eight thousand people, and is the best advertising medium in the county.

CONDENSED STORIES.

John Habberton's Prank and its Lasting Effects.

John Habberton, the author of "Heien's Babes," told at a dinner party recently an interesting story. "I am," he began, "a cousin of the New York publishing family of the Happers, and I worked for the Happers in my youth, learning with them the printing business. Well, one day they gave me the manuscript of a book of Ruskin to set up. It was 'The Seven Lamps of Architecture' or 'The Stones of Venice,' I think. At any rate it contained a long passage in praise of the work done in the world by the great artists—the poets, the sculptors, the musicians, the architects, the painters, and so on—and I, for mischief, changed one word in this passage. I substituted for 'painters' printers."

"Of course I thought the proof-reader would catch the error. My idea was that we should all have a little laugh at Ruskin's eulogy of the printer along with such fine fellows as the musician and the poet and that then the types should be set right again. But somehow my wilful blunder missed the proof-reader's eye, and in that and every following edition for many years it appeared; hence thousands of Americans have admired the perception and the originality of Ruskin in praising so highly the work of the humble printer, thanks to me. I, by the way, didn't discover how this error had endured till, recently, I took up the volume, saw 'printer' where 'painter' should have been, and the memory of that youthful prank of mine came back to me. I wrote immediately to one of my Harper cousins, confessing all. His answer was a letter of three words—'You young rascal!' I am not precisely a young rascal either," Mr. Habberton concluded, smoothing his gray hair.

Chaffing Mansfield.

Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Mansfield met on Broadway. Said Mr. Hammerstein: "They tell me that 'Monsieur Beaucaire' is not dramatized from the novel, but was originally a play, and that the novel was written from that." "True," replied Mr. Mansfield, with his most literary bow and an amiable smile. "Why don't you dramatize the book some time?" queried Mr. Hammerstein. "It would make quite a play."

Mr. Mansfield checked his bow and with a freezing glare stalked away.—New York Times.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Knable of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c. Prepared by E. O. DREWITT & CO., CHICAGO.

AT MRS. A. F. LITTLE'S Millinery Store

You can get bargains during the next two weeks beginning August 5th

All she asks, is that you come and see goods, and you will be convinced that she is selling at cost.

Come Early

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS.

McConnellsburg, Pa.

S. P. METZLER.

DEALER IN Pianos Organs buggies Carriages

Good marketable stock taken in exchange. When in need of anything in our line write for particulars to S. P. METZLER, Burnt Cabins, P.

McCONNELLSBURG BAKERY

D. E. LITTLE, PROPRIETOR.

Fresh Bread, Rolls, Cakes, Doughnuts, and Pretzels on hand all the time.

Free Delivery in town on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

For Parties, Weddings, &c we are prepared on a couple of days notice to furnish all kinds of cakes &c.

Your Patronage Solicited.

D. E. LITTLE.

Teachers' Wanted.

We need at once a few more teachers, both experienced and inexperienced. We have more calls this year than ever before. Schools and colleges supplied with competent teachers free of cost. Address with stamp, American Teachers' Association, J. L. Graham, L. D. Mgr., Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. King's New Discovery For CONSUMPTION Price 50c & $1.00. A Perfect For All Throat and Cure: Lung Troubles. Money back if it fails. Trial Bottles free.

THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS. Covers the Field.

In every part of the County faithful reporters are located that gather the daily happenings.

Then there is the State and National, News, War News, a Department for the Farmer and Mechanic, Latest Fashions for the Ladies, The latest New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia Markets, The Sunday School Lesson, Helps for Christian Endeavorers, and a Good Sermon for everybody.

THE JOB DEPARTMENT IS COMPLETE.

SALE BILLS, POSTERS, LETTER HEADS, ENVELOPES, CARDS, &c.

In fact anything and everything in the best style along that line.

Sample copies of the NEWS sent to any of your friends on request.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY TIME TABLE.—May 25, 1903.

Table with columns: Leave, Arrive, Stations (Winchester, Martinsburg, Hagerstown, Green Castle, Mercersburg, Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Shippensburg, Newville, Carlisle, Mechanicsburg, Harrisburg, Arr. New York, Arr. Baltimore).

Train No. 12 east runs daily except Sunday between Hagerstown and Harrisburg, leaving Hagerstown 1:05 and arriving at Harrisburg at 2:00.

Additional east-bound local trains will run daily, except Sunday, as follows: Leave Carlisle 7:05 a. m., 10:00 p. m., 11:15 p. m., leave Mechanicsburg 8:51 a. m., 7:50 a. m., 12:00 p. m., 3:30 p. m., leave Dillsburg 8:55 a. m., 10:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m., 4:00 p. m., 7:00 p. m., 10:00 p. m., 11:15 p. m.

Trains Nos. 2, 8 and 110 run daily between Hagerstown and Harrisburg.

Daily, Daily except Sunday.

Train No. 12 west runs daily except Sunday between Harrisburg and Hagerstown, leaving Harrisburg at 5:15 p. m. and arriving at Hagerstown at 7:25 p. m.

Additional local trains will leave Harrisburg as follows: For Carlisle and intermediate stations at 9:30 a. m., 2:00 p. m., and 5:30 p. m., also for Mechanicsburg, Dillsburg and intermediate stations at 7:30 a. m., 1:10 p. m., and 4:30 p. m.

Trains Nos. 1, 3 and 108 run daily between Harrisburg and Hagerstown.

Fullman palace sleeping cars between New York and Knoxville, Tenn., on trains 1 west and 110 east and between Philadelphia and Welsh on N. & W. 204 way on trains 108 west and 12 east, except that on Sunday the Philadelphia sleeper will run east on No. 2.

Through coaches to and from Philadelphia on trains 2, 4 and 6 east and 3, 7 and 9 west.

Daily, Daily except Sunday.

SOUTHERN PENN'A R. R. TRAINS.

Table with columns: P.M., A.M., Stations (P.M. 10:15, 11:15, 12:15, 1:15, 2:15, 3:15, 4:15, 5:15, 6:15, 7:15, 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15, 12:15, 1:1