THE KEYSTONE STATE Latest News of Pennsylvania Told in Short Order.

There is to be no general suspen sion of the independent iron and stee mills controlled by the Amalgamatec Association on July 1, as had beer feared for some time, because of the failure to arrange a wage scale. B mutual agreement the representative By of the association and the Republi Iron & Steel Company will hold an other conference before the expira-tion of the present scale. If the latte meeting is barren of results anothe plan has been formulated to avert strike. A conciliation board will be appointed to settle the matter. Each side will appoint one representative The two will select a third. At a meeting to be called by the three members of the board representatives of each party directly interested will be permitted to offer testimony to show why their proposition should be accepted. After hearing the evidence the board will arrange a scale to be submitted to the contending parties By this means it is hoped that a serious breach will be prevented. This will be the first time in many year; that the failure to effect an agreement does not result in the closing of the mills Twelve merchants in the business part of Chester, were surprised upon going to open their stores to find bundles in the doorways. Each pack-age was neatly tied, but no address was on the outside wrapper. In each instance the package was found to contain old clothing. The merchants notified the police and after an investigation the owner of the property was found. A young man who is prominent in society and who started to clean house found several years' accumulation of old shoes, clothes and other wearing apparel. He did not wish to throw them away and se decided a place the argins in the doors of the stores of merchants with the hope that they would give them to persons who were in need. The Supreme Court's decision affirming that of the Superior Court in the case of Hoover against the Penn-Ivania Telephone Company settle the fact that telephone and telegraph companies do not have the right of eminent domain. Hoover owns farm near Harrisburg and sought to restrain the telephone company from putting poles on it. The Dauphin County Court declared against him and the case was appealed to the Superior Court, which reversed the Dauphin County decision, and Hoover promptly cut down the poles

Robbers visited the little village of Slaymakerstown, Salisbury Township, at an early hour the other morning, and entered the house of Mrs. Annie Brackbill, the widow of George O. Brackbill, Mrs. Brackbill and her daughter, Miss Edith, awoke to find three men at their bedsde. Each man was heavily masked, and each drew a revolver and pressed it to the women's heads, threatening them with instant death if they made an outery. The next demand was for the money in the house, and Mrs Brackbill acceded by handing over about $7. Each of the 900 or more public school teachers of Pittsburg are circulating for signatures papers issued by the Teachers' Association appealing for the support of taxpayers in the movement to secure salaries that will compare favorably with those in other cities in the country of the same size as Pittsburg. The teachers desire an increase averaging nearly 80 per cent. The highest salary paid teachers in the public schools in Pitts burg, it is declared, is $13.46 a week the lowest is $7.50 a week while These figures take into account the fifty-two weeks in the year. The etitions are being generally signed. An engine whistle at Pottsville scared a horse attached to a buck-board containing W. R. McAdams, a railroad contractor, and Miss Carrie W. Perkin, niece of George W. Jones, a coal operator. The buck-board was overturned and the occupants were thrown to the street. Miss Parkin escaped with a few bruises and cuts. Mr. McAdams sustained bruises, cuts, a broken collar bone and two fractured ribs. James G. Downward, the Chestér County delegate to the Democratic National Convention, died at his home in Coatesville. Mr. Downward was in Coatesville. Mr. Downward was in his 67th year. For more than a guarter of a century he was engaged in the manufacturing business. In court the borough of Conshotocken won a $5000 law suit, brought by Mrs. Mary Flynn for personal in-juries, because Judge Swartz charged the jury that the borough is not re-sponsible for every loose brick in the pavement. Mrs. Flynn alleged that was injured by tripping over a depression in a provement two years ago on a dark night. The borough showed that the alleged depression consisted of several "soft" bricks which had become thin and broken from age and wear.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Company's "Weekly Review of Trade" says: Current trade conditions are without change and collections continue slow as a rule, but there is growing confidence in the future, dealers exhibiting an inclination to prepare for Fall and Winter on a larger scale. TWO MINDS, ONE THOUGHT.

All the Circumstances Seemed te Point to a Single Conclusion.

They sat together on the sofa watching the dying embers. They had been silent for some time. He moved uneasily. It was apparent that some thing was on his mind. He looked at her furtively. She was a beautiful girl. He determined at last to make the plunge and turned his face rese 'utely toward hers.

"Dear," he said, "I am going to ask rou a question that I have never asker before. I hope it will not shock you You will notice by a glance at the lock that it is nearly midnight. There is not a sound in the house, and it is evident that your father and mother have both gone to bed. There is no one clase to disturb us. All is serene The gas overhead is turned down to the right point, and these embers shed just the correct glow. A soft, sentl mental feeling that I have not been able to overcome has begun to steal over me. I hope it has over you. Now what I want to ask you is this: Con sidering all the circumstances 1 have mentioned, do you think it would be ulite proper for me to kiss you?"

The beautiful creature at his side turned impuisively and laid a delicate hand on his arm "Do you want to know what I really think?" she said, earnestly. "Yes."

"Then, considering everything, 1 don't think it would be proper for you not to kiss me."-Town Topics.

A Pointer for Candidates.

Two candidates for office in Mis sourl were stumping the northern part of the state, and in one town their appearance was almost simul taneous. The candidate last arriving happened to stop at a house for the purpose of getting a drink of wat er. To the little girl who answered his knock at the door he said, when she had given him the desired draught and he had offered her in recompense some candy: "Did the man ahead of me give you anything?"

"Oh, yes, sir," replied the bright girl, "he gave me candy." "Ah!" exclaimed the candidate. "here's 5 cents for you. I don't suppose that he gave you any money?" The youngster laughed merrily. "Yes, he did, too. He gave me 10 cents!

Not to be outdone, the candidate gave the little one another nickel. and, picking her up in his arms, kissed her.

"Did he kiss you, too?" he asked genially.

"Indeed, he did, sir!" responded the little girl, "and he klased ma too!"-Collier's Weekly.

The Development of Nevada.

No state in the Union has so long and so hadly needed an increase of population as has Nevada, says the National Geographic Magazine, Her population of 42,000 to-day is less than it was in 1870, six years after her admission as a state. It is gratifying to know, therefore, that she will more than double her present numbers when the vast government irrigation works begun on the Truckee and Carson rivers are completed It is estimated that the works will make productive about 375,000 acres of suge brush desert in the western part of the state. These lands will furnish fertile homesteads of about eighty acres each for 4,500 families. Towns and villages will naturally spring up, so that Nevada may expect s the beast that goes wrong owing to accidental temptation-like Shaggy, an exceedingly intelligent, tractable Rocky Mountain grizzly who reverted to savagery and turned man-killer in a twinkling, owing to the unfortunate misstep and fall of his trainer.

FALL OF A GRIZZLY BEAR.

Without an Instant's Warning Tract able Beast Kills His Trainer. Another distinct type of a zoo rogue

Shaggy was a big, handsome, gray old fellow, with a jungle-thick coat and a lumbering, awkward gait, and a funny twinkle that made him particularly adaptable for his part of clown in a remarkably trained group of fourteen bears. He had come under the hands of his teacher when but a helpless cub, had never lost his liking for caresses, and, although the mightlest neast in the collection, was least sus pected of being dangerous. Once, when a striped hyena hung to the ankle of his friend, he had run to the rescue, and cut loose right and left with his ponderous fore paws, and had bitten and torn and mangled the ugly heast to death before he could be beaten off. Among his accomplishments were that of turning admirably grotesque somersaults and the more difficult feat of balancing himself on his hind legs on a three-foot wooden sphere.

Not a scratch or a scar had his trainer to show for the years of work he had put in with the hear. And yet without an instant's warning, this same beast attacked and injured his master so that, when rescued, he was semi-demented and so dreadfully cut and lacerated that the surgeons de cided it useless to try to save his life -McClure's Magazino

GERONIMO IN OLD AGE.

He is No Longer Locked Upon as a Chief by the Anaches.

Geronima was at Lawton last week The health of the old chief is still good, although he is very aged. His home is ten miles from Lawton, yet he usually walks to and from the place to do his trading.

He is quite often asked to give an exhibition of his skill as a marks man with the how. This he readily consents to do provided a nickel is made the target and it becomes his own in case he hits it.

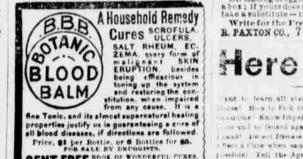

Geronimo denies the statement of Gen. Miles that the general captured him. The old warrior says that some where up on the mountains, when he was on the warrath two white mer came to him and told him that Gen Miles wanted to see him.

The men accompanied him to the camp of the general and he was made a prisoner. Gerohimo says he thinks it was in Arlzona, the territory of his birth. Anyway, he says it was up in the mountains.

The tribal relations of the Apaches have been dissolved, and they no long er look upon Geronimo as their chief They consider him a childish old man. who is too senile to advise them .wton Democrat.
