In Memory of a Sweet Baby.

Sleep on, dear little pet.
Your sweet face, I will never forget.

When I think of your baby prattle,
My eyes with tears are wet.

Sleep on, little dear, take your rest.
We gladly would have kept you.

But God called you, he thought it best.
Now you are pillowed on his loving breast.

Heaven now retains our treasure:
Earth the lonely mother keeps.

And the sunbeams beat to him:
Where our darling baby sleeps.

He has gone from us forever—
Longer here he might not stay;
He has reached a fairer region.

Far, far away.
HIS MOTHER.

WELLS TANNERY.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins (nee Etta Shoaff), of Pittsburg, are visiting her sister Mrs. B. G. Horton.

Master Ernest Sprowl fell from a cherry tree and dislocated his left wrist. His mother and Mr. Daniel Warsing put it in place and bandaged it to perfection.

Thursday morning a little son of Ambrose Hesel made up his mind to have some fun. So he gathered up two smaller children a few matches and proceeded to the hay mow of the stable.

To start the fun, he struck a match, in a short time a great fire. It was with the greatest of difficulty that Mrs. Hesel saved the children. The stable and nearly all its contents were burned.

S. P. Wishart and wife and Maud Baumgardner are attending the International Sunday school convention held in Toronto, Canada, this week.

CONSUMPTION

There will be a dancing picnic held at Harris's mill one mile south of Big Cove Tannery, July 8th, Saturday afternoon and evening with fine music furnished by the dance.

NEW GRENADA.

Shade trees and palm leaf fans have been in demand the past week.

Our neighbor and comrade, F. G. Mills has again taken up his usual line of employment for the month of June, viz.: Eel business with the usual success: 3 2-1-0-quits.

A large black-snake was killed in the yard of "Central" measuring about 4 1/2 ft; also, a housesnake in Dick Alloway's yard.

Oge Sunday, recently, Thornton Foster, Charles Deshong and Clarence Foster took a walk to the famous snake den, and succeeded in slaying rattlesnakes as follows: one 3 ft. 2 1/2 in. with 10 rattles; two, 3 ft. 4 1/2 in., with 20 rattles; one, 3 ft. 5 in., 11 rattles; one, 3 ft. 7 1/2 in., 14 rattles; one, 2 ft. with 4 rattles; one, 3 ft. 8 in., 14 rattles; one, 3 ft. 7 in., 10 rattles. Combined length 26 ft. 3 in. Total, rattles 93. Good day's work.

The following are the officers elected for ensuing year of Bethel union Sunday school: Superintendent, Thos. H. Ramsey; secretary, Maude Cunningham; treasurer, Vaughn McClain; organists, Lizze Watkin and Ethel Thomas; librarian, Richard Alloway.

The Wells township school board organized with James A. McDonough, president; John R. Lockard, secretary, and A. S. Edwards, collector and treasurer. The rate of school tax was fixed at 10 mills. The people of Wells can begin to dig down in their jeans for dough. The settlement shows a debt of $810 which shows rather bad state of affairs for the new board to face.

A. W. Johnston and wife, of Streator, Ill., are stopping a few days at the home of F. G. Mills.

S. C. Gracey, one of the Democratic nominees for county commissioner was a visitor to our town during the week.

W. O. Fields of Robertsdale, visited our city on Saturday evening enroute to the home of his father in Clay township.

The yellow parsonage has changed its color to that of cream and green; but the minister, Flick still carries there all the same. Donations received with usual thanks.

Among a brood of chicks recently hatched, Mrs. Geo. W. Barnett, of Hubblesville, noticed one that had but one leg. It was hatched that way. But what it lacked in legs it made up in toes; for the one leg that it had was adorned with eight well formed toes.

Chas. R. Grissinger, one of Fulton county's boys and a graduate of Girard College, graduated in dentistry at the Philadelphia Dental College May 29th, with distinguished honors. Much credit is due this orphan boy who through indefatigable labor and perseverance has carried himself through almost insurmountable obstacles, and attained for himself that most prized of all accomplishments, a lucrative profession. It also speaks well for the county of which he is a native.

HUSTONTOWN.

Abram Otto, of Altoona, is spending a short vacation with his friend Harry Dawney in this place.

W. R. Evans had one sheep killed and six injured by dogs last Sunday night.

A large crowd of relatives and friends were in attendance at the funeral of S. F. Keepers last Monday.

The U. B. church in this place is being treated to a coat of paint Hoover & Wink are the contractors.

Smith M. Hoover, whose home is in this place, left Superior, Wis., June 10th for the "Isle of Pines" sixty miles south of Cuba where he has purchased a 40-acre plantation, and expects to be employed. He says the climate is the finest in the world—varies from 70 to 90 degrees. Three crops a year. Tobacco, hard woods and tropical fruits are the chief products.

The Ladies Aid society will hold a festival in the Grove on next Saturday night. A wood sawing contest for the ladies is to be one of the features of the evening. The band will furnish music for the occasion.

Quite a few of our muscular people attend the barn raising of Wm. Kiebaugh's last Tuesday.

HUSTONTOWN, 9; Fort Littleton, 4.

Hustontown, June 19.—In a good game of ball on the Fort Littleton diamond last Saturday afternoon, the Fort players, assisted by Dwight Thompson, the crack catcher from McConnellsburg, and B. S. Winegardner, of Clear Ridge, were defeated by the Hustontown boys by a score of 9 to 4. The visitors only allowed their opponents to look in on the game in three innings. Fraker was at their mercy after the first half, and was batted freely. Empire Nevin Wagner, of McConnellsburg, was fair in his decisions, which were according to 1905 rules.

Some of the good people in that quiet little village went up in the air on a decision given by the umpire, which they did not at first understand. We would suggest to the people who are in the habit of going up in the air, that in the future, they take on a little ballast in order to hold them down until the umpire has an opportunity to show them rules for his decisions. Following is the line up:

Interesting to Asthma Sufferers.

Daniel Bante, of Otterville, Iowa, writes, "I have had asthma for three or four years and have tried about all the cough and asthma cures in the market and have received treatment from physicians in New York and other cities, but got very little benefit until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar which gave immediate relief and I will never be without it in my house. I sincerely recommend it to all." Sold by all dealers.

The Misuse of a Word.

The strangest misuse of language is in the application of the term "species" to about everything it does not mean, writes Dr. C. C. Abbott, in May Lippincott's Magazine. In our newspapers, especially, we continually see such absurd statements as "W. X. killed a bird of the owl species," or "Y. Z. caught a strange animal of the raccoon species." However indifferent one may be to knowledge he cannot be so to speech. He must use correct words or be misunderstood. Herein we are all slaves. No one can claim to be educated who does not know the meaning of the three terms "family," "genus" and "species." For instance, there is a group or order of birds of prey—eagles, hawks, falcons, buzzards, kites and owls—and these are families under the name given; but the eagles are different, as the golden eagle and the bald eagle; these are species. We have the sparrow hawk, peregrine falcon and red-tailed buzzard; each is a species. The newspaper reporter should have said "W. X. killed a species of owl." This is good English. What he did say is nonsense. A genus is a group of lesser importance than a family, which may comprise many genera, and is too difficult of comprehension to be used with safety by the average reporter. But the true "species" is so simple that misuse is inexcusable.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church, of Harkersville, N.Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies with out relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of throat and lungs. At Trout's drug store; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Was Wasting Away.

The following letter from Robert E. Watts, of Salem, Mo., is instructive. "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years. I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies without success without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." Sold by all dealers.

BOY'S TRIP TO GETTYSBURG.

Russell, Ten-Year-Old Son of Dr. Swartzwelder, Tells What He Saw.

On the morning of May 30, 1905, in company with my father, mother, and brother, I boarded the train at 8 o'clock for Gettysburg, to see the famous battlefield—this being the first excursion over the W. M. railroad from Hancock. It was 11:30 o'clock when we reached Gettysburg, and walked a short distance to the hotel Gettysburg, where we took dinner, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Sharpe, K. C. Graves and Wilson Myers, all of this county.

After dinner we hired a cab and were driven over the battlefield—seven of us composing the jolly crowd. The battlefield has an area of 25 sq. miles. We drove out by Culp's Hill and viewed the bare monuments among the trees.

To the right, the 2nd Maryland monument appears, marking the position of the only Confederate organization on this field. On Culp's Hill the original earthworks show throughout the entire length of the line of battle. Next we stopped at Spangler's Spring, which is on the southeast slope of Culp's Hill, where soldiers of both armies secured water and mingled together freely during the night of July 2nd. We all took a drink at that spring.

The next view was Spangler's Meadow, where several hundred of Johnston's Confederates were buried in trenches. On a large rock stands the pioneer monument—the 2nd Mass., which was erected in 1879. The National Park commission has been doing an important work. They have erected five observation towers at prominent places on the field, as well as, many fine avenues and fences. The inscriptions on the rows of tablets give the movements of both armies from June 29 to July 7, inclusive.

We started to ascend one of the observation towers, which was 73 steps high; but on the third flight of stairs, mamma and I decided we did not care to go any farther. Papa and brother went to the top, where they had a magnificent view of the battlefield. We then went to hear an address delivered by ex-Governor Beaver in the National cemetery. They had excellent music and the old soldiers and Sunday school children decorated the graves of the unknown dead. After spending an hour pleasantly there, our guide informed us the time was passing rapidly, and we then went to Little Round Top and Devil's Den, where the large rocks show the bullet marks yet. We next came to the Wheatfield, which was famous in the history of Gettysburg as the whirpool of the battle.

Another place of interest is the little Stone House on the Pike, which was, for a time, used by Gen. Lee as his headquarters.

The last place we visited was the free museum—the house in which Jennie Wade was killed—she being the only citizen who was killed during the battle of Gettysburg. She was engaged in baking on the morning of July 3rd and was struck by a sharpshooter's bullet. The monument which marks her grave was erected by the Women's Relief Corps of Iowa. The house shows on the north side the marks of over 100 bullets. It is a place of general interest to Gettysburg tourists. I bought a hatchet, and Wallace a revolver as souvenirs, to bring home with us. We drove to the hotel, took supper, boarded the train at 5:30 for Hancock, which was due at the latter place at 8 p. m., but, owing to an accident about the engine, which, we are glad to say, caused no serious inconvenience, except the delay of two hours, we arrived at Hancock, looking lodging at the Wabash Hotel till the next day, when we returned home, feeling none the worse for our outing.

RUSSELL, H. SWARTZWELDER.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures indigestion, belching, dyspepsia, sour stomach, weakness etc. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease—dyspepsia—is destined to eventually work a wonderful and lasting benefit to suffers from this distressing and mind-baffling condition.—Sold at Trout's drug store.

Be Liberal to Your Farm.

Be liberal to your farms and they will be liberal to you. A farm is very much in one respect like a looking-glass—it reflects the character of the owner exactly. If he is parsimonious his farm will show it. If he is a man of taste, his buildings, fences, and the general arrangement of the farm will tell the tale. No effect on his part to disguise his real thoughts or sentiments will avail anything so long as the operation of his farm belies his words. The farmer who invests freely in his farm is sure to be paid well for his risk and trouble. Liberality in providing utensils is the saving of both time and labor. The more perfect a farmer's tools, the more profitable are they. So, also, it is with his working cattle and his stock. The most perfect in their kind are the most profitable. Liberality in good barns and warm shelter is the source of health, strength, and comfort to animals, causes them to thrive on less food and secures from damage all sorts of crops. Liberality also in the provision of food for domestic animals is the source of flesh, muscle, and manure. Liberality to the earth, in seed, culture, and compost, is the source of its beauty.
