WANTED—Good second cook. Good wages. Will pay railroad fare.

H. A. GREENLAND, 46-48 Bank St., Newark, N. J.

In the list of deaths for 1905 in last week's "News," we were horrified after the paper was out and our attention called to it, to find that the word "colored" had in some unaccountable way become tangled up with the name Emma K. Jones. It is not to be wondered at that her friends were indignant, and no one feels more keenly the humiliation for such a blunder than the editor. It was purely an accident and under the circumstances, as likely to have hit any other name in the list as that of Miss Jones, and tender to her family this apology.

DOTI.

Mrs. Rachel Hill is very ill at this writing.

Stanley Sharpe, who had pneumonia, is getting better.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

A Few Paragraphs That Were Not Given Last Week.

Appeal of John A. Irwin, Treasurer McConnellsburg School Board from Auditors' settlement. To be decided at Chambers.

Harry C. Mumma, of Licking Creek township, appointed Jury Commissioner in place of Simon Deshong, resigned.

Mr. Mumma was a candidate for the nomination at the last convention that nominated a candidate for Jury Commissioner. He is a young man who will make a painstaking officer, and the Court's selection is a first rate one.

AVENGE MURDERED MISSIONARIES

Heads Tied to a Bamboo Pole and Cut Off.

In a letter received at Philadelphia on Thursday by Miss Anna C. Cloud, of Thirteenth and Walnut street, Dr. Edward Charles Machle, sole survivor of the little band of missionaries which was wiped out by the Chinese rioters in Lien-Chau, China, early last November, tells of the punishment of three natives who were supposed to have been ringleaders in the massacre in which Rev. and Mrs. John Rogers Peale, of New Bloomfield, were murdered. One after another the murderers had their heads tied to a bamboo pole, and with a powerful swish of a sharp-edged sword the executioner cut off their heads.

SWEARING VERY COSTLY.

Rev. Dr. Scheaffer Prints Law of March 31, 1860.

The Pennsylvania School Journal, Dr. N. C. Scheaffer, editor-in-chief, calls attention to the law of Pennsylvania against blasphemy and profane swearing. Act of March 31, 1860.

If any person blaspheme or speak loosely or profanely of Almighty God, Christ Jesus, the Holy Spirit or the Scriptures of Truth, such person, on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $100 and undergo imprisonment not exceeding three months or either, at the discretion of the court."

To Meet at Bedford Springs.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, held in Philadelphia recently, it was decided to hold the next annual convention of the association at Bedford Springs, on June 26th, 27th, and 28th. The honorary address will be made by Secretary of War Taft, and addresses will also be delivered by Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, former Attorney General W. U. Hensel, of Lancaster, and Richard L. Ashburt, of Philadelphia. The committee on law reform of the association will also meet at the same time and place. This committee will recommend for consideration at the annual meeting a bill to be presented to the next Legislature, prohibiting trust companies from doing a surety business, allowing a bill providing for the payment of fees and mileage to witnesses in advance.

Perfection can only be attained in the physical by allowing Nature to appropriate and not dissipate her own resources. Cathartics gripe, weaken—dissipate, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers simply expel all putrid matter and bile, thus allowing the liver to assume normal activity. Good for the complexion. Sold by Stouteagle & Bro.

The Fulton County Bank.

The Fulton County Bank will vacate their present quarters in the building opposite the News office about the first of April, and the rooms now occupied by them will be occupied by the new bank. The east end of A. U. Nace's building will be fitted up between this and the first of April for the Fulton County Bank and the old bank will do business at the new stand and the new bank, at the old stand.

To Remove Wall Paper.

To remove wall paper from the walls just take your paste brush and go all over the paper to be removed with the paste, missing not one spot, and the paper will come off in one-tenth the time it will with water. The secret lies in the fact that the paste keeps the paper damp and loosens it completely.
