Grace Huston, teacher.

A country newspaper speaks of a man who always paid for his paper a year in advance. As a reward he was never sick in his life, never had a corn on his toes, or toothache, his potatoes never rot, the frost never kills his pears, his babies never cry at night, and his wife never scolds, and he has succeeded in serving three terms on the school board without being criticized. We do not know whether such happy results would follow paid-up subscribers to this paper or not, but it would not do any harm to try it.

Almost all our farmers are engaged in the lumber business. Heavily loaded sleds pass here six or eight in a string, almost daily.

J. D. Mellott has attached his traction engine to his saw mill and, judging from the way the lumber is coming in, he will doubtless do a good business.

If the Spruce Creek scribe would do less "sprucing" and stick closer to business and the truth, he would doubtless be of more use as a reporter. Perhaps that was his maiden effort, and he is, therefore, more deserving of instruction than cepture.

Phil Scriber the painter, is using the ground floor of the P. O. S. of A. Hall for a paint shop. Phil understands his business, and is making a lot of old buggies shine like new ones.

A couple of travelers enjoyed the hospitality of our aged friend S. M. Clevenger last Sunday evening, whom he supposed to be Mormon elders. Sammey believes in being careful to entertain strangers.

The school board of our township have been after some of the patrons of this school for violating the law. This did not need to be necessary in this district and ought not to be so now.
