

CHIEF OF POLICE SAVED.

Newberry, S. C.—W. H. Harris, Chief of Police of Newberry, says: "I suffered for a number of years with kidney complaint. There was a dull aching across the small of my back that was worse at night and made me feel miserable all the time. The kidney secretions were dark and full of sediment, and lack of control compelled me to rise a number of times during the night. Between this annoyance and the backache it was impossible for me to get much sleep and my health was being undermined. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I got Donn's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy according to directions promptly brought about a change for the better. After using two boxes the backache all left me, the kidney secretions cleared up and the action of the kidneys became normal."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Chief Harris will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

DOCTORS MOVE GIRL'S HEART.

Organ Restored to Normal Condition Though Shifted Six Inches.

Annie Riley, a 13-year-old daughter of James Riley of Dickson City, Pa., became ill with pleurisy about a year ago. The family physician found the whole left side of the child's body over the lungs bloated. He removed the matter and the girl began to get well. Soon, however, a second gathering appeared, which decayed the ribs on the left side. During this second illness the girl's heart moved over to the right side some six inches from its proper position.

The girl was taken to a hospital, where physicians found it necessary to remove four whole ribs and parts of four others.

The physicians restored the heart to its natural position, but the operation left the child weak and for two weeks she was in a dangerous position, but now it is believed she will recover.

Love of Escalobal Causes Death.

When Charles R. Kittredge, treasurer of a savings bank at East Jaffrey, N. H., as he was on his way home one afternoon recently, carrying a satchel containing a revolver, he passed a ball field, here a game was in progress. A fly ball was batted in his direction, and he dropped his satchel so as to catch the ball. The weapon was discharged and the bullet entered Mr. Kittredge's side, causing his death a little later.

Japan vs. Russia.

It is well known that Japan is a very small country as compared with the Russian empire. Its area is 147,000 square miles, while Russia has 3,000,000. In population the disparity is much less, but still very great—44,000,000 for Japan against 129,000,000 for the Russian Empire.

NEW IDEAS IN TOILETTES

New York City—Box coats of linen, taffeta and pongee make the smartest of all the season's wraps and are as comfortable as they are fashionable.

BOX COAT.

This one is made of natural colored linen with pipings of red and matches the skirt, but white and all colors are used and silk and velvet are greatly in vogue for old wraps as well as for costumes. When liked the collar can be omitted and the neck finished with a facing only.

The coat is made with fronts and backs and is fitted by means of shoulder, under-arm and centre back seams. The sleeves are in regulation coat style with roll-over cuffs and a pocket is inserted in each front. As illustrated the closing is made invisibly by means of buttons and buttonholes worked in on a fly.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is three and three-quarter yards twenty-seven inches wide, two and a half yards forty-four head and the enameling is of the richest description, perfectly showing the ever-changing, green-and-blue iridescence of this bird's splendid plumage. Did goddesses carry parasols, Juno herself could have asked no more effective and suitable shield from the dazzling reflection cast by Apollo's passing chariot.

A Dainty Wrap.

Quite the most fascinating little wrap is nothing more than a scarf—a length of chiffon, measuring almost three yards. One seen was of pastel pink, edged all the way around with half-open pink roses. These roses were exquisite little affairs, and not sufficiently even in size to appear monotonous. The whole thing looked as if it had drifted down from Fairyland onto the shoulders of its pretty wearer.

A Smart Hat.

A smart hat of black and white has the wide rim turned up on the two sides, making the hat into something of a scoop. The outer side of this rim is set with an inch-band of white velvet. Two long plumes, one of black and one of white, fall out on the back of the hat over the hair. On the left side the rim is caught on the top with a white owl's head.

White Duck Hats For Children.

Sensible women will provide their children with white duck hats, such as can be obtained at all the stores for a trifling price. These mean comfort and safety to the little ones while playing in the hot sunlight.

Girl's House Costume.

No style of frock suits little girls better than this simple one, which consists of blouse and box pleated skirt. The model is made of white linen trimmed with banding of blue and white and is charmingly dainty and attractive; but natural colored linen and all the simpler washable fabrics of the season are equally ap-inches wide or two yards fifty-two inches wide.

Shirt-Waist Suits.

The shirt-waist suit, first so called because of its simplicity, is much more elaborate in design than last year. It is, however, an essential part of every complete outfit, and is made in wash material, silk of every description, and even in a light-weight cloth. The skirt with bows of shirring and flounces is newer than pleated or tucked ones, and is not difficult for home dressmakers, provided a good pattern is chosen. Skirts and waists are both unlined, but there must be a drop-skirt, not a petticoat, and the waist will wear better and fit better if there is a lining across the shoulders and in the upper parts of the sleeves. In these days of long shoulder seams and the consequent tendency of the sleeve to slip below the top of the arm, this lining is necessary to give a really trim, neat appearance to the gown. The fancy braids now so fashionable are a great help in making over last year's gowns, and also in trimming the inexpensive materials. Not for a moment is it intended to convey the idea that to buy a cheap material and load it down with trimming is advisable, but, for instance, with an inexpensive costume, a skirt and short coat of black and white shepherd's plaid or check, a trimming of black and white braids gives a charming finish and makes the gown appear much more expensive.—Harper's Bazar.

Green and Blue Farnesol.

A green-and-blue combination parasol, chosen to carry with taffeta dresses in a green-and-blue check, is noteworthy. The parasol is made of material exactly like that of the dress. The handle down to within an inch or so of the end is of a blue so dark as to appear fairly black. At the tip it is carved to represent a peacock's appropriate for immediate wear and flannel and serge for the cooler days. The costume consists of the skirt, body lining and blouse. The skirt is box pleated, each pleat being stitched at its edges to yoke depth, and is joined to the body lining, the two being closed at the centre back. The blouse is made with fronts and back and is finished with a box pleat at the centre front beneath which the closing is made. At the neck is a big sailor collar and the sleeves are full, laid in box pleats above the elbows and forming puffs below.

The quantity of material required for the medium size (ten years) is eight yards twenty-seven inches wide, six and three-quarter yards thirty-two inches wide or four and seven-eighth yards forty-four inches wide, with two and three-quarter yards of banding to trim as illustrated.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Bow Under Left Ear.

A new way to wear the necktie has developed itself abroad. With the fashionable embroidered linen collars which have a turned-down point in front, is worn a narrow band of ribbon tied around the throat above the collar. It is a bright-colored ribbon, designed to relieve the dead whiteness of the linen which is not always favorable to the average complexion, and it is tied in a smart little bow with tauty tips under the left ear.

The Best Wife.

Whether the sweet girl, the cheerful girl or the intellectual girl makes the best wife we cannot say. Better ask some man about that, says answer to correspondent in Record-Herald. However, it is safe to make the guess that the girl who possesses all three of these valuable qualities—sweetness, cheerfulness and intellect—is the best girl of all. Such paragons exist, of course. Unless a girl is cheerful she is a depressing counterpane; if she is not sweet she is not womanly; if she hasn't intelligence she will soon prove tiresome.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Lady Curzon Returns to England.

We have all been welcoming Lord Curzon back to London after his five eventful years in India. But probably he would be the first to own that he owes not a little of his success to the tact, grace and womanliness of his charming wife. Few even of the fair sex of the States, who have made so many "conquests" in this country, have done more in this way than Lady Curzon. The wife of a Viceroy of India is perhaps the highest social position to which a lady not of royal blood can aspire. Lady Curzon, by the way, possesses a beautiful voice, as befits one who was a pupil of Marchesi.—Westminster Gazette.

A Wedding Invitation.

For some seasons past it has been customary to allot rose buds or sweet peas to the bouquet or floral basket carried by the proud little maid of honor as she sails up the main aisle of the church, an important member of the wedding party.

This conventional choice has now been altered. White orchids are chosen when they can be procured for the maid of honor. This change was inaugurated by one of our June brides, a fashionable girl who was not content to have anything lackeyed, however pleasant, about her wedding party, and her fastidious selection fell upon white orchids for her maid of honor.

This official wears a robe of white Valenciennes lace over slip of ivory white chiffon.

Unusual Jewelry.

Gold, silver and copper are all used for jewelry in these days, and the metals are studded with pearls, garnets, turquoise, topaz and amethysts. Old ornaments are made of silver set with opals.

Gold set with pale green chrysoprase is charming.

A silver comb is inlaid with colored pearls.

A big buckle of hammered silver has in its centre a plaque of peacock blue enamel.

A pretty pendant is of hammered silver on a piece of pearl shell, set with turquoise and baroque pearls.

A delightfully quaint necklace is of old paste with green stones called obsidians.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Lovely Evening Wraps.

For evening wraps the lovely wraps are made of light-colored silks, only the softest varieties, like lustrine, being used. These charming garments are made in three-quarter lengths and are lined with chiffon matching the silk. Pongee in the pastel shades is a good fabric for these wraps, and a rough silk called burlington is also well suited for the purpose.

Old rose pongee was made in a Shaker wrap for a summer trowsauze. The shirring around the top was done on very heavy cords, and the entire wrap, including the hood, was lined with a white liberty gauze. Another pongee wrap, an oyster-white shade, had a lining of pure white chiffon, the lining being put on in a series of loose puffs. Immense scarfs of the chiffon edged with lace hung from the collar in front.

Women Surgeons Are Few.

"Why is it that one does not hear of famous women surgeons?" asked a Post reporter of Dr. M. C. Reville, of San Francisco.

"There is no special reason why women should not become proficient in surgery," he replied, "but few take to that line of work. The average woman somehow seems to think that this lies a little outside the sphere of feminine labor, and there is no question but that the public takes the same view. Even were a woman to attain the highest degree of surgical skill or to become a great operator, which is quite a different thing, her ability meets with scant recognition, and she might not get fees enough to live on in comfort."

"At the same time, I have met with women whom I knew to be born surgeons; that is, they had the native talent, the judgment, the physical strength, the steady nerves, and all other requirements. When it comes to standing pain, women outclass men, and there is no reason to doubt the fitness of such as these for performing the most difficult and trying operations. The trouble would be to get any of them to select a career that is apparently not suited to the sex."—Washington Post.

London.

Tubingen is the latest of the German universities to open its doors to women.

The French maid of a well-known society woman has a unique treatment for silk shirts. She sews tiny loops among the buttons at the bottom of the petticoats and hangs them in the closet upside down.

It is quite the fashion nowadays for a girl to have two engagement rings, the first being given her when she has said "Yes," and the other when the engagement is announced.

Among the delegates to the great London Congress of the Salvation Army are two Japanese ladies in their national costumes.

A nurse in Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service receives an initial salary of $200 a year. When she becomes a sister she gets from $250 to $325. A matron's salary gradually rises to a maximum of $750.

Mrs. Mary E. Bart, of Nome, is the woman Commissioner to the St. Louis Fair from Alaska and the president of the most northerly woman's club in the world.

The Prohibition party of Massachusetts has nominated Mrs. Fannie Gullford (Clay) as Secretary of State. She won this honor by a vote of 52 to 12 against one of the most popular men in the party, who was afterward nominated for another position.

There are so many forms of embroidery which can be worked with comparatively little time and labor that no girl need go without this fashionable touch on her gowns.

Cross-stitch is as fashionable as ever for certain styles; and, being worked in colors, a little goes a great way in trimming the dress. Old rose and soft blues and greens are a better choice than the brighter shades that have hitherto been used.

For finer dress weaves French knots and feather stitching suggest themselves; the variety of ways for using them prevents sameness. No longer is feather stitching seen only on bands and plaits, but is arranged in all sorts of curves and circles, while knots are massed in groups, small or large, square or pyramidal.

The hair should be well brushed every night, then loosely plaited. On no account should hairpins be slept in, as they injure the hair as well as being a danger of them sticking in the head or neck.

Chicago has at least a half-dozen women in the business and professional line who make $19,500 a year from their vocations.

Mrs. Langry has sent to a London auction room "a casket of jewels" to be sold. The jewels include a brilliant neck chain, brilliant and pearl brooches, a turquoise and brilliant necklace, and emerald, ruby and brilliant rings.

FRILLS IN FASHION.

Parrot red and parrot green enjoy an equal show of favor.

A new kid glove with demi-fingers is masquerading as a mitt.

It's the three-quarter coat that still prevails on linen suits, anyhow.

Linen etamine lends itself admirably to the making of the shirtwaist suit.

Those long linen coats are the best sort of protectors for delicate gowns.

Tortoise is a pretty amber shade, becoming to women who cannot wear most browns.

One must be astonished at the number of blue shades that have sprung up this year.

Lace frets its little life upon all kinds of garments, the traveling coat not excepted.

One sees more white wash kids than any other sort of gloves can well-dressed women.

Some very fetching sunshades boast of enamelled and gilded ribs with pronounced ball ends.

Kimono haleros, emphasizing the shoulder-and-sleeve-in-one idea, tally with modish effects.

Long suede gloves, edged with flossers to match various gowns, tempt to new extravagances.

A button arrangement made of braided twisted round and round is a smart substitute for buttons.

Strings of coral look well with the white linen dress where with a red hat is worn—as it is so often.

A charming consequence of the elbow sleeve is a black velvet bracelet set with some rare old miniature.

This is a good year to observe the striking difference between wearing clothes and being well-garbed.

Louis XVI. coats of cream lace garnished with pink rossbuds are an additional elegance to the dinner toilet.

The latest novelty in full dress footwear is a hand of diamonds carried across the instep of evening slippers.

The velvet rage has given prominence to violet and purple shades, because of their exceeding richness in that fabric.

Sleeves are finished at the bottom with wide cuffs or in flowing, flare fashion rather than gathered into band-like cuff in bishop style.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—Mrs. R. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Reed, 2425 E. Cumberland St., Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write and tell you the good I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have been a great sufferer with female trouble, trying different doctors and medicines with no benefit. Two years ago I went under an operation, and it left me in a very weak condition. I had stomach trouble, backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, and was very nervous; in fact, I ached all over. I find yours is the only medicine that reaches such troubles, and would cheerfully recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all suffering women."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, distention, general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., as thousands do. Her advice is free and helpful.

No other medicine for women in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
