Two men were disputing over their respective churches. One was a Presbyterian and the other a Baptist. Finally one called a neighbor who was passing and asked his opinion as to which was the only church in which to be saved. "Well," said he, "my son and I have hauled wheat to the same mill high onto forty years. Now there are two roads that lead from our place to the mill—one's the valley road; 'other takes over the hill. And never yet, friends, has the miller asked me which road I took, but he always asks: 'Is your wheat good?'"
