POPULAR CIVIL WAR SONG.

Origin of the One-Time Favorite, When Johnny Comes Marching Home.

One of the most popular of the Civil War songs, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," came near being stifled at its birth. It was written by Louis Lambert, a native of Connecticut, and a graduate of Yale. At the outbreak of the Rebellion he offered his services to the Governor of his State but was rejected on account of his youth. So he remained at college. His father and brother were in the northern army—John Lambert, Sr., and John Lambert, Jr. A great number of Connecticut troops were coming home on furlough and the people in the town where the Lamberts lived were making great preparations for giving the soldiers a "welcome home." Louis was the poet of his class at Yale and was asked to furnish a poem for the occasion. He wrote "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," which the reception committee considered too undignified for so important an occasion, and the song was rejected.

Not to be outdone, young Lambert came from New Haven to his native village with every member of his class to attend the reception given the troops on their home coming. The students had memorized Lambert's new song, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." They had set it to the music of one of their rollicking college drinking songs. What the song lacked in dignity and patriotic spirit it made up in life and action.

As the soldiers were passing under the triumphal arch the students struck up the song—"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" wasn't on the program, but it made such an instantaneous hit that the multitude—soldiers and all—took up the joyous strain and kept singing it to the exclusion of all the rest of the fine ceremony that had been arranged. "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" was all they wanted. Louis Lambert, the smart Yankee lad, had won his point and was the biggest man in New Britain.

News of the episode spread rapidly all over the country and requests for the song commenced to pour in from all parts of the north. It became one of the most popular of all the wartime songs and is to-day fervently sung and played.

Doctors could not help her.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton, Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold at Trout's drug store.

Coinage of Pennies Stopped.

No more cents are to be made by the United States mint at Philadelphia for at least a year, unless a special order is issued from the United States treasury at Washington. This is the latest announcement from Washington, due to the enormous production in the last five years, 3,000,000, 393 pennies having been shipped from the Philadelphia mint, which is the only one that coins the one-cent pieces, to various parts of the country. Between July 1, 1902, and June 1, 1903, 89,600,000 cents were coined.

Avoid serious results of kidney or bladder disorder by taking Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold at Trout's drug store.

SOME OF THE ADULTERANTS USED IN MAKING BEER.

Dr. B. H. Warren, Pure Food Commissioner, will prosecute the manufacturers of adulterated beer. Speaking of impure beer, here is some information that will interest the people who sing "a cold stein for mine": "A former brewer called on Mr. Brown recently and explained to him the present method of manufacturing beer. He said that nearly all beers brewed in this country nowadays contain sulphites of lime, as a "cleanser;" tartaric acid, salicylic acid, acrolein and kalrum medda sulphite, as preservatives; juniper berries, as an antidote for the salicylic acid; glucose, as a sweetener; citric acid as a flavor; benzoic acid, as anti-septic, and tannic acid as a "bleacher."

"There has been little pure lager beer brewed in the United States for more than a decade," he said: "not since the organization of the Chicago and New York Academies, which are organizations of brewers. They employ chemists to concoct these mixtures. A present-day brewer is a wholesale chemical establishment. I like to drink beer, but I am afraid of the kind they make in America."

THE PLEASURE OF EATING.

Persons suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia or other stomach trouble will find that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digest what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. This remedy is a never failing cure for indigestion and dyspepsia and all complaints affecting the glands or membranes of the stomach or digestive tract. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure everything you eat tastes good, and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated by the blood and tissues. Sold at Trout's drug store.

MINISTERS' ERRORS.

We have heard some very laughable statements by ministers, and we do not for a moment doubt that they are also made by other public speakers, says the Kansas City Journal. One of these clerical brethren, at the close of a solemn service, said, in a doleful voice: "Now let us pronounce the doxology and I will sing the benediction." He had an intuition that something was wrong in his announcement, and an effort to correct it resulted in the following: "No, I mean I will sing the benediction and we will pronounce the doxology."

Another clergyman, who had been discoursing mose eloquently on idolatry, surprised his audience by saying: "Bow not thine eye to a needle," when he meant to say, "Bow not thy knee to an idol." Another caused a smile throughout the entire audience by repeating the well known verse, "Behold the fig tree, how it withereth away," in the following manner: "Behold the whig tree, how it fithereth away."

The slips of the type are, however, more numerous and laughter provoking than those of the tongue, causing many an editor and correspondent sorrow, because or the carelessness or obtuseness of all knowing compositors. The writer once had occasion to mention the fact that a certain lecturer had delivered his oration on "Saul of Tarsus." Imagine his consternation, after the entire edition of the paper had been run off, on seeing the statement that the man had lectured on the "Soul of Lazarus." So on another occasion, in commending the boarding house of a brother minister at one of the summer resorts, and especially the reasonable rates, he was horrified to read "his rats are reasonable."

A clergyman once made the statement in the pulpit, "What we want is more here in our meetings." His remarks were reported for the next day's paper, and instead of "here" he found that he had expressed a desire for more "fun" at the meetings.

Used For Pneumonia.

DR. C. J. BISHOP of Agnew, Mich., says, "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Reliable substitutes. Sold at Trout's drug store.

Flinding Gas.

A few days ago natural gas was struck at Tuscarora Oil Company's well in the Narrows, in Allegheny county, Md., at a depth of 530 feet. However, the flow has but little pressure and is only a small pocket. A similar flow was struck when the well farther down the creek was being drilled, but the late strike has considerably more pressure than the old one. It is thought that gas will again be struck at 900 feet, where even a stronger pressure is expected to develop. However, it will not be strong enough to be of any use except as fuel under the boiler at the rig and thus assist in sending the drill down farther in search of a greater deposit. The third strike, it is expected, will be at a depth of about 2,800 feet in the Trenton limestone formation, but if the rock has not been shattered a strong well may be the result.

TRAGEDY AVERTED.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know it's the only cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

JONES CALLED THEM LIARS.

Preacher's Opinion of the Men Who Said They "Always Spoke Kindly."

Sam Jones, the noted revivalist has a habit of speaking his mind freely on all occasions and does not fear to offend his hearers if he thinks he can "point a moral or adorn a tale" by his remarks. On one occasion he delivered his sermon called "Wives and Husbands" before an immense gathering in Birmingham, Alabama. He dwelt particularly on the beauty and utility of mutual forbearance between husbands and wives and then, as though desirous of showing the rarity of that quality said:

"If there is a woman in this vast gathering who has never said an unkind word to her husband, she will please stand up." A woman arose, as though she had been challenged, and Jones, beckoning her with both arms, called out:

"Come here, sister! Come right up here to the platform."

The woman did as bidden and when she reached the preacher's side was presented to the throng as the "most beautiful woman in Birmingham." Jones continuing his address, asked any man who had never spoken an unkind word to his wife to make himself known. Promptly arose ten big, strapping, self-conscious chaps, who started for the platform without further bidding and with an air that suggested the anticipation of praise from the preacher, who, as they neared him said:

"That's right my men! Come right up! I want everybody to gaze on ten of the most hopeless liars in the United States."

First to Sing "The Holy City."

That beautiful sacred song, "The Holy City," is known the world over, but few have ever heard that it was first sung by Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who now languishes in an English prison under a life sentence for the murder of her husband, but whom most Americans believe to be innocent of the crime. The song was written by her brother Michel, who produced it one evening while a family party was on a yachting trip down the Mersey river. Mrs. Maybrick was an accomplished vocalist and sang the song at sight, her voice being thus the first to raise the inspiring strains of "Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Sing for the night is o'er."

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Keeble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state. I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.
