Rev. E. B. Hawley, of Lake View, N. C., Hurled Across the Cabin of the Old Domimion Liner Jefferson-The Lookout Man on the Same Steamer Seriously Injured-All Ocean Liners Due at New York Delayed.

New York (Special) .- The fierce storm which for several days has been raging along the North Atlantic coast has seriously interfered with shipping. and Sunday only four of the ocean liners, all of which have been greatly delayed, succeeded in making port. The four steamships which arrived all report hurricanes and mountainous seas. The Monterey, of the Ward Line, and the Jefferson, of the Old Dominion Line, came in from the South.

The latter craft was terribly battered by the storm, and when boarded by a high wave on Saturday Richard Mc-Lane, the lookout, was seriously injured, and by the heavy rolling of the Jefferson, in an effort to free herself of the deluge that suddenly fell on her forecastle, the Rev. E. B. Hawley, a elergyman, of Lake View, N. C., one of the passengers, was thrown across the cabin and instantly killed. His body was brought to port. McLane was taken to the New York Hospital.

The sound steamboat City of Wor-cester, of the Norwich Line, which was supposed to have run on the rocks near Execution Light late Saturday night, simply anchored, because a metal pin connected with the walking beam had broken. While at anchor temporary repairs were made and the City Worcester, under her own steam, made her way to her dock in North river.

Captain Rowland attempted to transfer his 175 passengers to the New Hampshire, of the Stonington Line, which came up a short time after the accident, but as the waves were too high, the idea was abandoned. Over iso of the passengers were sent to New London by train, and those that stood by the broken down boat proceeded on her to their destination

The City of Augusta, of the Savanmali Line, which proceeded to sea, was sighted in the morning returning to Sandy Hook. She was running away from the storm, but, after remaining in port a couple of hours, Captatin Burg again started on his course for Newport News and Noriolk.
