The Sharon News tells of a girl who found a package of love letters that had been written to her mother by her father before they were married. The daughter saw that she could have a little sport and read them to her mother, substituting her own name for that of her mother and a fine young man for that of her father.

The mother jumped up and down in her chair, shifted her feet, seemed terribly disgusted, and forbade her daughter having anything to do with a young man that would write such sickening and nonsensical stuff to a girl.—When the young girl handed the letters to her mother to read, the house became so still that one could have heard the grass growing in the back yard.

Charles Yocum, a well-known resident of White Deer township, Union county, owns a steam threshing machine and has been engaged in threshing out the grain crops of the farmers in that section. There seemed to be a very decided opposition to Mr. Yocum engaging in the threshing business, as on two previous occasions attempts were made to run his machine, once by concealing a large spike in a sheaf of grain and another time by placing a large rod and bolt in the grain. On both occasions, fortunately, the obstructions were discovered and removed before they did any damage. Last week he was not so fortunate. Some powerful explosive had been placed in the grain, as it exploded with terrific force, blowing the threshing machine to pieces. One piece was blown a hundred feet. It was a miracle that all the crew escaped serious injuries. Mr. Yocum's loss will be about $800. Within twelve hours a new machine was on its way from the factory.

RAISING MULES.

The advantage of a mule over a horse is, he can be taught to turn shorter, thus preventing the breaking down of vegetables or other plants. He can go in rougher places, is not affected by heat as badly as the horse and requires less attention in the way of currying, rubbing, etc. His feet being smaller, he can walk closer to the row of growing plants.

To make a good mule worth from $50 to $80 at weaning time or $140 to $160 as a two-year-old, he should be foaled from a large mare in April or May. He should run with the dam until October 1 then be weaned. At this time he should be at least 52 inches. Put him in a shed with plenty of light and feed oats, with clover and timothy hay. Too much corn fevers the legs and produces scratches. The next summer he should have access to pasture, with a little corn each day until cold weather, when he should be brought back to the barn. At two or two and one-half years old he should be 16 hands high, fat and ready for market.

When feeding, care should be given to keep the system cool with green stuff, and keep out the scratches. The following is a good cure: Take equal parts of blue stone, white vitrol and verdigris, grind together with equal parts of soapstone, mix with warm water until about as thin as paste, apply with a swab on the end of a stick about three times a week.

Mule colts are no more troublesome than horse colts. The colts run with their mothers, but a separate pasture is required for two-year-old mules.—Exchange.

Lived Alone in House of Seventy-Five Rooms.

More discoveries are being made of the strange ways of Colonel George T. Cline, the eccentric recluse, who died recently in Chicago without wife or children, and from whose papers a hidden estate valued at from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 has been unearthed. Most of his wealth goes to Frederick relatives. He lived alone in the Woodbine Hotel. The house has 75 rooms. He lived there in one room only. He took care, however, that the other 74 rooms were furnished. Underneath his bed were ranged eight violins, side by side, each in a leather case and each covered by a white silk handkerchief. Here the Colonel's passion was concentrated. For ten years he passed the time in that room, rarely going but to frequent meals and playing the violin the remainder of his waking hours. One of the eight instruments was an Aamat, worth $1500.

Sometimes the Colonel would not appear for two days, during which time he had abstained from food. He would then go to some small restaurant and invest in toast and hamburger steak at an expenditure of 10 cents, with 15 cents as the maximum. Before giving his order he would draw carefully from a pocket of his rusty Prince Albert a cornucopia-shaped newspaper package. In this was black tea that cost $1 a pound. He insisted that his cup of tea be made from that. And he confined himself to an average one meal a day at a cost of $3 per month.

Besides his violin his other amusements consisted in finding somewhere a "real Irishman," one with an emphatic brogue. For him he would buy meals and drinks, pouring out money freely and getting in return the Irishman's talk.

THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market.—W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold at Trout's drug store.

SIDELING HILL.

The corn crop will not be very large. Funk & Co. are busy threshing here this week. Oliver Plessinger has moved into his new house. Bert Hixson sold two fine cows to Scott Layton of Bedford county. George S. Wilson sold his fat cattle to John D. Smith of Emma-ville. Plessinger and Garland are over in Whips Cove threshing buckwheat. They have a big lot of it threshed out. They have the Howard Martin rig. Scott Lynch sold his famous skunk dog to Geo. W. Mellott, one of Whips Cove's storekeepers. Consideration, $1.00. That will leave the way clear for Henry Layton to take the lead in the skunk business this year.

Nothing has ever equalled it. Nothing can ever surpass it.
