Selicious and Also Strictly Temper ance Drink.

The hostess who is a strict prohiditionist is sometimes at a loss for good drinks to serve at her afternoon eception. Ten and chocolate are so commonplace that she is not to be plamed if she does cast her eyes longngly at the punch receipes and wish ier principles were not quite so strict. However, there is nothing more intoxcatingly delicious, in the perfectly proper use of the term, than fruit

To make this consoling temperance severage put one pound each of rasp berries and currants into a bowl. Mash them to a pulp, add four quarts of water and let the mixture stand covered for two or three hours. Boil four cups each of granulated sugar and-water, dropping in a bit of lemon rind. Ten minutes' boiling is long enough. When cold add the juice of eight lemons and six oranges. Strain both mixtures and pour them together. To give it smariness add one pound of candied cherries and a quart of finely

"He" is a Girl.

A tired mother with two children, a baby of 2 years that sat on her lap and a bright-eyed boy of perhaps 4, who sat beside her, were trying to enjoy a little luncheon in a restaurant in the business section of the city. Two young ladies entered and sat lown at the same table. Seeing the lifficulty the woman had in eating unch and holding her younger child at the same time, one of the young ladies leaned over and said in a propitinting tone: "What a sweet little boy! Won't you let me hold him until you finish lunch?" The mother gladly granted the request and was transfering her charge into the arms of the younger woman, when the little boy, with never a smile, raised his voice a little girl!"-Philadelphia Press.

Stir in one cup of cut preserved or candied fruit and finish freezing. Drain off the water, repack and let stand three hours. More fruit may be used.

Tripe a la Lyonnalse.

Italians are extremely fond of tripe and prepare it in a variety of appetizing ways. It is most digestible and is usually served with Parmesan cheese Wash in cold water two pounds of the honeycomb tripe and put it in a saucepan with two quarts of boiling saited water. Simmer gently for ten minutes, drain and dry with a clean cloth. Cut into long, fine strips about an inch in length. Put in a saucepan three tablespoonfuls of olive oil, and when hot add two tablespoonfuls white onlons cut in thin slices, and cook until a golden color. Add the tripe, cook slowly for fifteen minutes, season with salt, pepper, a dash of cayenne, a tablespoonful of parsley and a tablespoonful of tomato conserve. Serve with grated cheese. Both the cheese and the conserve can be purchased in any Italian store much more reasonably than can be procured elsewhere. The conserve comes in little tin cans, five cents a can, and lasts indefinitely, since a spoonful is quite sufficient for season-

Germany's Textile Schools. Reginning with schools to teach spinning by hand in the eighteenth century, Germany has continued to improve the instruction in textile industry offered to his people with every advance of practical science as applied to weaving and spinning. Textile schools, where the manipulation of most intricate machinery is taught, are now found all over the empire, and it is held by some persons that they constitute the main pillar by virtue of which the German textile industry maintains its competitoive power in foreign markets. The courses of instruction are frequently revised and everything is kept up on a scien-

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of

Erratic weather produces irregularity in retail distribution of merchandise at many points and Southern business is quiet because of the depression in corion, but the general outlook is considered very bright. Manufacturers report that confidence is warranted by the number of new orders, while deliveries on old contracts are of satisfactory volume. The best news comes from the iron and steel industry, while footwear factories are busy, woolen mills in exceptionally good condition, and activity is assured among cotton spinners as soon as the raw material market becomes settled. Failures for January thus far compare very favorably with last year's returns, railway earnings increased 5.8 per cent. over those of 1904, and foreign com-merce for the last week shows a gain of $6,151,867 in imports and a loss of only $081,033 in exports.

Thus far the new year has not brought the anticipated demand for leather, but tanners are confident that the activity will not be long delayed. Prices are fairly steady.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale Discusses

Those of Engel. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, lecturing in Philadelphia on "How to Regulate Expenses" and "How to Dress," said Engel had carefully studied expenses, according to the New York World, and his three laws

1. That the greater the income of iny person or family, the smaller the elative percentage of the outlay for

2. That the percentage of expense 'or clothing is approximately the same, whatever the income.

3. That the percentage of outlay for lodging, rent, fuel or light is invariably the same, whatever the in

As to the clothing there must be a decent regard for the opinions of mankind along with a determination not to be wholly subservient to them. The cost of clothing to the workman is from 7 per cent to 19 per cent of his income, the average in Massachusetts being 15 per cent. In Germany the average is 18 per cent, and in Illinois 21.

Then there is the question of how much of one's income to devote to other people in the social life. That must depend on a person's own consciousness and circumstances. There is also the problem of contributions to charity.

Dr. Hale read the principle enunciat ed by Star King, that for every expenditure in amusements we ought to make a corresponding contribution to the improvement of society and in the interest of the offspring, for "when we do that we have a right to our amusements; otherwise we have no right to Audacity Won Captain.

In the days of frontier army posts and Indian fighting a certain captain was as famous for his courage as he was notorious for his love of liquor. One night he thought he heard a burglar in his quarters, so, pistol in hand, he stepped across the hall to the dining room door.

Sure enough, there stood an intruder at the sideboard, where the silverware was displayed.

"What are you doing there?" said the captain, covering his man with the gun. "Getting a drink of whisky," the burglar answered, calmly filling a glass from one of the captain's bottles. The fellow's serone audacity appealed to the brave captain. "Say," said he, lowering the pistol,

"make it two." Picture Postcards Censored.
