Mr. Roy W. Decker, formerly of Bethel township, this county, but now a prosperous farmer near Republic, Ohio, took unto himself a helpmeet on the 27th of last month in the person of Miss Retta Clider, an accomplished "Buckeye" girl. Roy has purchased the stock and farming implements of his former employer, rented the latter's farm, and will hereafter do business on his own account. Roy's many friends in this county join in congratulations, and the wish that he may continue to prosper.

Did you get one of those lovely Salt or Pepper shakers in your Fort Bedford Coffee?

A SURPRISE PARTY.

In Honor of Hon. J. T. Richards on His 80th Birthday Anniversary.

On the 6th of December, 1903, Hon. John T. Richards of Amaranth, Pa., rounded out his 80th year. By a coincidence (?) there was with him at his home at the time, his sons—Jacob L., of Clarksburg, W. Va.; Dr. J. Neep-er, of Falsington, Pa.; Rev. T. Davis, of Germantown, Md.; and his grandson, Lindsey K. Richards, of Clarksburg; together of course, with the home folks, his daughter Letitia and her husband J. Clayton Hixson.

While the "old gentleman" was enjoying peaceful slumber Saturday night, the aforementioned youngsters were as busy as mice preparing a surprise for him.

On Sunday morning, after Mr. Richards had returned from doing some little chores at the barn, he was completely taken by storm and you may just imagine how a fellow would feel after about a dozen of youngsters would each get through pulling your ears 80 times.

A package of 16 letters from distant friends placed in his hands, besides many valuable gifts intended to add to his comfort, made the aged "Patriarch" thankful that he was living.

A TIMELY TOPIC.

At this season of coughs and colds it is well to know that Foley's Honey and Tar is the greatest throat and lung remedy. It cures quickly and prevents serious results from a cold.

PRINCIPLE—WHAT IT IS.

(Continued from first page.) selves if they think this is practicing that "charity that thinketh no evil and is kind." And when we scold those who have compassion and show pity, it is because we are so base and sensual ourselves that we cannot see in another a higher motive than we would have in doing a righteous act?—Principle and not policy should lie at the bottom of every moral monument or physical act with a moral quality. God and conscience must direct our steps in the path of duty, regardless of the frowns of a perverse and imbecile community. We should hear before judging, think before speaking and say good or nothing of our fellows. There is no record of any man having starved because he kept his mouth shut. Hate, anger, revenge, prejudice must be eliminated from our being if we would attain the highest degree of self-development imparted by principle. If our hearts are touched with the queenly qualities of truth and kindness, we can set an example of happy, attractive unselfishness that can find expression in the beautiful lines of the poet:

"I love to share a sorrow,
I love to dry a tear,
I love to aid the weary,
And give the sad heart cheer,
I love to lift the fallen,
And comfort those distressed,
I love to cheer and gladden,
The lonely and oppressed,
I love to scatter sunshine,
As on my way I go,
I love to brighten pathways
And share another's woes."

The old poem is true:
"He is dead whose hand is not opened wide
To help the needs of a human brother,
He doubles the length of his life-long ride
Who gives his fortunate place to another;
And a thousand million lives are his
Who carries the world in his sympathies
To give is to live,
To deny is to die."

One young man of solid principle is worth more to give character and strength to the community in which he lives than a score of bedraggled gossips smeared with the mire of deception. Only the true will stand. The age of hypocrisy will soon be ended.—The balances which weighed Belshazzar will weigh us all. God holds them and reads every heart. In that day it will be a consolation to know that we have never fully betrayed our earthly friends nor our heavenly Master.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS A BOX is the value H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C., places on DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He says: "I had the piles for 20 years. I tried many doctors and medicines, but all failed except DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cured me." It is a combination of the healing properties of Witch Hazel with antiseptics and emollients; relieves and permanently cures blood, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, sores, bruises, eczema, salt rheum and all skin diseases. Sold at Trout's drug store.

Mr. Samuel C. Yeakle, who has been with the Creager people at Hancock, has purchased the blacksmith shop and good will of Charlie Wilkinson in this place, and a few days ago moved his family from Hancock into J. Milton Unger's new house on South First street, in this place. Sam is a first class mechanic, a good clever fellow, and will be able to take care of the large patronage that already belongs to the shop.

REPORT FROM THE REFORM SCHOOL.
