Care of the Teeth. Take the chicks to a dentist every six months if you can possibly manage it. By the removal of one or two side teeth, undue prominence and premature decay is often avoided in the front ones, and if a tiny spot of decay is stopped at once, a tooth will sometimes last good for years. Many people think it quite unnecessary to visit a dentist until toothache acts as an unpleasant reminder. This is a mistake, and often means the loss of a tooth that might have been saved if it had been attended to earlier.

Girls, Watch Your Speech! What old-fashioned tolk called "tricks" of speech or manner are deplorably easy to assume and extremely difficult to break off. Several to which girls are more or less prone are these; Repetition of a sentence or the point of a story, telling it over again almost in the same breath; the usage of "you know" or "don't you know?" for emphasis, and beginning a laugh with such haste that it entangles itself in the speech and the final words are delivered in a giggle. All these and similar mannerisms may be more readily dropped in youth than later in life, and every girl would be wise to watch herself lest she fall into them or their like.-Philadelphia Inquirer.

Champion of Woman's Rights.

On August 4 German women celebrated the seventieth birthday of Mathilde Clasen-Schmid, author and champion of woman's rights. She was born in 1834 in the little village of Wildenfels (which name she has assumed as her non de plume), and after attending the higher schools in Leipzig she settled in Russia as a teacher On her return she published her first novel, "In Russian Circles," which was followed by "Genre Pictures and Sketches." Madame Clasen-Schmid has busied herself very much with women's affairs, especially female costume. Among her many books on this subject may be mentioned "Female Costume-Practical, Conventional and Aesthetic." In 1890 she helped to found the "Leipzig League of Feminine Writers." She is also an active spirit in the "General Society of German Women."

The Women of Russia, According to Dr. Wolf von Schlerbrand, writing in the Delineator, the curious and appalling discrepancy between the lot of the grande dame in Russia and that of the women of the middle or lower classes is the result, not so much of greater wealth as a complete reversal of standards. The Russian aristocracy is cosmopolitan. and its women are, like the women of the powerful advancing nations of Western Europe, an Independent force, leading in society and domestic life; but the women of the bulk of the nation are still Oriental, and more the slaves than the helpmates of their husbands. The condition of these women is miserable in its degradation and hopelessness. As the author concludes, "Their outlook and their opportunities seem to be less advanced and their social status on a lower plane than in almost any other European Renovating Chiffon.

White chiffon that has become soiled may often have its service prolonged by dyeing. The domestic dyes, to be had in packages in every drug store, are useful for this purpose. Don't give up the chiffon, however, even if quite soiled and mussy, until you have tried to wash it. Let it remain, of course, without any sort of rubbing, and not even much squeezing, in a lather made of a good white soap until the soil of the water shows that the dirt has left the fabric. Press it gently out of that Hence my reasons for advocating a water, and rinse through several clean waters, adding to the last rissing water a very little gum-arabic. From this last bath take the chiffon out, letting as much water drain away as possible, then spread between layers of old muslin, and press the rest out with the hand. Finally smooth with a moderately hot iron, spreading a sheet of thin tissue paper over the chiffon. If the directions have been carefully followed, the end of this process should show the fabric almost equal to new .- Philadelphia Inquirer.

Fleur de Peche.

You must have a loose jacket or bolero for your late afternoon drive. The white cloth jacket is still in high favor, but a rival has arisen in the beautiful-peach-colored broadcloth, called by the importer "fluer de peche"-literally flower of the peach.

The cloth is the tint of the inside of a ripe peach, warmer than white, but not actively yellow nor pink. It is not so much colored as champagne, but is liked as being "off" the white.

A loose half-long wrap of "fleur de peche" cloth is lined with satin to for smart cloaks for day and evening match. There is a seam in the centre or loose back, and others under the arms. Age For Women to Wed.

Women are discussing to-day an interview just given by Governor Edward Warfield, of Maryland, who declares that from twenty-four to twen ty-six years is the proper age for a woman to marry, says the New York Telegram.

He made the statement in addressing the graduates of the high school at Wilmington, Del., recently, and followed it up with the following remarks:

"My advice to girls is not to marry too early. If asked the age when girls should marry, I should say from twenty-four to twenty-six. The latter was the age of Mrs. Warfield when I married her, and I have said to my daughters that I should not give my consent to their marriage until they arrive at that age.

"Marriage for the purpose of settling a daughter in life is, as a rule, a failure and an unhappy one. No parent, and especially no true and loving mother, will wish to push her daughter into matrimony before she is fully matured and fitted for the grave responsibilities of married life. Girls just out of school are not equipped for the ordinary household duties of wives and for the cares and trials of motherhood.
