The mere fact that, through the President's efforts, the meeting fixed for Monday will not be held until Tuesday may not appear to be a very important development, but it means another 24 hours gained, and every additional day that the conference lasts affords reason for hope of a successful outcome.

It was at the solicitation of the Jap anese envoys that the arrangement for the postponement of the next meeting was made. They were impelled to this course by a message from Baron Ka neko, Japanese financial agent in this country, who acted in behalf of the President, with whom he has had frequent conferences recently.

The purpose of the President in requesting that there be no session of the plenipotentiaries until Tuesday ha-not been disclosed authoritatively, but there is reason to believe he expects the Japanese government will send new instructions to Baron Komura and Mr Takahira, which may have some effect upon the outcome of the negotiations.

Mr. Takuhira, according to information obtained from Russian sources, told M. Witte that a response which he and his colleague, Baron Komura, was expecting to a communication they had sent to Tokio had not arrived, and it was desired that additional time be given for its receipt.
