TREMENDOUS OVATION TO LEADERS.

The President Will Be Formally Notified of His Nomination on July 27, at Oyster Bay-The Notification of Senator Fairbanks Wil Take Place a Week Later, at Indianapolis - Cortelyou Elected Chairman.

Chicago, (Special).-Amid the most inspiring scenes and in a tumult of enthusiasm Theodore Roosevelt and Charles Warren Fairbanks were nominated for president and vice president of the United States by the Republican National Convention, and the great work which called together over 1,000 delegates from all parts of the country was brought to a successful and giorious end

No one could complain of a lack of enthusiasm the last day of the con-vention, for stirred by eloquent oratory the convention spent a day in genuine enthusiasm seldom indulged in, even at a national convention.

Uncle Joe Cannon, however, was the one to receive the preliminary ovation, and when he stepped forward to rap the convention to order the great throng burst forth in a mighty yell, which could not help but please the old man. Uncle Joe laid aside the croquet mallet given him to use as a gavel, and instead he wielded a small and useful gavel, and not only rapped on the presiding of-ficer's table, but at one time during the excitement when the convention was in a delirium of enthusiasm he pounded the gavel on the floor of the

First Day. Chicago, (Special).—The thirteenth Republican National Convention, which is to nominate President Theo-dore Roosevelt for President and Senator C. W. Fairbanks for Vice-President, opened at noon Tucsday. The seats of delegates were well filled, but in the body of the hall there was room for 50 per cent, more spectators and the gaileries were not more than one-third filled.

The hour set for the Convention to begin was noon, but the noon hour found Acting Chairman Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin, gavel in hand waiting patiently for the delegations to find their places before calling the Convention to order. Shortly after noon special messengers were sent out through the large hall in the effort to get the delegates seated

With three severe raps of the gavel Mr. Payne finally called the Convention to order at 12.16 P. M. He made no speech, but promptly introduced Rev. Timothy P. Simultaneously with former Secreary Root's appearance at the speaker's table an immense oil painting of President Roosevelt was unveiled at his right. The tableau brought forth a burst of enthusiasm.

Mr. Root was greeted with re-newed cheers as he advanced to the speaker's stand. "Mr Chairman," he said, "I am deeply"—another burst of cheers cut him off. "I am deeply," resumed Mr. Root, when quiet was restored, and this time he was per-mitted to proceed. Second Day.

Chicago, (Special).—The second day of the Republican National Convention at Chicago was marked by the adop-tion of the platform, the settlement of the Wisconsin, Delaware and other contests, the cutting of Hawaii's represemation to two delegates after a live-ly debate and a characteristic speech by Permanent Chairman Joseph G. Cannon.

The platform of the party for the ext four year, a document of more han 2,500 words, was presented by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, hairman of the committee on resolu-"cardinal principles of protection," further, that the "rate of duty and further, that the "rate of duty should be the difference between the cost of production in the United Sates and abroad.
