Locust Grove.

There was a quilting party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Diehl on Saturday for Mrs. E. A. Diehl. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Emmaville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Plessinger and daughter Aehsah; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Emeline Diehl, Bertha and Belle Diehl, Misses Jessie Mason and Sophia Hohman of McConnellsburg, Mr. Reed Downs of Franklin Mills, and Watson Plessinger. The men kept fire and did the errands for the ladies, while the latter took turns at quilting and preparing dinner. All went nicely until one of the ladies gave the alarm that some ferocious animal was about to carry off one of the happy members. Samuel, soldier like, with a club for his musket, made a stately march toward the enemy, while the rest were hiding and expecting that every minute would be their next, all supposing Samuel had been carried off; but to their surprise he returned smiling and informed them that it was only a possum. They could not believe for a time but that their eyes were deceiving them; finally, Sam convinced them that there was no cause for alarm, but it took them quite a while to get over the excitement. Considering all their trouble and excitement they did well and seemed to enjoy the day, and in the evening went to the protracted meeting to give thanks for being spared through the day. The protracted meeting at Jerusalem is well attended.

Mrs. Abraham Plessinger, who has been sick for the past few weeks, we are glad to say is slowly improving.

David Smith, who has been ailing for years, is some better.

Mr. Reed Downs and Miss Sophie Hohman spent Sunday with Miss Jessie Mason.

Watson Plessinger spent Sunday night at Emmaville.

Emory A. Diehl purchased the house and lot belonging to Samuel Hart, of Emmaville and expects to move there in the near future, where he expects to go into the mercantile business.

A Touching Story

is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At Trout's drug store; 50c and $1.00 guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

St. Valentine's Day.

Miss Anna Mayne, of Fort Littleton, gave a party on last Tuesday evening.

Those present were: Misses Anna Buckley, Frances Fields, Emma Lyle, Bess Wilson, Margaret Cline, and Messrs. N. E. Hoover and Dr. McClain of Hustontown.

The games were Exchange, Fling and Sherlock Holmes. The Fling and Exchange prizes were captured by Miss Frances Fields.

The guests partook of delicious refreshments, then returned home wishing for another such St. Valentine party.

The Emperor of Germany wants a few of our college professors. We have a few who claim never to have kissed a girl—he can have them as they are no good over here.

A furrier makes his novel bid for custom by announcing in a daily paper that "Mr. Blank is willing to make up capes, jackets, and coats for ladies out of their own skins."

The Chicago authorities having captured the man with twenty-five wives have decided that it will be punishment enough to turn him over to the mercy of his own collection.

"Old Blimson is the queerest rich man I've read about in a long time."

"What's the matter with Blimson?"

"Why, he's got ten million dollars and says he intends to die rich if he can."

An indignant letter, dictated by a clever old gentleman, runs thus: "Sir, my stenographer, being a lady, cannot take down what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot express it; but you, being neither, can readily divine it."

One of Alabama's negroes claims to have done a great deal for his church without giving money. He has invented an alarm clock to be fastened on to the collection basket to wake the people up while it is being passed around.

An extraordinary discovery of rubies, sapphires and emeralds has been made near Ficksburg, in the Orange River colony. Nearly a bucketful of these precious stones, totaling 356 karats, was exhibited to the shareholders of the company owning the ground as the result of the wash of two loads of earth.

When butter is kept in tubs or earthen vessels, it must be packed as closely as possible, with no interstices or vacant spaces left, for the butter quickly spoils around these interstices and the evil spreads through the whole tub. In large establishments it is considered essential that a tub be filled with butter made all in one day.

Charles Lever, the novelist, had little faith in the sincerity of Neapolitan beggars. He once said that when he threw out a handful of small coins to them the blind were the first to see it, the paralyzed to run for it, the maimed to pick it up, the naked to put it in their pockets and the dumb to blaspheme their ill-luck in being out of the scramble.

Martha, the colored washerwoman, was complaining of her husband's health to one of her patrons. He's 've'y pol'y ma'am; 've'y pol'y. He's got exclamationary rheumatism." "You mean inflammatory," Martha. Exclamationary is from 'exclaim,' which means to cry out. "Yes, miss," answered Martha, with conviction, 'dat's what it is. He hollers all de time."

"Now, my dear childrean," said the Arch deacon, "I will ask you a few questions in your catechism. Which of you can tell me the two things necessary in baptism? Quite right, 'water.' Water is one thing and what is the other? Wha! Can none of you think what else is necessary? Well, little girl, what do you say?"

"Please, sir, a baby," was the reply.

They were skating by moonlight. His name was Jack Jones.

"You have a pretty name," ventured Ernestine, just to break the monotony.

"Yes," he replied, softly, "but I wish my name was Jack Frost."

"And why?"

"Because I heard you say Jack Frost often kissed your cheeks."

After much confusion she said he might change his name for a minute.

While Dr. J. B. Mellott and wife and daughters Rhoda M., Flora Belle and Nettie Grace,—all in one sled, driving the Doctor's spirited horse, were on their way to Riley Garland's, the sled overturned, throwing all the occupants out, cutting a gash in Mr. Mellott's face. Mrs. Mellott and oldest daughter were injured and both shafts of the sled were broken. Neither Mr. Mellott nor the horse got excited, and Isaiah Mellott furnished a pair of shafts and the party went on their journey.

That Tickling in the Throat. One minute after taking One Minute Cough Cure that tickling in the throat is gone. It acts in the throat—not the stomach. Harmless—good for children. A. L. Spofford, postmaster at Chester, Mich., says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. Three doses of One Minute Cough Cure half an hour apart speedily cured her. I cannot praise One Minute Cough Cure too much for what it has done in our family." It always gives relief. Sold at Trout's drug store.

Comer—Trout.

One of the social events of Mercersburg society was the marriage, on Thursday evening, at 6 o'clock, of Mr. Jacob H. Comer, of this place, and Miss Edith Trout, of Mercersburg. There were 82 guests present at the ceremony. A brother of the bride was best man and Miss Nellie Comer, of this place, bridesmaid. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding feast was partaken of.

The groom is one of McConnellsburg's best young men, is a tailor by trade, and a sober, industrious young man. The bride is a handsome young lady and well thought of at her home.—Fulton Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. Comer, will begin housekeeping about the first of April in the house with Charles Eitemiller.

For a little outing the Hustontown cornet band gathered themselves together Monday afternoon, hired a good team and went to McConnellsburg. After thawing the frost out of their horns at the Fulton House they appeared on the streets and treated the people of that old town to some excellent music. As citizens do not strike McConnellsburg very often, the people there do not often hear a band, and the way the boys—and some of the girls—fell over themselves following the music around was ample compensation for the sacrifice the Hustontown boys made to furnish the music.

Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Trout's drug store; price 50c.
