THE BABY TALKED FINNISH.

Didn't Have Throat Disease or Any Mental Ailment.

Monessen, Pa., July 17.-Mis. Jules Ashland has a daughter, Marie, three years old. Mrs. Ashland, ill since Marie's birth, left Marie to the care of Mary, a Finnish nurse girl. Recently the mother's health improved, and then she wanted her daughter .-She became alarmed when Marie's babble could not be understood.

Fearing that she was afflicted with some ailment of the throat, she summoned an expert on diseases of that part. The doctor came Saturday. It happened that he is able to understand the Finnish language. No sooner had little Marie been presented than there followed a great tirade in Finnish from the baby mouth against the mother.

The child was as mad as a hornet. She did not hesitate to tell the doctor so in the only tongue that she knew-Finnish. Her her little heart was almost broken. She had been associating so long with the Finnish dren. nurse girl that she learned that nurse girl is looking for a job.

It is perhaps not true that in St. Louis when the noon whistle blew a carpenter nailing shingles on a roof left his hammer suspended in the air at the upper end of a stroke and went to lunch, but Search Light vouches for the following, which is along the same line:

While the American Library association was in session a number of members went to inspect a cotton mill. They were in the card room when the whistle blew for noon and saw the card room boys put up their work as if by magic and disappear.
