EXPERIENCE SPOKE FOR HIM

Boy Remembered Recent Use to Which Nose Had Been Put.

When Horace started to school be had a cold. It had been with him most all winter, consequently he had come to regard his nose as the very keystone of his existence. He was still doing some pretty tall sniffling when called up for his first recitation.

The lesson with which he was introduced to the life studious dealt with that complex and incomprehensible subject, "Boy," The teacher, being a woman possessed of an analytical mind, believed in getting right down to first principles. She not only taught the component parts of the word "boy," but bewildered Horace with sundry questions concerning the boy himself. She tweaked Horace's ears, gouged his eyes and made sportive jabs at his lips and mouth, inquiring the while what the various organs indicated were called and what were their functions.

Horace, in spite of his nervousness, acquitted himself creditably, and he would probably have got off with "A plus" if the teacher had let his nose alone. Unfortunately she attacked the offending probosels and asked:

"And what is this called?" "By dose," gasped Horace, thickly. "And what is it for?" she persisted. And Horace imbaed with an honesty born of innocence and long suffering, straightway responded:

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physician." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesoned disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked, even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

COMMISSIONER CARFIELD'S REPORT It is Found to Be Favorable to the Great

The report of Commissioner of Corporntions Gardeld on the beef indusiry, after about eight months' investigation in Chicago and elsewhere, shows that there has been an enormous amount of exaggeration in the statements that have appeared for some time past in regard to the beef bushness. This investigation was set on foot by a resolution of the House of Representatives adopted March 7, 1904. and the assertained facts after a most rigid examination of the methods and general conduct of the business are contained in a report covering 308 pages. Its figures and tables conclusively show that the popular belief in enormous orabis made by the large packers, such as Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and Nelson Morris & Co., and in the exclusive control of the business which many think they enjoy, is really without foundation.

The report made to President Roosevelt by Commissioner Gardeld is really the first official statement of the actual conditions of the beef business that has been made, and as all the conclusions prrived at are based, as shown by him, upon data officially obtained. there seems to be no reason why they should not be regarded as reliable and in all respects trustworthy.

This report shows why the price of both cattle and beef advanced to the highest level ever known after the short corn crop of 1001, and states that because of the decrease in number Reading Township, has succeeded | cattle and also in decreased weigh "the high prices of beef which causes hysicians saved him by inserting a tube so much complaint among consumers brough which he breathed. He was re- at this time were attributable wholly

All the figures of the live weight and live cost of all dressed beef cattle were W. R. Wilcox, of West Fairview, obtained from actual killing records. and all information of every kind obtained by the Commissioner was voluntarily and freely offered by the packers, all books of record and papers connected with the business having been placed at his disposal. To make certain that the results of the investigation should be absolutely accurate, the Commissioner states that a double method of recertaining profits was adopted, and, without going into sion arrived at shows an average profit of 50 cents per head. The Commis Woner says "the close parafletion in the results of the two methods of ascertaining the profits confirms completely the correctness of the general conclusions." It is clearly established that "Western packers do not control more than half of the beef supply of the United States," the conclusion of the Commissioner being that the business done by them amounts to "about 45 per cent," of the total slaughter of the country. The whole report is extremely interesting and well worthy of careful perusal. As an official report it may be regarded as worthy of confidence, and it certainly leads the render to the conclusion arrived at by the Commissioner when he states that "the capitalization of none of these concerns is excessive as compared with its neight Investment," and that from thorough and rigid examination of original entries in books and papers to which he had access there was also "indirect evidence that the profits of the packers in their boef business are less than is frequently supposed," as shown by comparison between the total profits and the total amount of sales.

He suggests an incident in the life of primitive man in which two of these beings have a hand-tohand conflict. One learns the secret of division of labor in the forelimbs and uses his left arm for a shield and his right for fighting. He is the victor in the fight and his offspring, at ter he has captured the wife of the victim, would revert to the maternal custom of using the left hand. The writer then eltes various examples to
