Well, as winter is approaching and Thanksgiving drawing near, I will give to the News a few items which I hope will be of some interest to its many readers. Thanksgiving drawing near, reminds me of an accident that happened a short time ago. A woman residing on a farm not far from here, is a very skillful turkey raiser, and year after year, she raises a nice flock of turkeys and ships them to the city for Thanksgiving dinners.

Well, to change the subject your scribe was passing through the above named village one evening and his ear caught the sound of something that seemed to be coming from a distance, so he stopped to listen. "Ting-a-ling, ting-a-ling." What is it? At first he thought it was the village band practicing the bell part of their introductory overture, but as he listened more closely the noise seemed to be coming from the old Huston wagonshed; so he thought he would see what this all meant went in, and to his surprise it was the band—not our brass band—but the calathumpan band. They had cow bells, sleigh bells, etc., and sand paper and silver polish, brightening them up until they looked new; so inquiring what all this meant he was told that they hadn't used them for so long, they need cleaning up for use before long. Of course your scribe inquired further into the matter as to who was to be married, and they said, "O, some one down the road."

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her."

Every ounce of food you eat that fails to digest does a pound of harm. It turns the entire meal into poison. This not only deprives the blood of the necessary tissue-building material, but it poisons it. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is a perfect digestant. It digests the food regardless of the condition of the stomach. It allows that organ to rest and get strong again. Relieves belching, heart burn, sour stomach, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, etc. Sold by Stouteagle & Bro.
