Why Birds Go South.

"I once asked a confirmed old bachelor," says Mr. Craig S. Thomas in the New Idea Wcman's Magazine for November, "why he did not marry, to which he replied 'I have gotten over wanting to.' Is there a tide in the affairs of birds for a certain period in the autumn which draws them southward? And if the fall be pleasant, as was that of 1904, and they remain longer than usual, does this tide of inclination pass away and leave them stranded with us for the winter? Or, when they have stayed during a long, pleasant autumn, do they reason like the old man who said that it would not pay for him to get false teeth now, that his time was too short?"

"It is usually thought that the determining factor in the birds' going or staying is not that of cold, but of food; and for this there is doubtless considerable evidence. Yet, for the evidence to be conclusive, it would need to be shown that the food is lacking when they go forth and leave us, as well as present when they stay throughout the year.

"In the autumn of 1904, in the groves which skirt the rivers in South Dakota, wild grapes were unusually abundant. The autumn was so long and dry that they cured upon the vines, and were sweet, somewhat juicy, and very palatable during the entire winter. In these groves I found companies of Wilson's bluebirds in early January, when the mercury stood between eight and ten degrees below zero. The flickers also were numerous, though it is not uncommon for a few of them to winter in the North."

In opposition to this fact, Mr. Thomas notes that although every winter a goodly supply of berries, seeds, buds, etc., remains on the bushes, yet the robins, that eat these, constantly migrate. Mr. Thomas comes to the conclusion, therefore, that "there is a migrating instinct which has its season, just as there is a mating instinct which has its season; and if, owing to pleasant conditions, that season passes without the birds being moved to go South, they do not go at all."

THE PEOPLE WIN.

Berry Elected State Treasurer.

City Party Win in Philadelphia.

WHOLE DEMOCRATIC TICKET ELECTED.

Nesbit, Probably Commissioner.

Gillan Wins Judgeship in Franklin.

Owing to the fact that the telephone line in the lower end of the county, is not in working order, we have not been able to get reports from several of the townships, but enough has been learned to show the election of the entire Democratic ticket. Berry, for State Treasurer, will carry the county by, from 350 to 400. Humbert's majority will be about 225.

Next week we will be able to give the official vote.

THE FOUR AGES.

So Life Goes, Always Has Gone and Always Will Go.

Here are man's four views of time:

"You still have forty years to live," said the guardian spirit to the youth.

"It is a long, long time," the youth replied, "and I will do a great deal before it is past."

"You have thirty years yet to live," the guardian spirit said to the still young man.

"Well, that is quite awhile," was the reply. "Probably I cannot do all I had intended, but I will make quite a showing."

"You have twenty years to live," the spirit said to the middle aged man.

"Only twenty! Well, I suppose I will have to do the best I can in that length of time."

For the last time the guardian spirit appeared. "You yet have ten years left," he said to the rapidly aging man.

The man sighed. "But ten years," he whispered in reply. "And what can one do in those few days?"

And when the end had come the man looked backward and moaned, "I am leaving it nearly all undone!"

And so life goes, although youth will not believe it, and only old age fully realizes that it is so. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dennis Gordon, and wife, and Miss M. E. Evans, of Thompson, were shopping in McConnellsburg, yesterday.

George W. Miller and family removed last week from the Nesbit farm in Tod township to the property Mr. Miller purchased last spring in Ayr township from Miss Jennie Alexander.

W. F. Trayer, who owns the farm down on the Eastern Shore, Md., that James Kline lives on, left a Keefer pear at the News of fice Monday, that weighed a pound and a half, and measured 13 inches by 15 in circumference that grew on a farm adjoining his.

Some Things a Man Should Do.

Rise when a woman enters the room.

Remain standing until she is seated.

Give her his chair if there is no other.

Rise when any person, man or woman, is introduced to him.

Open the door for a woman to pass through.

Hold it open and let her pass through first, if it opens toward them.

Pass through first and hold it open for her if it opens from them.

Turn and walk with her, if he joins her on the street, and not stop her to converse.

Throw his cigar or cigarette away before he joins her, of course.

Not offer to pay her carriage unless he is her escort by intention, and not merely her companion by accident.

Remove his hat completely when greeting a woman, or when his woman companion greets an acquaintance.

Take the curb side of the street when walking with either one or two women.

Assist his feminine companion in and out of a carriage, trolley, train, or a conveyance.

A Surprise.

The home of T. R. Starr, Crystal Springs was the scene of a surprise and a general jubilation, Saturday, October 17th. Mrs. Starr was the one surprised, and those present had all the fun. When friends and neighbors to the number of 66 were present two long tables were placed out under an apple tree and by noon they were groaning under the weight of delicacies placed there to satisfy the inner man. When all had helped themselves to the good things, all repaired to the orchard where they were photographed by Gates Seeling. The afternoon was given over to having a general good time. Mrs. Starr received several nice presents, and appreciated the esteem of her neighbors very much.

Those present were: Mr. Starr and wife and children; Ellis Akers and family; Baslet Akers and wife; Amos Hixson and wife; Clark Barton and family; Emberry Barton and family; Mrs. S. E. Barton, Mrs. Frank Whitfield, Mrs. Lizzie McKibbin and son Alex; Sherman Clevenger and wife and Francesa Whitfield; Oliver Clevenger and family; Carey Hixson, Mrs. Chas. Lynch and daughter; Mrs. Malinda Rohm and Emily Ball, Mrs. Jacob Pee and children, Mrs. Harison Bottenfield and daughter; Mrs. Walter Mench, Amanda Melott, Mercy Kaufman, Rachel Pee, Adam Mellott, wife, and daughters; Gates Seeling, Nathan Melott, Elijah Hoopengardner, wife, and daughter. May we all live to meet again at a similar meeting, is the wish of one who was there.

More Ladies' Coats.

Our fourth shipment of ladies' and misses coats is here. The heavy sales of ladies coats is due to our having just what the trade wants.

The three-quarter length is very popular, and we have them made of pleasing materials, well tailored, and at prices to suit all kinds of pocket books.

The short coats are meeting the popular demand, and are finding new owners among the smart dressers.

It is impossible for us to describe the many Ladies', Misses', and Children's Coats we have. The assortment is large, and the prices—like my other prices—are as reasonable as quality will admit.

Suits and Overcoats.

In the face of advanced prices in cotton and woolen goods, we are in a position to show you a larger line of Men's and Boys' suits at much lower prices than last spring.

You will make no mistake in taking a look at our suits and overcoats before buying your winter outfit.

We have been told that there was never such a large stock in this store before. This means a wide range of bargains to select from.
