Cutting a Queen Bee's Wing.

Dallas Lore Sharp describes a method of preventing bees from swarming in THE COUNTRY CAL- ENNDAR for May, the first issue of the new outdoor monthly published by the Review of Reviews Book Co.

Keep your queens clipped. Lay aside your sentiments, your fears of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, your ideas that it hurts her, your fears of killing her,—and get your scissors. Seize her any way. She won't sting. Get her by one wing (if you can't do better) and holding her gently against the frame, snip off one wing. This won't stop the swarming, but it will keep the bees from absconding, for the swarm won't go off without the queen while you are away. So you are often able to induce them to call off the strike and go back to work.

Clip your queens then, give the bees room, give them shade at the hottest hours if necessary, shake them if they show signs of swarming, and keep the colonies strong.
